The park after dark

Accustomed as we are to a brightly lit world, when we find ourselves in the dark—even in a familiar place—it can feel unsettling. But give your senses time to adjust and darkness offers a chance to “see” these parks in a different light.

Darkness somehow magnifies the sound of a mouse scuffling in dry leaves into something alarmingly large, and hoots, howls, and squeaks add to the strangeness of the night. After getting used to it, however, it feels comfortable to join in the diverse nocturnal life of the parks.

Ten species of owl here can rend the night with screeches or soothe it with gentle hoots. Larger and smaller animals move around after dark, too.

The quiet, non-descript yucca moth flies at night, carrying pollen from plant to plant. Without this insect, there would be no yuccas (the tall bloom in the “Foothills” woodcut above); this dark-adapted moth is its only pollinator. Because many nocturnal insects are plentiful here, so are bats—some 16 species of them! And so are bug-eating nocturnal birds, such as night-hawks and poorwills.

High above all this activity, uncountable stars shine down from the dark park skies. People thousands of years ago and around the world witnessed this same spectacle and saw their stories in shapes outlined by stars. More recently, night skies inspired van Gogh’s painting Starry Night, Van Morrison’s song Moondance, NASA’s Hubble Telescope, the explorations of astronauts, and so much more.

To experience the complete absence of light, tour Crystal Cave. Once deep inside the cavern, your guide extinguishes (briefly) all lights. Compare that total blackness to the dark of night above ground!

The whole world shares a connection to the night, yet truly dark skies are increasingly rare. Take advantage while you’re here! Gaze up into the universe, feel the wonder, and make yours a marvelous night.

Change: Natural & Unnatural

We often think of parks as outdoor museums. Caretaking a living ecosystem, however, is very different than protecting unchanging objects.

Both natural features and human facilities may be different each time you visit. Both are changing all the time. How we take care of those features and facilities may also affect your visit. You won’t notice the ozone monitor that works 24 hours a day, but you will see other activities such as revegetation, road work, painting, or trail maintenance. Some activities may unavoidably affect you, such as smoke from a prescribed fire, campsite closures due to revegetation, or bear management.

The park staff uses such actions as tools to maintain the landscape and protect its inhabitants and visitors. Your visit gives you but a snapshot of this process; Nature decides the timing of many of these actions. They all share one goal: preservation of these parks for us all, now and in the future.

Fire: A Natural Change

Years ago, we tried to banish fire from the landscape, believing it was destructive. In sequoia groves, that meant putting out lightning-caused fires that naturally start as often as every 5 to 15 years.

As time passed, we saw unanticipated consequences from this practice. Fire suppression blocked important natural processes, which led to big problems:

First, sequoias were not reproducing. We learned that fires create the conditions that sequoias need to regenerate: Fires leave behind a seedbed fertilized with ash and they open the forest canopy, which allows sunlight to reach the seedlings.

Second, the amount of dead wood and dense growth of small white-fir trees increased tremendously. In the past, frequent natural fires burned these away. Now, after fire’s long absence, these serve as fuels, feeding bigger, hotter blazes that are more dangerous for people, plants, and wildlife.

For over 40 years at these parks, we have studied fire and its effects on the land. To protect human safety and benefit giant sequoia trees, we now work with fire to restore the benefits it brings.

We still put out fires that threaten life and property but when and where it’s appropriate, we ignite prescribed fires or allow lightning fires to spread naturally, reducing fuels and improving resource conditions. Strong evidence shows we are succeeding.

Why is this important? The national parks exist to conserve resources “unimpaired for the enjoyment of future generations.” We once thought that aggressive fire suppression met this goal. A more complete understanding of fire tells us that excluding this important natural agent of change only hurts what we are trying to protect.

Note: The effects of the 2015 Rough Fire continue to influence this area. See page 7 for more.

Unnatural Change: Alien Invaders

Plants and animals evolve together in communities over time. Often, they keep each other in check.

When species get brought in from other places, the newcomers may multiply wildly. This is because the competitors, predators, and diseases that keep them in check in their home communities are not here. This imbalance breaks links in the local web of life, badly disrupting native species that depend on each other. Sometimes the non-native aliens completely replace local plants and animals.

Practice alien hygiene! Look for seeds and tiny animals attached to shoes, clothes, waders, equipment, tires, and pet fur. Wash mud from under cars and on tires before coming into the parks.

The natives will thank you!

Imminent Alien Threats!

Star thistle is one of the most damaging non-natives in the state. Dense, thorny growth completely excludes native plants and limits wildlife movements. It is not yet established in these parks, but it is close! If you recognize its yellow flower and thorny spines from your home or travels, make sure not to bring it here. If you see it here, take photos, note the location, and show them to a ranger.

