Fall in the foothills: An end to waiting

High in the Sierra, fall prompts living things to start the long wait beneath winter snow. In the foothills, autumn signals an end to waiting. Life here has waited all summer. Drought, heat, and the resulting food shortages provoked many species to go dormant. Many plants grew little or not at all. Some animals slept through the season – the summer version of hibernating.

With fall, however, reanimation begins. By late October, Pacific storms usually start to swing through the Sierra. They bestow the mantle of high-country snow that puts so much of life on hold. On the lower elevations, however, the storms confer growth-starting rain.

Along with cooler temperatures, rain inspires activity. Male tarantulas emerge from burrows to rove the landscape for mates. Under rocks, dormant California newts stir. As fall passes, these charming orange salamanders walk about searching for water in which to mate and lay eggs.

Under buckeye trees, which shed their leaves months ago during summer’s dry heat, their large brown seeds lie waiting. Once the rains begin, a strong root pushes through each hard husk. Buckeyes sprout by the millions.

As acorns ripen on foothill oaks, some animals begin caching them. Acorn woodpeckers work ceaselessly to store these nuts. Oak trees, fence posts, telephone poles, houses… any wooden surface may be drilled to hold acorns.

Scrub jays use strong beaks to dig holes and push acorns into the ground. Acorns not dug up again for food respond to the rains; by spring, oak seedlings throughout the foothills will owe their start to forgetful jays.

Fall’s acorn crop sustains other foothill species as well: bears, deer, band-tailed pigeons, ground squirrels, dusky-footed wood rats, and raccoons.

The first rains jump-start the grasses. Native bunchgrasses, the few remaining in the foothills, sprout from roots that survive summer droughts. Annual grasses sprout from plentiful seeds.

Evergreen plants, such as live oaks and chaparral shrubs, also respond to rain quickly. Breaking dormancy, they start to grow again.

These food sources, plus cooler temperatures, welcome back species that migrated away from the foothills at summer’s start. The species diversity that the foothills boast is especially evident in fall. Cedar waxwings, white-crowned sparrows, and others return from northern breeding grounds where cold and food shortages now rule.

Red-breasted nuthatches and golden-crowned kinglets fly down from conifer forests. Mountain quail walk down; these nine-inch-long birds migrate up to twenty miles on foot.

The exception to this burgeoning vitality? The reptiles. Although it rarely snows, the foothills do know frost, which drives snakes and lizards to their burrows.

Autumn also gives the foothills back to people for easier enjoyment. The midday sun has lost its harsh summer glare. Cool nights are not yet frosty. Occasional rains feel great in a land of drought. Open trails, plentiful wildlife, and less-crowded campgrounds beckon. Days are quiet, but life here is not in retreat — its wait is over.

RECOVERY & REINVESTMENT IN THE PARKS

This summer you may start to see the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act (ARRA) in action here. ARRA provides funds important, shovel-ready maintenance projects needed by the parks. Five ARRA projects here represent an investment of more than $11 million in these parks:

- The largest project entails replacing drinking-water tanks and improving fire suppression systems at headquarters. We are replacing a system from the 1930s and 1940s, and adding a generator so that water systems can function during power outages.
- Crystal Cave will get quieter, more energy-efficient lighting via a photovoltaic system rather than the old generator. This benefits cave tours as well as the cave itself.
- Crews will rebuild storm-caused damage on the Kennedy Pass Trail in western Kings Canyon Park, where a severe rainstorm last summer carved a large gully on trail switchbacks. They will also rebuild trail damage from the Tehuipite Fire and will clear fallen trees.
- A fifth project involves replacing mandatory compliance-monitors of the parks’ five wastewater treatment plants and 17 potable water systems.

FEES HELP YOUR PARKS!

Most of your entrance and camping fees stay here. The parks invest them in improving visitor facilities and protecting park resources. Fees have paid for repairing and upgrading roads, campgrounds, trails, picnic areas, and restrooms. They have improved visitor centers, updated exhibits, and modernized naturalist slide programs.

PARKS, FOREST, OR MONUMENT?

What is the difference between Sequoia and Kings Canyon National Parks, Sequoia National Forest, and Giant Sequoia National Monument?

Each is on federal land. Each exists to benefit society. Yet each has a different history and purpose. Together they provide a wide spectrum of uses.

