Nature's greatest concentration of scenic beauty!

(Front Cover) Tower Bridge, Bryce Canyon National Park, Utah
a world sublime
in form and color!

America is a strange land. A land of many lands—of East and North and South and West. Lands of exciting beauty and adventure. And if you seek the unusual . . . masterpieces of the Great Architect that will stir your emotions; hold you spellbound with a feeling of deep humility, then set forth for that western region of unparalleled scenic splendor, known all too casually as the National Parks of Southern Utah-Arizona. Here Nature has wrought with a lavish hand. Everything is on a gigantic scale and color has been splashed around so extravagantly that artists despair of ever catching the brilliance of such flashing colors. No process yet devised by man can faithfully bring to you the beauty of these supreme achievements of Nature. You must see them for yourself! In that way, and that way only, you will carry away the unforgettable images they will impress upon your mind. Time and again you will call up those images to relive with pleasure the delightful hours spent in the inspiring environment of Zion, Bryce Canyon and Grand Canyon National Parks.
The Southern Utah-Arizona National Parks are comprised of five scenic regions: Zion National Park, Bryce Canyon National Park, Cedar Breaks National Monument—all in Utah—and Grand Canyon National Park and Kaibab National Forest, in Arizona. All five regions are so closely grouped that all may be seen on one continuous tour. All are connected by surfaced highways for the traveler’s convenience and comfort. Amazingly, although each region is within easy distance of the others, no two are alike. Each has its own distinctive formations—its own coloring. Union Pacific motor bus tours start from Cedar City, Utah, which is the terminus of the Union Pacific branch line from Lund, Utah, on the main line between Salt Lake City and Southern California. The route of the complete five-day tour is from Cedar City to Zion National Park, thence across the Prismatic Plains and through Kaibab National Forest to the North Rim of Grand Canyon; back, northward, to Bryce Canyon National Park returning through Cedar Breaks National Monument to Cedar City. On the way quaint Mormon settlements and many places of historic interest are passed. The route is through Utah's “Dixie,” in whose sub-tropical climate grows a variety of agricultural products including cotton, tobacco, figs and luscious melons.
"heavenly" is the word for it!

Here—in Zion—is inspiration. A magnificent hymn translated into natural architecture. The soaring notes . . . the cloud-seeking stone monuments. The melody . . . the gentle rise and fall of foliaged valleys.

Here, too, is color. Not the brilliant tones of mystic Bryce, but a blending of pastel-like shades with occasional crimson streaks. The names of Zion’s monuments carry out its sublimity: the Great White Throne, Temple of Sinawava, Angels Landing, the Great Organ, and so on.

The Great White Throne towers 2,475 feet above the river at its base, its wooded crest, "an inaccessible island in the air." Its lower portion red, its upper surface tinting from rosy buff to chalky white, this colossal butte is one of the world’s great rocks. It is seen most effectively from the Temple of Sinawava, through the vermilion gap between Angels Landing and the Great Organ. The Temple of Sinawava is a park-like area of green grass and a variety of shade trees, surrounded by sheer rock formations of sombre red. A great many wild flowers are to be found here and their delicate perfume adds to the sanctuary-like air of this delightful place. Space permits mention of but a few of Zion’s dazzling attractions.

After viewing Zion from the green-carpeted valley, you can, if you wish, get a sure-footed western horse to take you up winding trails with a friendly guide to point out the peaks—tell you their descriptive names—and perhaps relate a few interesting incidents. These light-hearted, entertaining native westerners frequently introduce a note of gaiety that will add to the pleasure of your tour through these scenic regions.

But whether you view Zion from the Canyon floor or from the lofty trails which skirt its rims, you will share the enthusiasm of thousands who have preceded you.

