Discover a dynamic and ever-changing landscape

HAWAII VOLCANOES NATIONAL PARK encompasses 333,086 acres of dynamic, ever-changing environments including the summits and rift zones of two of the world’s most active volcanoes, Mauna Loa and Kilauea, and seven ecological zones (seacoast, lowland, mid-elevation woodland, rain forest, upland forest, subalpine, and alpine). Immerse yourself in a multitude of landscapes that serve as a refuge for a wide variety of engaging and endangered creatures like the nēnē (Hawaiian Goose), ope‘ape‘a (Hawaiian hoary bat), happyface spiders, carnivorous caterpillars, honeycreepers, and so much more.

What To Do With Your Day
First, stop at Kilauea Visitor Center for current information on eruptive activity, trails, roads, interpretive programs, and weather. Be sure to watch the park orientation film.

If You Have 1 to 3 Hours
Explore the summit of Kilauea volcano via Crater Rim Drive. This road passes through lush tropical rain forest, views of the currently active summit caldera, and provides access to well-marked scenic stops and short walks. Visit the Jaggar Museum for exhibits on the geology of Hawaiian volcanoes. (Note: the south section of Crater Rim Drive is currently closed due to high levels of volcanic gases and particulates. See map on page 7.)

If You Have 4 to 5 Hours
In addition to Crater Rim Drive, explore the East Rift Zone and coastal area of the park via Chain of Craters Road. This road descends 3,700 feet (1,128 m) in 18 miles (29 km) and ends at the Hōlei Sea Arch. Lava flows are always changing. Check at Kilauea Visitor Center or at www.nps.gov/havo for the most current information. No food, water, or fuel are available along Chain of Craters Road.

If You Want to Get Out of the Car and Hike
The true character of the park is best discovered on foot. With more than 150 miles of trails in the park, walking and hiking offer a fascinating and enjoyable experience. For walking and hiking options, see page 6.
General Information

Weather and Climate
The weather at the summit of Kilauea (4000 ft / 1,219 m elevation) varies daily and may be rainy and chilly any time of the year. At the summit, temperatures may be 12 to 15 degrees cooler than at sea level. The coastal plain at the end of Chain of Craters Road, where lava crossed the road in 2003, is often hot, dry, and windy with the possibility of passing rain showers.

Park Hours
Hawai‘i Volcanoes National Park is open 24 hours per day, year-round, including holidays. However, some areas of the park may be temporarily closed due to volcanic activity or poor air quality. Visitors may enter and exit the park at any time.
The Kahuku Unit is open on Saturdays and Sundays from 9am to 3pm. Please check the park website or call 808-985-6000 for current information.

Where Can I See Lava?
Lava sometimes flows near the southeastern boundary of the park and may be visible at the end of Chain of Craters Road, or to the Kalapana Lava Viewing Site, managed by the County of Hawai‘i, at the end of Highway 130.
Lava viewing conditions are extremely variable. Oftentimes you may only see a glow from the activity in the Halema‘uma‘u Crater vent in the distance. This activity may be visible from the Jaggar Museum.
For updated lava viewing conditions, visit http://hvo.wr.usgs.gov, call the park at 808-985-6001 or the Hawai‘i County Kalapana Lava Viewing Hotline at 808-961-8093.

How to See the Park

BY VEHICLE
There are three primary roads that provide spectacular views of the park: Crater Rim Drive, Chain of Craters Road, and Mauna Loa Road. These roads are paved. Hilina Pali Road and the upper portions of Mauna Loa Road are narrow. Obey speed limits on all roads and watch for pedestrians, cyclists, and the endangered nênê (Hawaiian goose).

Road Closure
Crater Rim Drive between Jaggar Museum and the Chain of Craters Road junction is currently closed due to dangerous volcanic gases from Halema‘uma‘u Crater.

BY BICYCLE
Bicycles are allowed on all roads open to automobile traffic and on some trails. A Bike Guide is available at the Kilauea Visitor Center or online at www.nps.gov/havo/planyourvisit/brochures.htm. In Hawai‘i, bicycles are subject to the same rules as automobiles. Bicycles are not available for rent in the park.

ON FOOT
Perhaps the best way to experience the park is on foot. Numerous trails wind through rain forests, desert, and lava flows. See page 6 for hiking options.

Entrance Fees
Entrance to the park is $15 per vehicle; $8 per pedestrian or bicyclist, $10 per motorcycle and is good for seven days.
A $25 Hawai‘i TriPark Pass provides access for one year at Hawai‘i Volcanoes, Haleakalā (located on Maui), and Pu‘uhonua o Hōnaunau. The $80 interagency pass provides entrance into all National Park Service areas. U.S. citizens 62 or older can obtain a lifetime Senior Pass for $10 allowing free entrance to the parks. A free lifetime pass is available for U.S. citizens or residents who have a permanent disability, regardless of age. A free U.S. Military annual pass is available. Fees support projects in the park.
Getting to Hawai‘i Volcanoes National Park

The park is located on Hawai‘i Island. From Hilo: 30 miles southwest on Highway 11 (45 minute drive); from Kailua-Kona: 96 miles southeast on Highway 11 (2 to 1/2 hour drive), or 125 miles through Waimea and Hilo via Highways 19 and 11 (2-1/2 to 3 hours).