National parks strive to keep landscapes unimpaired for future generations. They protect natural and historic features while offering light-on-the-land recreation. Park rangers work for the National Park Service, part of the Department of the Interior.

National forests, managed for “multiple use,” provide services and commodities that may include lumber, cattle grazing, minerals, as well as recreation with and without vehicles. Forest rangers work for the U.S. Forest Service, an agency in the Department of Agriculture.

Both agencies manage wilderness and other areas where they strive for maximum protection of natural resources. For example, part of Sequoia National Forest has been designated Giant Sequoia National Monument to emphasize protection of sequoias. Parks, forests, and monuments have some different rules in order to meet their goals. Read “Where can I...” on the next page to learn what activities are permitted where. Despite confusion over names, we get a wide range of benefits from these diverse areas.
Crystal Cave rocks!

No tickets are sold at the cave, only at Lodgepole and Foothills visitor centers. Buy them at least 1½ hours before the tour.

Crystal Cave Road is 15 miles (24 km) from the Sequoia Park entrance at Hwy 198, and 3 miles (5 km) south of the General Sherman Tree (see page 12 map). Maximum vehicle length is 22’ (6.7 m) on the road to the cave. Use parking-lot restrooms; the cave has none. Wear sturdy shoes and bring a jacket; the ½-mile trail (.8 km) to the cave is steep and it’s 50°F (10°C) inside.

No strollers, tripods, or baby backpacks. Not wheelchair accessible. Ask about group reservations and Wild Cave Tours! Tour led by the SNHA: 1-559-565-3759.

We often think of parks as outdoor museums. Caretaking a living ecosystem, however, is very different than protecting unchanging objects.

Both natural features and human facilities may be different each time you visit. Both are changing all the time. How we take care of those features and facilities may also affect your visit. You won’t notice the ozone monitor that works 24 hours a day, but you will see other activities such as revegetation, road work, painting, or trail maintenance. Some activities may unavoidably affect you, such as smoke from a prescribed fire, campsite closures due to revegetation, or bear management.

The park staff uses such actions as tools to maintain the landscape and protect its inhabitants and visitors. Your visit gives you but a snapshot of this process; Nature decides the timing of many of these actions. They all share one goal: preservation of these parks for us all, now and in the future.

Fire: A natural change

Years ago, we tried to banish fire from the landscape, believing it was destructive. In sequoia groves, that meant putting out lightning-caused fires that naturally start as frequently as every 3 to 20 years.

As time passed, we saw unanticipated consequences from this. Fire suppression blocked important ecological processes and caused many problems. Two problems were glaring:

First, sequoias were not reproducing. We learned that fires create the conditions that sequoias need to regenerate: They create a fertile ash seedbed and they open the forest canopy, allowing sunlight to reach the seedlings.

Second, dead wood and small, dense white fir trees increased tremendously. Natural fires used to burn these away frequently. Now, after fire’s long absence, these fuels feed bigger blazes that are more dangerous for people, property, plants, and wildlife. They burn hotter and are harder to put out.

For over 40 years at Sequoia and Kings Canyon, we have studied fire and its effects on the land. Now, to protect human safety and benefit giant sequoia trees, the National Park Service works with fire to gain the benefits it brings.

When and where it’s appropriate, we may ignite prescribed fires or allow lightning-caused fires to spread naturally, reducing fuels and improving resource conditions. Strong evidence shows that we are succeeding.

Why is this important? The National Park System exists to conserve resources “unimpaired for the enjoyment of future generations.” We once thought that aggressive fire suppression met this goal. A more complete understanding of fire tells us that excluding this important natural agent of change only hurts what we are trying to protect.

Unnatural change: Alien invaders!

Plants and animals evolve together in communities over time. Often they keep each other in check. When species get brought in from other places, the newcomers may multiply wildly since the competitors, predators and diseases they evolved with in their home communities are not here. They break links in the local web of life, badly disrupting species that depend on each other. Sometimes they completely replace native plants and animals.

Practice alien hygiene! Look for seeds and tiny animals attached to shoes, clothes, waders, equipment, tires, and pet fur. Wash mud from under cars and on tires before coming into the parks. The natives will thank you!