Leaving Zion your route is over famous Mt. Carmel Highway, a mile of which is within and paralleling the face of a great cliff. At intervals huge windows have been cut, disclosing scenes of majestic beauty. On the way to the Kaibab National Forest and the North Rim of Grand Canyon you cross the Prismatic Plains, one of the most exquisitely colored stretches of upland in America.
"Kaibab" is a Piute Indian word meaning "mountain-lying-down," a particularly apt description as it is actually a vast plateau, some fifty miles long and thirty-five miles wide, ranging in elevation from 7,500 to 9,300 feet. It contains various species of pine, fir and spruce, interspersed with charming aspen. Beneath its stately trees the grassy forest floor is generally free from underbrush and fallen timber—clean as a city park. Although not widely distributed, there are many lovely wild flowers, mosses and ferns.

To add to the charm of this sylvan setting, a herd of 30,000 or more black-tail, mule deer roam at will, cropping wild mountain clover. They gather in the open meadows in late afternoon and large herds may be seen close by the highway.

Also native to the Kaibab Forest is the white-tail squirrel, found nowhere else. It is about the size of a large grey squirrel, though shorter and stockier; is bluish-gray marked with brown; has long tufted ears and a broad feathery tail that is almost pure white. It feeds principally on the seeds and bark of the yellow pine.

The delightful ride through the cool glades of the charming Kaibab is a fitting prelude for the spectacle which awaits you at the North Rim of Grand Canyon.
The Grandeur of GRAND CANYON

The Grand Canyon may be described as a vast and intricate range of sunken mountains cut through a hundred miles of high plateau. Usually it is pictured as a colossal chasm, 280 miles in length, a mile deep and some twelve miles wide; but it is more precisely a measureless labyrinth of canyons with an array of magnificent architectural forms upthrust from their depths. And in the uttermost reaches deep down in the canyon you will see the turbulent Colorado River grinding away at the canyon walls, as it has for countless ages.

Some years ago a mathematician arrived at the startling conclusion that all of the world's people could be packed into the Grand Canyon. And, true enough, you will find its vastness overpowering.

product of nature's forces—wind • rain • sun
While one's first impression of Grand Canyon may be that it is a motionless mass of immensity, it is actually a constantly shifting kaleidoscope of color. It changes incessantly as the shadows alter, deepen, lengthen, fade and disappear. Numberless rich tones of gray, green, blue, red and mauve tint its mighty walls and temples, and, independent of these, the sunlight pours daily into the chasm a color parade of exquisite blues and purples, glowing reds and golds. At every hour of the day there is a different aspect of the Grand Canyon before the watcher.

Grand Canyon viewed from Point Sublime
There are many vantage points on the North Rim from which the canyon may be surveyed. Motor trips of varying length may be made to Cape Final, Farview Point and Point Imperial, the latter being the highest place on the rim. From Cape Royal one is afforded some wonderful panoramas of the canyon as well as glimpses of the river. Some assert Point Sublime surpasses all other viewpoints.

Perched on the very brink of the gorge at Bright Angel Point is Union Pacific's Grand Canyon Lodge. Your first view of the canyon will probably be from one of the broad windows in the lobby which frame magnificent views of the Canyon.

Well-trained saddle horses can be procured near Grand Canyon Lodge and guides are available for horseback trips along the rim and into the canyon, varying in length from a few hours to several days according to the visitor's inclinations.
Leaving Grand Canyon your route again takes you through delightful Kaibab Forest. You have noted the contrast in natural architecture and coloring between Zion and Grand Canyon. Yet—strangely enough—you will find that Bryce Canyon is utterly unlike the other two regions. Though Bryce Canyon is immense, it is not bewildering in size and the enraptured beholder standing on its rim may readily understand its general plan. It is not a canyon in the usual sense, but an amphitheatre or basin of horseshoe shape, carved one thousand feet deep into the pink and white limestone. It is approximately two miles wide and three miles long and its rim is 8,000 feet in elevation.

Bryce Canyon is a bewildering assortment of fantastic stone formations, alive with flaming, glowing color. There are statues of famous people; spires and minarets; cathedrals, castles, bridges, and countless other formations not to be compared with any familiar object.
For best effects, Bryce should be seen from the west rim in the morning, the east rim in the afternoon, putting the formations between the beholder and the sun. Horseback and foot trails extend in both directions along the rim of the canyon from Bryce Lodge. Every visitor should spend at least a half a day on the trails in the depths of Bryce. Dainty figures as seen from the rim, assume huge proportions when viewed at close range. Bryce has a magnetic quality that will hold you intrigued for hours—a veritable fairyland of enchantment.

