Destinies Determined at Canyon Creek

The events at Canyon Creek on September 13, 1877 is often considered a minor skirmish during that summe of hostility, but the actions of the Nez Perce (Nimiipuu), the U.S. Army and their Crow (Apsaalooke) scouts, would reverberate through the rest of that fateful summer and into the fall. The effects of the Battle at Canyon Creek would contribute to a profound sense of loss, betrayal, and weariness among the Nimiipuu that would eventually lead to the end of the long summer of conflict.

Having traveled over 1,000 miles and with a recent refusal of help from the Crow, the people were in need of shelter and rest. The Nimiipuu had just eluded an ambush out of Yellowstone National Park and had skillfully circumvented Seventh U.S. Cavalry troops led by Colonel Samuel Sturgis. On September 12 the Nez Perce families rested in a grassy area near the mouth of Canyon Creek they called tepahlewam wakuspah or Place Similar to Split Rocks Near Tolo Lake, Idaho.

On September 13, as young Nez Perce men scouted the area for supplies and troops, Colonel Sturgis and 360 men crossed the Yellowstone River and quickly discovered the campsite at Canyon Creek. As Cavalry soldiers approached, the Nimiipuu families spotted the huge dust cloud and heard the thunderous roar of approaching horses. As the Nez Perce quickly broke camp, Nez Perce men climbed the cliff sides of the canyon and began firing upon charging soldiers. The gun fire slowed the cavalry's advance, forcing the troopers to dismount some 500 yards away from the Nez Perce column. Nez Perce rifle fire kept the soldiers pinned, allowing their families to escape.

The Army failed to stop the Nez Perce at Canyon Creek, but it demonstrated that the once-friendly Crow were now openly siding with the army and that Canada was indeed the only option. The vision of safety in Canada was, however, even more distant with the loss of so many horses. “At Canyon Creek fight we lost many horses, and this crippled our transportation, making it hard work for us to get along,” said Yellow Bull. Great unknowns rest upon the legacy of Canyon Creek. What if that day's travel had not been lost to fighting? What if the horse herd had stayed intact and continued to supply fresh mounts to the weary families? What if the Crow people had been able to provide refuge? Three weeks after Canyon Creek, the Nez Perce conflict came to an end, only forty miles from Canada and freedom. Could the Nez Perce have made the border if not for the repercussions of a harsh September day?

In an attempt to intercept and capture the Nez Perce who had been pursued by the Army since June, Colonel Samuel Sturgis charged into the confines of Canyon Creek. Heavy rifle fire from the Nez Perce halted the advance, and allowed their families to escape. The painting is by Nez Perce artist Nakia Williamson-Cloud. Property of Nez Perce NHP, NPS.
Nearby is where the Spalding’s first settled in 1836. The park’s visitor center and museum is located here as well. The Spalding site has seen many uses by the Nimiipuu and was the location of Henry and Eliza Spalding’s mission. The Spalding’s turned them into a stone arch that is visible today.

Cottonwood Eddy

In 1862, a detachment of volunteers chose this location for their fort. The 1883 officers’ quarters at the southwest end of the parade ground is one of the few original buildings to have survived.

On July 11, 1877 Gen. Oliver O. Howard crossed the Clearwater River and hoped to take the Nez Perce by surprise. On June 17, 1877, the first battle of the Nez Perce War was fought here. The U.S. cavalry was defeated with heavy losses and the Nimiipuu began their long journey to find safety and sanctuary. A self-guided walking tour of the battlefield is available at the trailhead.

Coyote’s Fishnet

Coyote and Black Bear got into an argument. In frustration, Coyote threw his fishing net on a hill and tossed Black Bear on another, turning him into stone. Both features are visible today.

Coyote and Black Bear got into an argument. In frustration, Coyote threw his fishing net on a hill and tossed Black Bear on another, turning him into stone. Both features are visible today.

Ant and Yellowjacket

Ant and Yellowjacket were arguing over who had the right to fish for Salmon when they got into an argument. Coyote asked them to stop. They continued to fight, whereby Coyote turned them into a stone arch that is visible today.

Spalding

The Spalding site has seen many uses by the Nimiipuu and was the location of Henry and Eliza Spalding’s mission. The park’s visitor center and museum is located here as well. Nearby is where the Spalding’s first settled in 1836. Spalding was the location of Henry and Eliza Spalding’s mission. The park’s visitor center and museum is located here as well. Nearby is where the Spalding’s first settled in 1836.

