Shelter, Gitchie Manitou State Park, Iowa

Few buildings among the subjects herein illustrated are so well keyed to their immediate surroundings as this stone picnic shelter. There is a rapprochement between the crude stone masonry and rock outcroppings that evidences an understanding of the claims of environment.