There is a spacious central lodge of rustic design at Bryce Canyon, and modern, comfortable guest cabins are hidden away among the surrounding pines.

You will leave Bryce Canyon reluctantly, with a solemn promise to yourself to return at the very first opportunity.

← From the rim the beauty of Bryce is revealed in form and color
"Circle-of-painted-cliffs" was the apt descriptive name given to Cedar Breaks by the Indians. The Cedar Breaks are a series of vast amphitheatres or chasms eroded to a depth of 2,000 feet, and covering an area of approximately sixty square miles.

Within its yawning labyrinths are thousands of grotesque and magnificent architectural forms, tinted with all the colors of the spectrum. Pink or terra cotta is dominant, though, at times, orange tones seem to prevail. There are shades of chocolate, yellow, rose, mulberry, lavender and purple.
Conspicuous in the welter of forms below are long, writhing, dragon-like figures of pure white; and huge sprawling masses resembling blood-red dinosaurs. For all its beauty, the place might appropriately have been the dwelling place of prehistoric monsters. The panoramas westward across the desert into the sunset are notably fine. As you stand on the rim of Cedar Breaks, you will realize that here Nature has dealt out beauty with a lavish hand, for, in vastness . . . in variety of color . . . in wild grandeur, Cedar Breaks is the greatest of Utah's painted amphitheatres.

In the forest, a short distance back from the rim, is Union Pacific's handsome, rustic Cedar Breaks Lodge. In addition to a large dining room and new lunch-counter snack bar, there are lounging and rest rooms, as well as a curio and souvenir shop. There are comfortable cabins for overnight guests.

Regretfully you leave Cedar Breaks for the short ride back to Cedar City and your train . . . the end to a tour of constant delight. You will take with you treasured memories of the vivid, unforgettable color of the Southern Utah-Northern Arizona National Parks.

Adorning the canyon floors and surrounding areas is the plant life of the region, sprinkling the green carpeting with spots of brilliant color.

To visitors from many parts of the country, the flowers are strange and interesting . . . frequently the subject for sketch-pad, canvas or color film.

In the blooming season, ranging from April to September, Utah's wild flowers present a vivid, flashing pageantry. Most of the flowers are found in canyons and on mountain-sides, but the Indian paintbrush grows in sage-brush country.

Some of the species to catch and hold the eye are strawberry cactus, dogtooth violets, lupine, huge star-like columbines, larkspur, and bluebonnet. Other varieties found are ferns and mosses, sego lilies, orchids, buttercups, phlox, wild roses, violets, fireweed, locoweed, prickly poppies, asters, blue flax, mentzelia, shooting stars, Indian bread-root, wild licorice, mountain mahogany, wild apples, currants, raspberries, strawberries, gooseberries, Arizona and Oregon wild grapes, goldenrod, monkey flowers, cardinal flowers, catnip, snowberries, marigolds, yarrow, clematis, daisies, and white blooms of the sacred datura, anciently used by the Indians in religious ceremonies.

The fall and winter rains of Arizona also bring a gorgeous floral blooming, painting bright, gay colors on mountain, mesa, and desert. Miles of golden poppies and Mariposas spread over the foothills.

The temperate area of Northern Arizona is thickly timbered, and countless varieties of wild flowers abound. Here you will find a tapestry of fragrance, such as lilies, iris, buttercups, wild roses, sweet peas, honeysuckles, and bleeding hearts.

In the desert areas may be seen prickly pears, pin-cushion cacti, yucca and torchweed which grow among the sage and rabbit brush.

PHOTOGRAPHY has an irresistible appeal to visitors to the Utah-Arizona National Parks. In this land of color a camera is indispensable.

For black and white photography a panchromatic film will give the most satisfactory results. Use of a medium yellow filter will give pictures of more brilliance and emphasize clouds. For occasional use and a more dramatic effect, a heavy yellow or light red filter will darken the skies and point up highlights. In general, a filter is of more use at Grand Canyon where haze is prevalent.

