In 2013, the National Park Service will celebrate the centennial of Cabrillo National Monument with a series of exciting community engagements and public events. The National Park Service and the Cabrillo National Monument Foundation invite you to join them in commemorating a century of preservation, inspiration and recreation at Cabrillo National Monument.

On October 13th, 1913, President Calvin Coolidge established a modest one-half acre site on Point Loma to erect a “suitable monument” honoring the 1542 discovery of California by Juan Cabrillo. Today, that modest monument has since expanded to host an average of one million visitors a year while embracing nearly 144 acres of Point Loma’s premier cultural and natural resources. Thanks to the support of individual citizens, community groups, private foundations, and government agencies Cabrillo National Monument has been able to preserve one of San Diego’s greatest treasures for four generations.

Become a part of the history at Cabrillo National Monument and share your memories from the Park by participating in our Monumental Memories photograph project, visit our centennial web site at cabrillocentennial.org for more information.

We encourage you to join us in supporting our centennial celebration through partnering, volunteering, or attending one of the many centennial events planned for 2013.

Cabrillo National Monument is celebrating a one hundred year success story built on conservation, preservation and community partnerships. Through your involvement we can continue to champion the importance of preserving our Nation’s cultural and natural resources for future generations to enjoy. For more information on events and centennial projects or how to get involved please contact Ranger Emily Floyd (619) 523-4566 or Emily_Floyd@nps.gov

VISITOR ACTIVITIES

How do you want to spend your visit to Cabrillo National Monument? A visit to Cabrillo offers tremendous views of the San Diego region and excellent opportunities to explore the natural and cultural history of the area. At Cabrillo National Monument, San Diego’s National Park, you can be as active or as relaxed as you like. Here is a list of some of the most popular activities that the park has to offer. Please feel free to ask for more information at the park Visitor Center.

HIKING
The Bayside Trail is a scenic 2-mile trail that takes you through a prime example of the endangered coastal sage scrub habitat. This walk will bring you within 100-feet of the San Diego Harbor, giving you up-close views of the ships cruising in an out of San Diego. Take time to smell and enjoy the many wildflowers along the trail. If you would like help identifying plants, ask for a plant guide from the Visitor Center. Remember to pack water and use the restrooms before your hike, as these facilities are not available on the trail.

TIDEPOOLING
On the western sides of Point Loma lies the rocky intertidal zone, a window into the ocean ecosystem that lies along San Diego’s coast. From late Fall until Spring, periods of low tide cause pools of water to form along the shore in rocky depressions. In them, you may see an assortment of colorful plants and animals, including sea anemones, brittle stars, octopi, and a host of other creatures. Ask a ranger when low tide is today to find out the best time to explore the tidepools. If you are interested in learning more about the tidepools and the creatures that live there, also ask about showtimes for On the Edge of Land and Sea: The Tidepools of Cabrillo National Monument, which shows daily in the Visitor Center auditorium.

SELF-GUIDED HISTORICAL TOURS
History is a critical mission to many national parks, and Cabrillo National Monument is no exception. Sixteenth century exploration, 19th century lighthouses and military history are all important elements here. From Juan Rodriguez Cabrillo’s journey here in 1542 to the US Army’s Fort Rosecrans here in World Wars I and II, Point Loma has become an area of vast historical importance. Feel free to visit any of our numerous exhibit rooms for more information on these fascinating and complex histories.

JUNIOR RANGER PROGRAMS
Cabrillo National Monument is a great place for kids of all ages. Two Junior Ranger Programs and the new Climate Change Junior Ranger (ages 6+) are fun ways to find out more about the park. When you’ve finished this self-guided scavenger hunt, you can receive a Junior Ranger badge and a Certificate. Inquire at the Visitor Center for more information on this exciting activity!

WHALE WATCHING
Each year, the Pacific Gray Whale (Eschrichtius robustus) migrates from the Arctic seas to Baja, California and back. From late-December until the middle of March, visitors can see these enormous mammals just off the coast of Cabrillo National Monument. Check out a pair of binoculars in the Visitor Center (valid ID required), head up to the new Kelp Forest and Whale Overlook, and enjoy watching as the whales head to the lagoons of Baja.

EDUCATION PROGRAMS
Are you a teacher? If so, you may be interested in scheduling a ranger-led education program. These hour long, curriculum-based programs can be scheduled twice a day, Monday through Friday, and are completely free. Ask a ranger at the Visitor Center for more information. Distance learning trips are also available if your class cannot physically make it to the park.