Northern Idaho Indian Agency

As part of the treaty process, the U.S. Government set up an agency to oversee the implementation of the terms of the treaties.

Fort Lapwai

In 1862, a detachment of volunteers chose this location for their fort. The 1883 officers’ quarters at the southwest end of the parade ground is one of the few original buildings to have survived.

Craig Donation Land Claim

This is the site of the claim by the first Euro-American settler in Idaho. William Craig was a mountain man, an interpreter, and friend of the Nimiipuu.

Ant and Yellowjacket

Ant and Yellowjacket were arguing over who had the right to fish for Salmon when they got into an argument. Coyote asked them to stop. They continued to fight, whereby Coyote turned them into a stone arch that is visible today.

Spalding

The Spalding site has seen many uses by the Nimiipuu and was the location of Henry and Eliza Spalding’s mission. The park’s visitor center and museum is located here as well. Nearby is where the Spalding’s first settled in 1836.

Northern Idaho Indian Agency

As part of the treaty process, the U.S. Government set up an agency to oversee the implementation of the terms of the treaties.

Fort Lapwai

In 1862, a detachment of volunteers chose this location for their fort. The 1883 officers’ quarters at the southwest end of the parade ground is one of the few original buildings to have survived.

Craig Donation Land Claim

This is the site of the claim by the first Euro-American settler in Idaho. William Craig was a mountain man, an interpreter, and friend of the Nimiipuu.

St. Joseph’s Mission

This was the first Roman Catholic mission among the Nimiipuu. It was dedicated in Sept. 1874 by Father Joseph Catelais, who had built it. The church and grounds are currently closed.

Cottonwood Skirmishes

Skirmishes with the U.S. Army and volunteers occurred near here on July 3 and 5, 1877.

Weis Rockshelter

More than 8,000 years ago humans first made this home and continuously inhabited the area until about 600 years ago.

Camas Prairie

Where wheat fields stretch to the horizon today, camas once grew. Camas bulbs were a major food source for the Nimiipuu. They gathered here in late summer and early fall to gather camas bulbs. Where wheat fields stretch to the horizon today, camas once grew. Camas bulbs were a major food source for the Nimiipuu. They gathered here in late summer and early fall to gather camas bulbs.

Tolo Lake

In 1877, the non-treaty bands congregated at this ancient council site, known as Tepahlewam, before moving onto the Salmon River from this site.

White Bird Battlefield

On June 17, 1877, the first battle of the Nez Perce War was fought here. The U.S. cavalry was defeated with heavy losses and the Nimiipuu began their long journey to find safety and sanctuary. A self-guided walking tour of the battlefield is available at the trailhead.

Clearwater Battlefield

On July 11, 1877 Gen. Oliver O. Howard crossed the Clearwater River and hoped to take the Nez Perce by surprise.
This was a root-gathering place for the Nimiipuu and it was Weippe Prairie
For thousands of years, this village site was used by the Nez in the Kamiah area. Unsuited to the demands of such work,
In April 1839, Rev. and Mrs. Asa Smith established a mission
Asa Smith Mission
In September 1860, gold was found on the Nez Perce reserva-
Pierce
In September 1860, gold was found on the Nez Perce reserva-
Musselshell Meadow
For many generations, Nimiipuu have come here to dig for camass. General Howard camped here at the end of July, 1877
Not a developed site.
Burial Site of Chief Joseph the Younger
In 1885 Chief Joseph and his band were allowed to return to the
Not a developed site.
Nez Perce Campsites at Nespelem
Chief Joseph's band continued their traditional way of life while living on the Colville Reservation. These were their winter and sum-hers and were the last places where Joseph lived.
Nez Perce (Nee-Me-Poo) National Historic Trail
In 1986, Congress established the Nez Perce (Nee-Me-Poo) National Historic Trail to commemorate the 1877 War. The trail begins at Wallowa Lake in Oregon and extends 1,170 miles to the Bear Paw Battlefield in Montana. The trail is managed by the U.S. Forest Service in cooperation with other partners, including the National Park Service. Further information on sites to see and special events along the trail can be found on the web at: www.fs.fed.us/nphnt/