Exposures on fast panchromatic film will usually run one one-hundredth of a second at a diaphragm stop of F/16 to F/22. Care must be taken not to over-expose.

It has been said color film must have been made for this region. No filter is necessary, although many people use a haze filter or light ultra violet filter. Generally, exposure for color film is a fiftieth of a second at about F/8. The exposure is governed largely by the shadow area, the amount of green foliage or the general key of the picture. Therefore, Bryce Canyon views under bright sun will ordinarily take less exposure than views at Zion, where invariably there is more foliage. The filmer will find beautiful flowers and insects, birds and plenty of animal life; chipmunks and brown mantled ground squirrels at Bryce, white-tail Kaibab squirrels and deer at Grand Canyon.
LET'S GET TECHNICAL

ADVICE TO MOVIE MAKERS—Hold the camera steady. Don't panoram too much. If you have a camera which will take a wide angle lens you will find considerable use for this in Zion. Don't shoot too long on one scene. Effective shots can be made from a moving car. Run the car at about 20 miles per hour and the camera at 48 frames for best results. If you are shooting through the windshield or window of the bus, be careful to avoid reflections.

A pola screen is of great value in photographing the Utah-Arizona Parks. Use of a pola screen will increase the exposure but will enrich colors, give glorious cloud effects and combat the haze which some times renders pictur-taking rather difficult.

BRYCE CANYON—Best photographed in the morning and afternoon. Light flat and dull at mid-day. Excellent pictures from Bryce Point at sun-up, if you are an “early bird.” Good shots into Canyon from Rim near Sunset Point from eight to eleven A.M. Good shots from Rim in late afternoon. Good shots of Escalante Mountain just before sundown. Chipmunks and squirrels are found around cabins and at the woodpile near deluxe cabins. Hummingbirds are found wherever thistles grow, mostly alongside the road. Hiking and horse trips into Canyon produce excellent pictures and should not be missed. Use people or horses in some pictures to give scale.

GRAND CANYON — Best photographed in late afternoon. Fairly good morning shots may be made from Cape Royal. Excellent roads lead to many good view points along the Rim. Cape Royal, Vista Encantada, Two River Junction, Point Imperial, Bright Angel Point and Point Sublime offer fine shots of Canyon in late afternoon. Dramatic and colorful effects can be obtained by working just before sundown. A short walk from the lodge leads to Bright Angel Point and many fine Canyon views. Nature walk goes to this point in the morning, offering opportunity to get group of people in picture.

There are excellent opportunities for flower and wild-life pictures at Grand Canyon. Good shots of deer and white-tail Kaibab squirrel can be obtained in vicinity of cafeteria. Bait the squirrels into camera range with peanuts. Deer are shy but not wild. Walk up on them slowly.

ZION PARK—Many varied pictures can be made in this Park. All formations along the west canyon wall are best photographed in morning light and east wall gets afternoon light. Great White Throne through the Saddle is best around two o’clock. Temple of Sinawawa offers good afternoon shots. Narrows Trail leads from Temple to a dramatic view of Mountain of Mystery at the end of the trail. Sun lights this scene for only a few minutes each day in early afternoon.

Hike up trail to Angels Landing produces some excellent views looking into Canyon. Horse trails lead to both rims and offer wide variation of dramatic and interesting shots. Many beautiful flowers bloom in Zion.
As the quantity and variety of wearing apparel largely depends on your final destination—in case your trip to the National Parks is just a "stopover"—these suggestions are limited to articles you'll find convenient to have in the Parks.

And, remember, one advantage of a rail trip is that you need carry with you only a small bag containing whatever you may need on the train. The remainder of your luggage can be assigned to the baggage car, ready to pick up on your arrival.

On the train...

one small bag will carry dressing robe, slippers, and a few other articles of apparel you will need— together with handkerchiefs and toilet articles.

Don't forget...

those things you will want if hiking or riding. And, remember, informality is the keynote for wearing apparel in these western regions.

You may wish to buy...

one or more of the colorful articles of native workmanship, available at the Lodges in the Parks, as mementos of your trip.