DATES AND HOURS
Cabrillo National Monument is open 364 days a year (closed December 25), including weekends and holidays, from 9:00 AM to 5:00 PM. For security purposes, the main gate into Cabrillo National Monument is closed as 4:45 PM, and all visitors must exit the park by 5:00 PM. Please note that the Bayside Trail is closed at 4:00 PM and the Tidepool area is closed at 4:30 PM daily. All other facilities remain open until 5:00 PM.

WEATHER AND CLIMATE
Generally sunny and mild year-round, there isn’t a bad time of the year to visit Cabrillo National Monument. The Pacific Ocean has a strong influence on weather conditions, and Springtime visitors should be prepared for cool, windy, and foggy conditions, even if it is sunny, hot, and dry further inland. There is little chance of rain in the Spring, but an overcast marine layer can develop near the coast at any moment. During the Summer months the temperature frequently reaches the 80s, but the fog can still roll in at any time. A well-prepared visitor to Cabrillo National Monument will dress in layers throughout the year to accommodate changes in weather conditions, and will remember the sunscreen and hat for sunny days.

GETTING AROUND
It’s easy to get around Cabrillo National Monument. State Highway 209, also known as Cabrillo Memorial Drive, is the only road leading into the park, and it is signed and well-marked. Wide, paved paths and sidewalks lead visitors to the Visitor Center Complex, Lighthouse area, Whale Overlook, and Military History Exhibit. If a member of your party is unable to walk to the Lighthouse area, stop in at the Visitor Center for a pass that will enable you to drive there. Wheel chairs and a walker may be checked out at the Visitor Center. Smoking is prohibited at the park except in the parking lots.

PUBLIC TRANSPORTATION
The San Diego Metropolitan Transit System (MTS) offers bus service throughout the county, including hourly stops daily at Cabrillo National Monument via Route 28, Monday through Friday only. For added convenience, the bus stop is located right at the Visitor Center complex. Taking the bus to the park is a great choice to reduce congestion and pollution, and a relaxing way to enjoy the scenic road on top of Point Loma. Please note that the bus does not go to the tidepool area on the west side of the park.

LODGING
As the park is a day-use area, there are no accommodations located within Cabrillo National Monument. However, your visit here may include an overnight stay at one of the many lodging establishments located within the city of San Diego.

PETS
For the health and safety of native wildlife and your animal companions, pets are not allowed in the park, except in the coastal and tidepool areas. While there, they must be on a leash of no more than six feet. If you bring your pet to the upper portion of the park, it must be left in your vehicle. Working service animals are always allowed.

RESERVATIONS
You’re welcome to visit Cabrillo National Monument any time that we’re open. No reservations are required for the general public. If you will be visiting the tidepools and your group is larger than ten people, we ask that you make a reservation and obtain a free tidepool permit. See the ranger at the Visitor Center, call the park at 619-557-5450, or visit our website for more information: www.nps.gov/cabr.

PASSES
Cabrillo National Monument, as part of the National Park System, participates in the Interagency Pass Program, and honors those passes, including the Annual Pass, Military Annual Pass, Senior Pass, and Access Pass. These passes, along with the Cabrillo National Monument annual pass, are available at the Entrance Station and Visitor Center.

An empty juice box carton lounges on a park bench. A granola bar wrapper is hanging out in the shrubs. These items both have something in common: They are often left in the park after a picnic lunch.

Cabrillo National Monument became a “Trash Free Park” in November 2010 reducing nearly 80% of its usual waste stream by decreasing the number of garbage bins around the park. Visitors are encouraged to pack out everything they pack into the park for picnics.

A large concern for sustainable parks has compelled park rangers at Cabrillo National Monument to encourage visitors to bring cloth napkins and reusable eating utensils, pack lunch in reusable plastic containers when possible, and use thermos’ for juice, water or milk.

These activities raise awareness regarding the amount of garbage that can be generated in one small part of the day and reinforce the idea that the personal choices visitors make can have a positive impact on the environment.

Since becoming a “Trash Free Park,” Cabrillo National Monument has diverted over 13 tons of trash sent to our local landfill. This program is especially significant as part of the park’s climate change strategy. Materials that breakdown in a landfill produce methane, which is 21 times more potent in the atmosphere than carbon dioxide.

According to Chief of Maintenance Charles Schultheis, since the program started, the park has saved approximately $25,000 per year in hauling and person hours that are now freed up to do other projects.

Curriculum based environmental education programs are also presented to local schools emphasizing climate change strategies such as “zero waste.” Park rangers encourage a “Zero Waste Picnic” program for the hundreds of school groups, scout groups, and other students that participate in an education program at the park. The objective is to plan and enjoy a picnic meal using a minimum of disposable items, using the recycling bins, and take home any leftover food.

