

Dear L.A.,
We've got bigger stars.

PARK

Hollywood may have sidewalks filled with stars, but we've got a whole sky of them. Head for the mountains along the coast and marvel as the city lights fade into a night sky like you've never seen before.

Since 1916, the National Park Service has protected special places, like the Santa Monica Mountains. Join the Centennial by sharing your own story at FindYourPark.com. Check out local events at nps.gov/samo