His hopes came to naught and the fighting ended with the Nimiipuu withdrawing.
Heart of the Monster
This is the location of the Heart of the Monster, where Coyote defeated a monster and, in turn, created the Nimiipuu. Audio stations tell the story in English and in the Nez Perce languages.
Asa Smith Mission
In April 1839, Rev. and Mrs. Asa Smith established a mission in the Kamiah area. Unsuited to the demands of such work, the Smiths left in 1841.
Lewis and Clark Long Camp
Near here Lewis and Clark camped in the spring of 1806 for nearly a month.
Canoe Camp
In the early fall of 1805, the Lewis and Clark expedition rested here and built canoes of hallowed-out logs for the final leg of their trip to the Pacific Ocean.
Lenore
For thousands of years, this village site was used by the Nez Perce and their ancestors.
Weighpo Prairie
This was a root-gathering place for the Nimiipuu and it was here on September 20, 1805, that Lewis and Clark first met the Nez Perce. During the 1877 War, the Nimiipuu gathered here after the Battle of the Clearwater.
Buffalo Eddy
The unique petroglyphs of this area are evidence of the longevity of the Nimiipuu occupation of the area. Defacing federal archaeological sites is a criminal offense.
Hasotino
Hasotino was a site used until the end of the nineteenth century and was located near an important eel fishery.
Camas Meadow Battle Site
After the tragedy at Big Hole, the Nimiipuu gained time by stealing more than 200 of the Army's pack mules and horses, halting their advance.

Montana
Big Hole National Battlefield
On the morning of August 9, 1877, U.S. troops surprised the Nez Perce who crossed the Bitterroot trying to evade capture. Between 60 and 90 Nez Perce men, women, and children were killed. The Army lost 29 soldiers and 40 wounded.
Canyon Creek
After emerging from Yellowstone National Park, the Nez Perce were pursued by the cavalry. In a rearguard action the Nez Perce were able to gain time by successfully stopping the pursuing troops.
Bear Paw Battlefield
Just 40 miles short of the Canadian border, the Nez Perce were besieged by the Army. With losses mounting, Joseph gave his rifle to General Howard, ending the siege on October 5, 1877. They had traveled 1,170 miles in the nearly four months since the first skirmishes.

Oregon
Dug Bar
At this traditional crossing of the Snake River, Joseph and his band crossed in May, 1877 as they left their homes in Oregon for the reservation in Idaho. Located in Hells's Canyon National Recreation Area, the site is accessible by either boat or a high clearance vehicle.
Joseph Canyon Viewpoint
The canyon seen from the overlook was one of the winter homes of the Nez Perce. Tradition holds that Chief Joseph was born in a cave along the east bank of the creek. Restrooms are available.
Old Chief Joseph's Grave site
The remains of the elder Chief Joseph were reburied here in 1926. Nearby are the graves of other Nez Perce and some settlers.
Lostine Campsite
At the junction of the Lostine and Wallowa Rivers is a traditional Nez Perce summer campsite where Old Chief Joseph died in 1871. This landscape has changed little from the days before the area was settled. Not a developed site.

Washington
Burial Site of Chief Joseph the Younger
In 1885 Chief Joseph and his band were allowed to return to the Northwest from Indian Territory in Oklahoma. Joseph spent his remaining years on the Colville Reservation and died here in 1904.
The cemetery is private property and a sacred place.
Nez Perce Campsites at Nespelem
Chief Joseph's band continued their traditional way of life while living on the Colville Reservation. These were their winter and sum-
hers and were the last places where Joseph lived.
Nez Perce (Nee-Me-Poo) National Historic Trail
In 1986, Congress established the Nez Perce (Nee-Me-Poo) National Historic Trail to commemorate the 1877 War. The trail begins at Wallowa Lake in Oregon and extends 1,170 miles to the Bear Paw Battlefield in Montana. The trail is managed by the U.S. Forest Service in cooperation with other partners, including the National Park Service. Further information on sites to see and special events along the trail can be found on the web at: www.fs.fed.us/nphnt/
1877 Sites

Nez Perce National Historical Park includes a number of sites that mark important events related to the war of 1877. Some of the sites that are associated with the events of 1877 are listed below.

Spalding Visitor Center

Ranger programs on Nez Perce history and culture are featured here as well as exhibits, a film, and book store. Information on the park is also available. Directions: The visitor center is located ten miles east of Lewiston on US Hwy. 95.