Part of the “zero waste” concept is to prevent the generation of waste through thoughtful reuse and conservation of materials. It is a holistic approach to waste management that emphasizes community cooperation in an effort to change simple habits that make a profound difference in the environment. “There used to be a trash can down near the tidepools but all the litter would blow away. Then we would have to pick it up and birds would get at it; it was a big mess,” said Tidepool Volunteer Coordinator Bonnie Phillips. Being “Trash Free” not only diverts landfill-bound waste, but prevents pollution of the park’s key resources.

The park adopts a philosophy promoting and inspiring responsible use of public landscapes by leading by example. The park tries to do its part by implementing a “trash free” policy in addition to recycling and participating in a composting program. The park recognizes the importance of reducing the volume and disposal costs of waste sent to the landfill, making more efficient use of natural resources, and creating markets for material recovered in our recycling program.

According to the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, in 2010 U.S. residents, businesses, and institutions produced more than 250 million tons of municipal solid waste (MSW), which is approximately 4.4 pounds of waste per person per day. That amount is up from 3.7 pounds per person per day in 1980. Disposal of waste to a landfill has decreased from 89% of the amount generated in 1980 to about 54% of MSW in 2010. The rate of diversion for recyclables is actually 68% for San Diego and 75% in some communities for 2010. Approximately 30% of this residential waste is green material consisting of yard trimmings and food waste, which can be turned into compost.

Rangers recently did a compositional analysis of a trash can near the visitor center. They determined that only 22% of the material thrown away was actually trash! The remaining 78% was recyclable or compostable material! The need to reduce our waste is evident and Cabrillo National Monument is determined to reduce the amount of recyclable material making its way into trash cans and into landfills. It is everyone’s responsibility to keep the park clean by throwing away litter and to keep the world clean by separating recyclables from trash! Easy solutions at the local level lead to big changes on a global scale. Going green means preserving the beauty of Cabrillo National Monument for future generations to enjoy! On behalf of Cabrillo National Monument, thank you for your help in preserving the natural landscape that we value so much!

Cabrillo National Monument’s Volunteer-In-Parks program recently hosted its first Artist-In-Residence (AIR) program for the San Diego community. The AIR program calls on local artists to spread the mission of the National Park Service and continues the tradition of inspiring new stewards to national parks through art.

Local artist Kathryn Law was selected as the first Artist-In-Residence at Cabrillo. “Kathryn branched out into the San Diego community through outreach programs, paint-outs and connected folks to our mission through her amazing work,” said Tom Workman, the park’s superintendent.

One of the requirements for the AIR position is to conduct several outreach programs to a variety of audiences around the community. Kathryn made connections within the art community and spoke of her experience as an AIR. Through her art, Kathryn portrayed the park and its stories in a beautiful way while engaging the public and increasing interest in park resources.

“This is just one of the many community engagement activities that Cabrillo is using to spotlight its centennial in 2013,” said Workman. “Active engagement with our community reinforces and validates the National Park Service mission, and specifically for us, our relevancy within San Diego.”

Currently, Kathryn’s art (an accumulation of her five-month residency) is showing in the visitor center for three weeks. “I gained inspiration from the cultural and natural resources and hope my work portrays the wonderful stories that make up the monument,” Law said.

The AIR position at Cabrillo is unpaid and is part of the Volunteer-In-Parks program. Cabrillo NM will accept applications for the 2012 AIR position in April. Cabrillo plans to host several AIR’s for its Centennial in 2013. Workman hopes the AIR serves as a springboard for future artistic endeavors with the Community.

Catalina Blvd, the road approaching Cabrillo National Monument, has a maximum speed of 35 MPH. The speed is reduced to 15 MPH as you near the entrance station.

Traffic and Travel Tips
Watch the roadways for wildlife.
Please be aware that the monument is surrounded by Navy property, and access to those areas is strictly limited.
Fog, low clouds, and mist can occur at any time of the year and reduce visibility considerably. Use caution in these conditions.

Tidepool Access
Because of their protected status, some of the best tidepools in California can be found right here at Cabrillo National Monument.
Tidepooling Tips
For optimum viewing, a negative low tide is a must. The very best time for tidepooling is during the winter months (Nov.-Apr.).
Please note that a vehicle is recommended to get to the lower area of the park where the tidepools are located.
Shoes with good gripping soles are best, as rocky areas become slippery with water and algae.

Rules of the Road