NEW ZEALAND MUD SNAIL

Two immediate threats:

- Star thistle is one of the most damaging non-natives in the state. Dense, thorny patches completely exclude native plants, and limit wildlife movements. Not yet established here! If you recognize it from your home or travels, make sure not to bring it in.

- New Zealand Mud Snails take over waterways that they invade, eating most of the food. Due to their biology, just one snail can start a huge population! They stick on gear; check boots & waders thoroughly for this tiny invader. Common just east of the park. Could easily be carried into the High Sierra.

WILDERNESS OVERNIGHTS

Each park trail has a daily entry quota for overnight trips, and between late May and late September a wilderness camping fee of $15 is required. The quota and fee are used to help protect your wilderness environment and experience. (They are not required for day hikes, or for overnights in the adjacent Monarch and Jennie Lakes wildernesses in US Forest Service. However, a free fire permit is required for any open flame on USFS land.)

A permit is required for each overnight trip. Reserved and first-come, first-served permits are issued the morning of your trip or after 1pm the day before at the park permit station/visitor center nearest your trailhead (see pages 8 & 9). If the quota for your preferred trail is full, you can choose another trail for that day or another day to start, if space is available. Permits are not issued after mid-afternoon as minimum distances must be reached before you camp. Requests to reserve a permit for a certain date are accepted beginning March 1 and at least 2 weeks before your trip’s start date.

Reserved permits must be picked up either the afternoon before or by 9am on the day of departure. If delayed, call the Wilderness Office or you may lose the reservation. Camping in the park’s “front-country” is permitted only in campgrounds. Camping or sleeping in vehicles is not allowed in parking lots, pull-outs, picnic areas, or trail-heads in the park.

HIGH SIERRA LODGE

- BEARPAW MEADOW CAMP (DNCPR) www.visitsequoia.com

  Reservations required:
  1-888-252-5757. Open mid-June to mid-September. This tent hotel is at 7800’ on the High Sierra Trail, an 11-mile hike from Giant Forest.
DROWNING: Two have drowned so far this year! It is the #1 cause of death in national parks. Be extra careful along rivers and streams; falling in is as dangerous as swimming. Once in a river, getting out can be nearly impossible. Rocks are smooth and slippery; swift, cold water rapidly saps your strength.

Park staff work to reduce risks, but your safety is in your own hands. Keep alert. Read warnings. Ask a ranger for advice.

DROWNING CAUSES:
- Underwater gases can cause drowning, even in shallow water.
- Cold water can reduce the body's ability to fight off drowning.
- Heart attacks can occur in water, even for those who are not known have heart problems.
- Hypothermia can cause shivering and confusion, making it difficult to swim.

TICKS: Common in foothill and Kings Canyon grasses; check yourself after a walk. Their bite is painless, but a percentage carry Lyme disease. Remove them carefully with tweezers; seek a doctor’s advice.

GIARDIA in lakes and streams can cause intestinal upset. Iodine and other chemicals may not be as reliable as heat in killing bacteria and Giardia, but can be effective if used properly. Boil drinking water at least 3 minutes.

HYPOTHERMIA: This life-threatening condition can occur year-round. Stay dry and snack often. If others don’t respond to the need for warmer clothes or are stumbling, forgetful, or extremely tired and drowsy, get warm sugary drinks into them immediately. Get them into dry clothing, sleeping bags, and shelter.

RATTLESNAKES are especially common in the foothills. Watch where you put your hands and feet! They are protected; do not kill them. Most bites result from teasing or handling. Very few people die, but tissue damage can be severe. If bitten, avoid panic; call a ranger or 911.

LIGHTNING: If you see dark clouds or lightning or hear thunder, get in a large building or a vehicle (not convertible), if possible. Do not stand under trees or in shallow caves. Avoid projecting above the surrounding landscape such as standing on a ridge, on Moro Rock, or in open meadows. Stay away from open water, wires, fences, and metal railings, which can carry lightning from a distance.

WEST NILE VIRUS is passed by bites from infected mosquitoes. Human illness is not common, but take steps to avoid mosquito bites.

CARBON MONOXIDE: This odorless, colorless gas can be fatal. Never burn charcoal in closed spaces, e.g. a tent, camper, or RV.