BY AIRLINE

Hilo and Kona International Airports are served by several mainland and inter-island carriers. In addition, international carriers provide service to Kona International Airport at Keahole. Note: Kona International Airport is 100+ miles / 2-1/2 to 3 hour drive from the park.

Access the airport websites for more information:
http://hawaii.gov/ito
http://hawaii.gov/koa

BY RENTAL CAR

Rental cars may be reserved at both Hilo and Kona International Airports. Due to the limited nature of vehicles, reservations should be made in advance.

OTHER TRANSPORTATION OPTIONS

Public transportation is limited on island. At various locations the public bus (Hele O‘n Bus, 808-961-8744), commercial tour buses, taxis, motorcycles, and bicycles are available. No rental vehicles or bicycles may be obtained in the park.

Accessibility

FACILITIES

The Kilauea Visitor Center, Jaggar Museum, Volcano House, and Volcano Art Center are wheelchair accessible.

VIEW POINTS

Pullouts and overlooks along Crater Rim Drive and Chain of Craters Road afford panoramic views of the park.

PATHWAYS

Accessible pathways include Waldron Ledge (Earthquake Trail), Sulfur Banks from Steam Vents parking area, Pauah Crater, Muliwai a Pele, and Kealakomo Overlook.

CAMPGROUNDS

Nāmakanipaio Campground has restrooms with water and moderately accessible campsites.

Kulanaokuai Campground has an accessible toilet, but no water.

RESTROOMS

Kilauea Visitor Center, Kilauea Overlook, Jaggar Museum, Thurston Lava Tube, Nāmakanipaio Campground, Kīpukapuaʻulu picnic area, Mauna Ulu, Kulanaokuai Campground, and the turnaround at the end of Chain of Craters Road all have restrooms or wheelchair-accessible toilets.

WHEELCHAIRS

Wheelchairs are available for use at Kilauea Visitor Center, and Jaggar Museum during normal business hours.

VISITOR ALERT

High amounts of dangerous sulfur dioxide gas may be present in areas of the park. These gases are a danger to everyone, particularly persons with heart or respiratory problems and infants, young children, and pregnant women.

Volcanic gas looks like smog. Keep windows closed when it is visible.

If air irritates you, smells bad, or you have difficulty breathing, leave the area.

Portions of the park may be closed during times of high sulfur dioxide levels.

Kilauea Visitor Center and Jaggar Museum offer updates on air quality in a clean-air building during open hours.

Visit www.hawaiiSO2network.com for air quality updates.

Ranger Programs

Rangers and volunteers present a wide variety of interpretive programs throughout the year. All programs are free and open to the public. See page 6 for program options.
Visitor Centers and Other Services

Visitor Centers

KīLAUEA VISITOR CENTER
Open daily from 9:00 am to 5:00 pm

- Accessible restrooms, water, and phone are available.

- Rangers are available during operating hours to help you plan a safe and memorable visit to Hawai‘i Volcanoes National Park.

- The Hawai‘i Pacific Parks Association sells books, posters, and other educational material. Proceeds benefit park programs.

- Ranger and volunteer led programs occur throughout the park each day. These free programs are posted at Kīlauea Visitor Center, Jaggar Museum, and Volcano House hotel each day by 9:15 am.

- Movies play from 9 am to 4 pm daily.

THOMAS A. JAGGAR MUSEUM
Open daily from 10:00 am to 7:30 pm (Hours may vary. Check www.nps.gov/planyourvisit/hours.htm)

- Perched on the edge of Kīlauea Caldera, the observation deck offers the best view of the eruptive activity within Halema‘uma‘u Crater.

- Accessible restrooms, water, and phone are available.

- The museum presents Hawaiian legends about Pele honuamea, scientific exhibits about volcanism, and the work conducted by the staff of Hawaiian Volcano Observatory.

- The Hawai‘i Pacific Parks Association sells books, posters, and other educational material here. Proceeds benefit park programs.

Volcano Art Gallery
Open daily from 9:00 am to 5:00 pm, the gallery features and sells art and fine crafts by various Hawai‘i artisans.

Campgrounds Inside the Park

There are two drive-in campgrounds located within Hawai’i Volcanoes National Park. Entrance fees apply and are paid at the entrance station or at the Nāmakanipāio fee station near the restrooms ($15 per car—valid for seven days, or a Hawai’i Annual Tri-Park, Interagency Annual, U.S. Military Annual, Senior, or Access Pass is valid for entry). Camping at Nāmakanipāio requires registration and fees. Camping at Kulanaokuaiki is free of charge and registration is not required. Stays are limited to seven consecutive days per month, not to exceed 30 days per year.

NĀMAKANIPĀIO CAMPGROUND
Located on Highway 11 (mile marker 31) at 4,000 feet (1,213 m) elevation, this campground has restrooms and water. There is a large, open grassy area with tall eucalyptus, koa, and ‘ōhi’a trees. Campground information, registration, and regulations are located on the bulletin board near the restrooms.

