National Wildlife Refuge Hunting Regulations 2022–2023

Welcome

Neal Smith National Wildlife Refuge was established in 1990 with the purpose to protect, restore and reconstruct and manage native ecosystems of tallgrass prairie, oak savanna and sedge meadow. Today, the refuge protects 6,000 acres of wildlife habitat and provides visitors, students, researchers and local landowners with educational, recreational and volunteer opportunities to learn about and enjoy their native tallgrass prairie heritage.

Safety

Please respect our neighbors. State law prohibits shooting within 200 yards of buildings inhabited by people or livestock. Contact the refuge before hunting for information about upcoming prescribed burns. For emergencies, dial 911.

Except for authorized hunting activities, discharge of firearms on refuge land is prohibited.
