Make A Cool Robot Out Of Recycled Parts

Use your smart phone enabled QR Code reader to scan the barcode and go directly to our mobile microsite.

Hey Kids!

YOUR school group is invited to visit and explore our park and learn about three great men from Dayton, Ohio – Paul Laurence Dunbar, Wilbur Wright, and Orville Wright, and about their families, too. For more information about programs offered, or to make a reservation, contact Judi Hart, our Education Specialist, at 937.225.7705.

Tap into your creative spirit and turn trash into art.

This fun activity is easy, fun and cheap.

See how recycled items can become works of art. Recycled cans, wire, bolts, and other stuff (that might be discarded – will be works of art).

You are only limited by your imagination.

To attach the parts ask your mom or dad to use hot glue to glue the parts.

For more ideas visit our website at www.nps.gov/daav/forkids

WELCOME!

Dayton Aviation Heritage National Historical Park is a national park about preserving Dayton’s contribution to our nation’s history and the stories of three Daytonians that helped shape our world.

The Wright brothers, Wilbur and Orville, through their invention of powered flight, created one of the most important achievements of the 20th century. Paul Laurence Dunbar, an African-American writer and poet, rose from a poor childhood to international acclaim as a voice for equality and justice.

You are invited to visit all of our five sites: Carillon Historical Park, Hawthorn Hill, the Dunbar State Memorial, the Wright-Dunbar Interpretive Center, and Huffman Prairie Flying Field and Interpretive Center.

Enjoy your visit!

The human imagination found its highest expression in three men from Dayton, Ohio: Wilbur and Orville Wright, first to fly a powered, heavier-than-air machine and creators of the practical airplane, and Paul Laurence Dunbar, who with his compelling new voice was the first African American writer to win high distinction in American literature. This park preserves sites associated with the Wright brothers and the home of Paul Laurence Dunbar.
