Grand Canyon Visitors Welcome Introduction of New Shuttle System

THE FIRST LINE SET ALL CAPS IN 7/13 NPS RAWLINSON TWO with tracking set at 20. In Pagemaker and Quark 3.3, first line caps must be set manually to the above specifications. In Quark 4.0, use the character style “Text-first line caps.”

Text type is separated from headline type by a space of .265 inches. This sample text type is set in 9/13 NPS Rawlinson. It can be set manually or by using the paragraph style sheet labeled “Text.”

Text paragraphs are separated from each other by a full line space, manually or by using the paragraph style sheet labeled “Box-head.” Page numbers adjacent to heads should be set in NPS Rawlinson Two Tabular.

In Quark 4.0, italic type is set in “Text-italic” in the character styles menu. Bold type is set in the character style “Text-bold.” In Pagemaker and Quark 3.3, italic and bold type must be set manually as NPS Rawlinson Italic and NPS Rawlinson Bold.

The underlying structure of the newspaper is an eight-column grid. The standard text type is set as four column text. However, the front page may be structured differently, as demonstrated here. In this template, each of the two front-page feature article text columns is three grid columns wide. These text columns are separated by the grid’s standard gutter width of .167 inches.

This is dummy text. Poet, minstrel, lecturer, biographer, and Pulitzer Prize-winning author, he had spent his lifetime championing social justice and the American people through his writings and his singing. Although, at 67, he was at an age when many people retire, Sandburg was still actively working. Sandburg’s wife, Lilian, had discovered the mountain farm named Connemara with their youngest daughter, Helga. The farm had everything the family wanted, including a gentle climate and ample pasture for Mrs. Sandburg’s goat herd and seclusion for her husband’s writing. Carl Sandburg would call it home for 22 years. The estate had a long history—an ironic history for the biographer of Abraham Lincoln—for Christopher Memminger, who built the main residence around 1838, had served from 1861 to 1864 as Secretary of the Treasury.

The second occupant was textile tycoon Ellison Smyth who named Connemara to honor his Irish ancestry. Smyth’s heirs sold it to the Sandburgs. The Sandburgs moved from Michigan with their three daughters, two grandchildren, a library of more than 14,000 volumes, and the Chikaming goat herd. The years at Connemara were productive for Carl Sandburg. He published poems, children’s literature, fiction, and nonfiction. He continued to travel, lecture, sing, and earn accolades, including another Pulitzer Prize. The family was busy too. Mrs. Sandburg bred her prize-winning goats. The years at Connemara were productive for Carl Sandburg. The family was busy too. Mrs. Sandburg bred her prize-winning goats.

Welcome

Many improvements are underway at the park. This year construction begins on the Greenway, a 73 mile/117 km network of multi-use trails on the North and South Rims. A dynamic learning center for park visitors of all ages and interests, the Heritage Education Campus, is planned for Grand Canyon’s historic village.

Development continues for a mass transit system that will allow visitors greater ease in moving around the park without distraction and delay from the noise and congestion of automobile traffic. While this transit system is still several years away, the park is moving ahead with related improvements. The park’s alternative-fuel bus fleet will be expanded and available to all, including those with accessibility needs.

Make the most of your visit by seeing the new visitor center and taking advantage of the free shuttle bus system. We hope these improvements will make your future visits to the canyon even more enjoyable.

Use “Text-first line caps” for the first line of text in a feature article unless text is subdivided into sections using additional text heads, as in this example. Feature articles are set in “Text” which is located in the paragraph style sheet. Most feature text conforms to the four-column grid with a gutter width of .167 inches. This feature runs in three of the four columns. Headlines are separated from articles by a distance of .265 inches.

THE COLORADO RIVER
Dummy text. Sandburg’s wife, Lilian, had discovered the mountain farm named Connemara with their youngest daughter, Helga. The farm had everything the family wanted, including a gentle climate and ample pasture for Mrs. Sandburg’s goat herd and seclusion for her husband’s writing. Carl Sandburg would call it home for 22 years. The estate had a long history—an ironic history for the biographer of Abraham Lincoln—for Christopher Memminger, who built the main residence around 1838, had served from 1861 to 1864 as Secretary of the Confederate Treasury.

CANYON FLORA
The second occupant was textile tycoon Ellison Smyth who named it Connemara to honor his Irish ancestry. Smyth’s heirs sold it to the Sandburgs. The Sandburgs moved from Michigan with their three daughters, two grandchildren, a library of more than 14,000 volumes, and the Chikaming herd.

CANYON FAUNA
The years at Connemara were productive for Carl Sandburg. He published poems, children’s literature, fiction, and nonfiction. He continued to travel, lecture, sing, and earn accolades, including another Pulitzer Prize. Sandburg bred her prize-winning goats and ran the farm business. Margaret helped her father, attended to the library, and worked in her flower garden. Janet helped on the farm, which was especially active when Helga and her children, John Carl and Paula, lived here. Until her second marriage and move from Connemara, Helga managed the dairy operation with her mother. The grandchildren rode horses and played in the woods and pastures. Carl Sandburg kept late hours. He often worked most of the night, while it was quiet and still.

Visitor Information

Dates and Hours of Operation
The SOUTH RIM is open 24 hours a day, 365 days a year. Services are available and facilities are open year round. The NORTH RIM is open mid-May through mid-October. Weather permitting, the North Rim is open for day use only following the close of facilities in mid-October. After that time there are no services or overnight facilities available inside the park on the North Rim.

Weather and Climate
The South Rim is 7000 feet above sea level, which means snow in winter and cool nights even in summer. Inner canyon hiking (below the rim) is another story, however: summer temperatures along the Colorado River at the canyon bottom can reach 120º F. The North Rim is 8000 feet above sea level and can receive snow throughout most of the year. Weather is particularly changeable in spring and fall; visitors should be prepared for a variety of climates. The high altitude of both the South and North Rims may cause visitors with respiratory or heart problems to experience difficulties. All walking at this elevation can be strenuous.

In Case of An Emergency
The years at Connemara were productive for Carl Sandburg. He published poems, children’s literature, fiction, and nonfiction. He continued to travel, lecture, sing, and earn accolades, including another Pulitzer Prize. The family was busy.
