As the Nation's principal conservation agency, the National Park Service is charged with protecting our Nation's most outstanding natural and historic resources. It is responsible for managing the national parks, forests, and monuments, as well as national preserves and recreation areas. It is also responsible for preserving our country's wildlife and natural areas, and for promoting public recreation and education.

The National Park Service is a federal agency within the Department of the Interior. Its mission is to conserve and present America's natural and cultural resources for the enjoyment of all Americans and the world. It fulfills this mission by establishing, maintaining, and providing for the enjoyment of national parks, national monuments, national forests, national preserves, and national historic sites.

The National Park Service is driven by a commitment to the conservation and enjoyment of our Nation's natural and cultural resources. It is dedicated to providing a safe, enjoyable, and memorable experience for visitors, while also ensuring that these resources are preserved for future generations.

The National Park Service employs a wide range of professionals, including park rangers, conservationists, and historians. It is supported by a network of volunteers and donors who help to fund and maintain the park system.

The National Park Service is committed to protecting the environment and the natural and cultural resources within its jurisdiction. It works to ensure that these resources are managed in ways that are sustainable and that promote the public's enjoyment of the National Park System.

The National Park Service is a vital part of our Nation's cultural heritage and is an important resource for education and inspiration. It is a testament to the importance of conserving and enjoying the natural and cultural resources of our country.

The National Park Service is an essential part of our Nation's heritage, and its mission is to ensure that the natural and cultural resources of our country are preserved for future generations.
Pets: Have your pets leashed at all times. They may not be taken on trails or into public buildings.

ACCOMMODATIONS and OTHER SERVICES

Campgrounds: North Campground is immediately east of the park visitor center and has limited space for small trailers, but no hookups. Sunset Campground is one mile south of the visitor center. Camping can be enjoyed from about May 1 to November 1. Campsites have tables, fireplaces, and are near water and restrooms. Outside water supplies freeze by October 1 and are drained. Camping is limited to 14 days in any one calendar year. No reservations can be made, and space is limited. It is best to arrive early in the day to be assured of a campsite. Gathering firewood is not permitted within the park. Bring your own wood, or buy it from the concession facility. A campground fee is charged.

The Bryce Canyon Lodge, near the rim of Bryce Amphitheater, has sleeping accommodations and is open from mid-May to mid-October. It has a dining room, soda fountain, and gift shop. For reservations apply to T. W. A. Services, Inc., Utah Parks Division, P.O. Box 400, Cedar City, UT 84720. All visitor mail addressed to the park headquarters will be returned to General Delivery upon receipt. Telephone service is available at several places.

Medical service: The park does not have a physician on residence; first-aid can be given at park headquarters. Parachute, 20 miles away, has a hospital.

Church Services: Protestant services, under the Christian Ministry in the National Parks, are held each Sunday in summer. Catholic and Latterday Saints services are regularly scheduled.

ACCOMMODATIONS and OTHER SERVICES

Campgrounds: North Campground is immediately east of the park visitor center and has limited space for small trailers, but no hookups. Sunset Campground is one mile south of the visitor center. Camping can be enjoyed from about May 1 to November 1. Campsites have tables, fireplaces, and are near water and restrooms. Outside water supplies freeze by October 1 and are drained. Camping is limited to 14 days in any one calendar year. No reservations can be made, and space is limited. It is best to arrive early in the day to be assured of a campsite. Gathering firewood is not permitted within the park. Bring your own wood, or buy it from the concession facility. A campground fee is charged.

The Bryce Canyon Lodge, near the rim of Bryce Amphitheater, has sleeping accommodations and is open from mid-May to mid-October. It has a dining room, soda fountain, and gift shop. For reservations apply to T. W. A. Services, Inc., Utah Parks Division, P.O. Box 400, Cedar City, UT 84720. All visitor mail addressed to the park headquarters will be returned to General Delivery upon receipt. Telephone service is available at several places.

Medical service: The park does not have a physician on residence; first-aid can be given at park headquarters. Parachute, 20 miles away, has a hospital.

Church Services: Protestant services, under the Christian Ministry in the National Parks, are held each Sunday in summer. Catholic and Latterday Saints services are regularly scheduled.