A diminutive and rakish structure with personality plus. One of those infrequent shelters that stand agreeably out from the crowd, in spite of some trace of the bizarre. While there is a faint recall of European farm buildings it seems incidental rather than deliberate, and has in this example resulted in an especially welcome departure from the commonplace.

Shelter — Black Hawk State Park — Illinois