A large pavilion, with picnic tables and fireplaces, is shared by all campers. Fires are allowed in designated fire grates only. Dogs are allowed, but require a leash no more than 6 ft (3 m) at all times to protect endangered nēnē.

Weather may be cold and damp year-round. Temperatures range from the high 30s to the high 70s F (3 to 26 degrees C).

KULANAOKUAIKI CAMPGROUND
Located off Hilina Pali Road at 3,200 feet (975 m), there are eight walk-in campsites with picnic tables. There is an accessible vault toilet; however, no water is available and campfires are not permitted. Use fueled camping stoves only. This campground is subject to closure when the area is dry and during times of high fire danger. No dogs or pets are allowed at this campground to protect endangered nēnē.

Backcountry Camping

The park offers over 150 miles (241 km) of trails ranging in elevation from sea level to 13,667 feet (4,169 m). With over half of the park designated as wilderness, there are numerous opportunities for solitude, dark night skies, and to experience life on active volcanoes.

ALL OVERNIGHT BACKCOUNTRY HIKERS MUST REGISTER
Obtain a free permit at the Backcountry Office, located in the Visitor Emergency Operations Center. Permits are issued on a first-come basis, no earlier than the day before your hike. When you return from your trip, stop at the Backcountry Office or call 808-985-6178 to check out.

SERVICES ARE LIMITED AT TRAILHEADS
There is no water at trailheads and catchments may be empty during periods of low rainfall. Public transportation is unavailable. There are 911 phones (for emergency use only) located at Hilina Pali Overlook and Pu’u Loa and Ka’ū Desert Trailheads. Be prepared!

For more information, download the park’s Backcountry Guide at www.nps.gov/planyourvisit/brochures.htm.

Hiking and Ranger Programs

Day Hiking

DEVASTATION TRAIL
Stroll on a paved path through a forest devastated by the 1959 Kīlauea Iki eruption. See plants returning to this landscape (0.5 mile / 0.8 km one way).

KīLAUEA IKI
Descend 400-feet (122 m) through native rain forest to the crater floor and hike across a cooled lava lake still steaming from the 1959 eruption. Park at Kiluaea Iki Overlook to begin with a spectacular view (4 miles / 6.4 km loop trail).

SULPHUR BANKS (HA‘AKULAMANU)
See where volcanic gases seep from the ground, depositing sulfur crystals and other minerals on rocks along this paved trail and boardwalk. Walk from Kīlauea Visitor Center (.4 mile / .6 km one way) or take the wheelchair-accessible trail from Steam Vents parking area (0.5 mile / 0.8 km one way).

THURSTON LAVA TUBE (NĀHUKU)
Walk through lush rainforest to explore a 500-year old lava tube (0.5 mile / 0.8 km loop trail). Accessible restrooms and water are available.

PU’U HULUHULU CINDER CONE
Hike over 1973–1974 lava flows to a viewing area atop a 210-foot (64 m) cinder cone. Weather permitting, view Mauna Ulu and look down the East Rift Zone to view the active Pu’u ʻŌ’ō vent. Trail begins at Mauna Ulu parking lot (2.5 miles / 4 km round-trip hike).

PU’U LOA PETROGLYPHS
A traditional Hawaiian trail leads to some 23,000 images etched in stone. Petroglyphs are fragile and easily damaged. Trail begins at Pu’u Loa Petroglyphs pullout off Chain of Craters road (1.5 miles / 2.4 km round-trip).

Especially for Children
The Junior Ranger programs engage families with children to explore, discover and learn about Hawai’i Volcanoes National Park. Ask about them at the visitor centers or check www.nps.gov/havo/forkids/index.htm.

Join a Guided Ranger Program

HOW IT ALL BEGAN
9:30 AM AND 3:30 PM
20-minute ranger talk on Hawaiian volcanology. Meet the ranger at the relief map on the lānai (veranda) area outside Kīlauea Visitor Center.

SUMMIT WALK
10:30 AM AND 1:30 PM
45 minute to 1 hour ranger-led walk. Wheelchairs can be used on this less than a 1/2 mile paved path. Topics may include: biology, geology, and Hawaiian cultural traditions surrounding Kīlauea volcano.

LIFE ON THE EDGE
2:00 PM, 3:30 PM, AND 5:00 PM
20-minute ranger talk on Hawaiian volcanology. Meet the ranger at the overlook just outside Jaggar Museum.

Other daily activities, are posted at Kiluaea Visitor Center, Jaggar Museum, and Volcano House hotel by 9:15 daily.

Trail Guides
The park offers interpretive guide booklets for six trails: Kīlauea Iki, Mauna Ulu, Halema’uma’u, Kīpukapuaulu, Pu‘u o Lokuanu, and Kahuku Forest Trail. Purchase a printed trail guide at the park’s bookstores or download them from the park’s website at www.nps.gov/havo/planyourvisit/brochures.htm.

Enjoy your hikes in the park!