OZONE POLLUTION: See air-quality forecasts in visitor centers. Most ozone rises into the Sierra on warm winds. Levels of this colorless gas are highest May to October, peaking in late afternoon. The peaks sometimes reach “unhealthy” state/federal standards, and can affect respiratory systems. Ozone forms from gases in car and factory exhaust.

CELL PHONES rarely work well in these mountains; don’t rely on them. Note where pay telephones are available (see pages 8 & 9) and dial 9-1-1 in an emergency.

COUGARS roam throughout the parks, but chances of seeing one are very small. They rarely attack people and pets, but be aware.

Avoid hiking alone. Watch children closely; never let them run ahead. If you see a cougar, the goal is to convince it that you are not prey and may be dangerous to it:
- Don’t run. Cougars associate running with prey and give chase.
- Try to appear as large as possible. Don’t crouch or try to hide.
- Hold your ground or back away slowly while facing the lion.
- Pick up children.
- If the lion acts aggressively, wave your hands, shout, and throw stones or sticks at it.
- If attacked, fight back!
- Report any cougar sightings.

EXPLORE SAFELY: Avoid going alone. Tell someone your plans and return time. Keep your eyes and ears open for potential hazards above and around you. Slow down and share roads and trails with people and wildlife.

SAFE DRINKING WATER: The parks’ 13 water systems are tested to ensure that they meet state and federal standards. Annual Consumer信心 Reports are available at visitor centers.

OPERATION NO-GROW:
- Prevent illegal marijuana growing!
- Keep parks safe, natural, and free from illegal activities! Report suspicious activities: 1-888-NPS-CRIME.

PREVENT CAR FIRES, PROTECT PLANTS & SOILS, & LET OTHERS PASS Use paved turnouts only.

LENGTH ADVISORY: On 12 narrow miles from Potwisha Campground to Giant Forest Museum, advised maximum vehicle length is 22 feet (6.7 m). Maximum limit on the Generals Highway is 40 feet (12 m) for single vehicles, 50 feet (15 m) for multiple vehicles plus a towed unit. Alternative: Hwy 180 from Fresno is straighter, less steep, & wider. If towing a car, park in the foothills and explore by car.

EMERGENCY CAR REPAIRS: For a tow: Call 565-3341 then press zero (24 hours). Only in Sequoia Park, AAA is available to tow for out-of-gas, lock outs, jump starts, minor repairs: Call 565-4070 (24 hours).

BICYCLES: Ride only on roads (not trails), single file, with traffic. Wear light colors after dark. People under 18 must wear a helmet.
CONGRESS TRAIL: A fairly level 2-mile loop (3.2 km) through the heart of the grove. Begins at the Sherman Tree.

MORO ROCK/CRESCENT MEADOW
No drinking water is available along this 3-mile (5 km) dead-end road that begins at Giant Forest Museum. This road closes with snowfall. Highlights:

MORO ROCK: A granite dome with a steep 1/4-mile (4 km) staircase to the summit (300 feet/91 m elevation gain). A spectacular view of the Great Western Divide. Two miles (3.2 km) from the Museum.

CRESCENT MEADOW:
Towering sequoias around a fragile meadow. Stay on designated trails; use only fallen logs to walk into meadows. Several trails start here. Try the 1-mile (1.6 km) route to Tharp’s Log, a cabin in a fallen sequoia, or the High Sierra Trail (71 miles/114 km to Mt. Whitney, at 14,494 feet/4417 m, the highest peak in the lower 48 states).

AUTO LOG: Once you could drive a car onto this fallen giant sequoia, but rot in the log has put an end to the tradition.

NEARBY TRAILS
TOKOPAH FALLS: 1.7 miles (2.7 km) along the Marble Fork of the Kaweah River, ending below impressive granite cliffs and a waterfall. Be careful by the water! Start in Lodgepole Campground. For the 500 foot/152 m elevation gain, allow 2-1/2 to 3 hours.

LITTLE BALDY:
Ascending 700 vertical feet (213 m) in 1.7 miles (2.7 km) to a rocky summit with a grand view. Starts at Little Baldy Saddle, 9 miles (14 km) north of the General Sherman Tree on the Generals Highway. Allow 3 to 4 hours round trip.