White Bird Battlefield

White Bird battlefield marks the site of the first battle of the war. On the morning of June 17, 1877, soldiers of the First Cavalry Regiment accompanied by a handful of civilian volunteers clashed with the Nimiipuu. Nimiipuu warriors routed the First Cavalry and successfully protected their camp, suffering only three slightly wounded warriors. The U.S. Army suffered thirty-four dead and three wounded. Directions: The battlefield is located fifteen miles south of Grangeville on Hwy 95. A hiking trail is accessible two miles north of the town of Whitebird.

Lolo Trail and Pass

Visitors can retrace the route that the Nimiipuu took over the Bitterroot Mountains in 1877 on U.S. Highway 12 or on a primitive dirt road known as the Lolo Motorway (Forest Road 500). A rest area and visitor center are located at Lolo Pass. The rest area is open twenty-four hours a day. The visitor center is open seven days a week from May 27 to September 6, 2006 from 8:30 am to 5:30 pm (PDT). Call (208) 942-3244 for more information.

Big Hole National Battlefield

Early in the morning of August 9, 1877, soldiers under the command of Colonel John Gibbon attacked the encampment at Big Hole. Gibbon's attack killed upwards of ninety men, women and children. Despite the carnage, the Nimiipuu rallied, trapping Gibbon's men for 24 hours, allowing their families to escape. Directions: Big Hole National Battlefield is located ten miles west of Wisdom, Montana on state highway 43.

Bear Paw Battlefield

On September 30, 1877, the U.S. Army attacked and besieged the Nimiipuu camp on Snake Creek. After five days of fighting in atrocious weather, Chief Joseph brought hostilities to end, forty miles short of the Canadian border. Some escaped to Canada under White Bird, many remained and were sent into exile to Oklahoma. Directions: The battlefield is located located 15 miles south of Chinoek, MT on Highway 240.

Archeological sites, battlefields and artifacts are protected by state and federal law. Anyone who injures, destroys or removes artifacts or objects of antiquity on park lands is subject to arrest and prosecution to the maximum extent of the law.

Please call (208) 843-7001 in Idaho and (406) 689-3155 in Montana to report incidents.

Nez Perce National Historical Park - Quick Reference

Nez Perce National Historical Park
PO Box 1000
Lapwai, ID 83540

The summer schedule is available on park's website at www.nps.gov/nepe

Phone: (208) 843-7001
Fax: (208) 843-7003
E-Mail: NEPE_Visitor_Information@nps.gov

Spalding Visitor Center

Located ten miles east of Lewiston, Idaho on U.S. Highway 95.

Summer: Memorial Day to Labor Day - Daily 8:00 am to 5:00 pm
Rest of the Year: Daily, 8:00 am to 4:30 pm
Closed: Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Year's.

The visitor center offers exhibits, films, and a bookstore on Nez Perce culture and history.
Fees: Free
Restrooms are accessible. Park film has open captions and audio description is available for the park film and museum exhibit.

Big Hole National Battlefield

PO Box 237
Wisdom, MT 59761

The summer schedule is available on park's website at www.nps.gov/biho

Phone: (406) 689-3155
Fax: (406) 689-3151
E-Mail: BHO_Visitor_Information@nps.gov
Website: www.nps.gov/biho

Visitor Center

Located ten miles west of Wisdom, Montana on State Highway 43.
Summer: May 27 - September 6, 2006 9:00 am to 6:00 pm
Rest of the Year: 9:00 am to 5:00 pm
Closed: Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Year's

The visitor center offers exhibits, a film, and a bookstore on the Nez Perce War of 1877.
Fees: Free
Restrooms and visitor center are accessible.

Bear Paw Battlefield

301 Ohio
Chinook, MT 59523

Phone: (406) 357-3130
Fax: (406) 357-3140
E-Mail: NEPE_Bear_Paw@nps.gov
Website: www.nps.gov/nepe

Visitor Center

Located in the Blaine County Museum 501 Indiana St., Chinook, Montana.

Summer: Memorial Day to Labor Day
Mon. to Sat. 8:00 am to 5:00 pm
Closed between noon and 1 pm
Sunday: Noon to 5:00 pm.
Rest of the Year: Monday through Friday, 1pm to 5pm
Bear Paw is 16 miles south of Chinoek, Montana on Route 240. The battlefield is open daily from dawn to dusk with a self guided trail, picnic tables, and vault toilets.
Fees: Free