MEXICAN OAK:
Two trails run to the world’s tallest tree:
• Main trail at Upper Sherman (with a large parking lot that closes with the first snow), runs 1/2 mile down to the tree and has some stairs. It is an uphill walk back to your car. Drive two miles (3.2 km) north of Giant Forest Museum (past the small Sherman Tree parking lot for those with disabled placards only) to Wolverton Road. Turn right, then follow signs.
• Wheelchair accessible trail at Lower Sherman has parking for those with disabled placards only. If you don’t have a placard but can’t make the walk down the main trail, ask at any visitor center for a temporary permit. When the upper lot closes for winter, anyone can park here.

THE Foothills
The Sierra’s lower elevations offer more different kinds of plants and animals than the conifer forests or highcountry. Watch for ticks and poison oak (see page 5 for safety tips).

HOSPITAL ROCK PICNIC AREA: Exhibits about the Western Mono people who once lived here and a very short trail built by the Civilian Conservation Corps leads to a waterfall. Careful; drownings often occur here! Always use bear boxes to store food from bears. Only keep food and scented items out when they’re in use and within arm’s reach.

MARBLE FALLS TRAIL: This trail climbs 3.9 miles (6 km) through chaparral to a lovely cascade. Park near site #14 at Potwisha Campground. Take the dirt road across the concrete ditch; the trail starts along the steep bank to the right.

PARADISE CREEK: At Buckeye Flat Campground, follow the footpath across from site #26 and the footbridge over the Middle Fork. The trail follows Paradise Creek, not the Middle Fork, for 1-1/2 miles (1.6 km) before growing faint.

SOUTH FORK
Park at South Fork Campground at the end of a 13-mile road leaving Highway 198 in Three Rivers.

LAZYBUG: Hike along the South Fork of the Kaweah in the upper foothills (moderately steep). From the campground, cross the river via footbridge. The trail ends 3 miles (5 km) up at one of the lowest-elevation sequoia groves.

GARFIELD: A relatively steep 5 mile (8.3 km) one-way climb to Garfield sequoia grove. Start on the south side of the river in the campground.

MINERAL KING
Open late May through October 31 (weather permitting), the winding, steep road to this valley ends at 7800’ (2380 m), the park’s highest road. From there, trails lead to the High Sierra and excellent — if hilly — hiking. Fall weather can be severe on the passes; ask for a weather report. No gasoline or electricity is available. Starting November 1, the road is gated at the park boundary (about 9 miles from Highway 198). See page 8 for more information.

GIANT FOREST
Review safety tips on page 5. Take warm clothes, a map, sunglasses, and water. Orient yourself before heading out and tell someone where you are going.

GIANT FOREST MUSEUM
The best place to learn about sequoias!

BIG TREES TRAIL
A level, 2/3-mile (1 km) loop with colorful trailside panels describing sequoia ecology. Start at Giant Forest Museum; parking at the trail is only for cars with placards. 1 hour round trip.

YOU MUST STORE ALL FOOD!

Bears quickly learn to get food from cars, picnic tables, and backpacks. They then become destructive and sometimes aggressive. They eat our food, not us, but people can get hurt. Too often these bears must be killed. This is why you may be fined if you do not store food properly.

• DRIVERS: Never leave any food or scented item in cars. Take infant seats out of cars; the smells they absorb may attract bears.

• CAMPERS: Store food day and night in the metal boxes provided (see page 11 for box sizes; avoid bringing coolers that won’t fit). Store ALL food, coolers, related items, and anything with an odor (even if it’s not food) — including unopened cans and bottles. Latch the box completely. Food not stored properly will be impounded. Where boxes are not provided, store food in the car trunk (seal food to reduce odor). If the car has no trunk, put everything on the floor, cover it well, and close the windows. Keep a clean campsite. Deposit garbage immediately in bear-proof containers or store it like food.

• PICKNICKERS: Guard your food at all times.

• LODGE GUESTS: Keep cabin doors closed any time you leave.

• BACKPACKERS: Store all food in a portable canister. Less than 3 pounds, it holds up to 5-day’s food for one and fits in a pack. Metal boxes in a few backcountry locations offer backup storage. Rent or buy a canister at park visitor centers or markets. Bears defeat most attempts to hang food in trees.

• EVERYONE: Don’t let bears approach you or your food. Wave your arms, make loud noises, and throw small rocks in their direction (avoid hitting the face or head). Keep a safe distance but be persistent. If a bear does get food, never try to take it back.