New Zealand mud snails completely take over and change waterways that they invade. Due to their biology, just one snail can start a huge population! These tiny light-brown animals—less than 1/8-inch long—stick to your gear. Check boots, waders, and boats thoroughly for this little invader. Common just east of the parks, they could easily be carried into the High Sierra.

For more information on fire management, visit http://go.nps.gov/sekifire. To report a wildfire: 559-565-3195.
Check regulations at each campground; fire restrictions are in place. Rules vary between the Park and National Forest (see page 9). Each standard campsite has a table and fire ring with grill. No hook-ups.

You must store food correctly all year due to black bears. The park supplies bear boxes; most are 47” long x 33” deep x 28” high. See page 11.

Summer reservations: See on chart below for reservable campsites in the parks (NPS) and National Forest (USFS). Reserve up to 6 months ahead: recreation.gov or 1-877-444-6777 (7am-9pm PST, 3/1-10/31). Customer service: 888-448-1474.

Group Sites & Maximum Group Sizes

- Up to 6 people (standard): 1 vehicle & 6 people per site (check locally for variation in these limits & parking sites for extra vehicles).

Fire Restrictions, Campfires, & Firewood

- Restrictions in place in park & forest: page 12.
- Gather only dead & down wood; do not cut limbs off trees. Please don’t transport firewood. It can carry insects/diseases that threaten living trees. Find/buy wood close to where you will use it. Please burn any wood you brought in.
- Fires must be out cold before you leave.
- On Forest Service (USFS) land: Fire restrictions are in place. Free fire permits are required where fire is permitted. Ask at Hume Lake Office, Kings Canyon Visitor Center (Grant Grove), a USFS ranger, or download at fs.usda.gov/sequoia or www.preventwildfireCA.org.

Roadside/Dispersed Camping?
Not permitted in the park; camp only in designated sites in campgrounds. In National Forest & Monument (USFS): See “Dispersed Camping” at the bottom of the chart to the right.

Quiet & Generator Hours
Music and noise should be audible in your site only. Quiet hours 10pm-6am (no generators). At Lodgepole & Dorst, generator use 8-11am & 5-8pm only.

- Crescent Meadow - Sequoias surround this fragile wetland. Stay on designated trails; use fallen logs to walk into meadows. Several trails start here, such as the 1-mile (1.6 km) route to Tharp’s Log, a cabin in a fallen sequoia; and the High Sierra Trail (60 miles/97 km) to Mt. Whitney (14,500'/4419 m), highest in the lower 48 states. Shuttle stop.

Exploring Kings Canyon National Park & nearby forest lands

In 2015, the large Rough Fire burned in this area. Stay on trails. Look and listen for danger: The purplish puddle-dog flowers growing in burned areas contain toxins; do not touch! Burned stumps and ground can be unstable; dead trees can fall any time. Obey closed-area signs.

Review safety advice (page 10), and basic park rules (page 9). Be careful near rivers and with fire. Always store food properly before leaving your car or campsite. Carry a map and water.

Grant Grove

Grant Tree Trail
General Grant, the world’s second largest tree and a national shrine, grows along this 1/3-mile (1.5 km) paved trail. Trail guides are sold at visitor centers & the trailhead. One mile/1.6km from the visitor center; go north on Hwy 180 then follow signs left.

North Grove Loop
This 1½-mile (2.4 km) trail offers a close look at Big Trees and a quiet forest walk. A great place to see effects from the Rough Fire. Start at Grant Tree overflow-parking.

Panoramic Point Road
A narrow road to a trail to a beautiful Sierran vista. Trailers & RVs prohibited. Go east through the visitor-center parking lot & follow signs. The paved, accessible trail climbs gently to an overlook. Park Ridge Trail (4 miles/6.4 km round-trip) begins here.

Redwood Mountain Sequoia Grove
Not plowed; opens with snowmelt. Rutted dirt road to one of the world’s largest Big Tree groves. Research here revealed the positive link between sequoias and fire. Across Generals Hwy from Quail Flat/Hume Lake junction; 7 miles south of Grant Grove. Turn right (west) at Redwood Saddle; 2 miles to parking lot. Loop trails up to 10 miles long.

Kings Canyon & Cedar Grove
Here in the canyon of the South Fork of the Kings River, many drought-weakened trees succumbed to insects. Be very aware of the potential for falling trees and branches. Be careful with fire! Fire restrictions are in place; see page 12.

Canyon View
The “U” shape of this canyon, apparent from this viewpoint, reveals its glacial history. One mile (1.6 km) east of Cedar Grove Village on Hwy 180.

Knapp’s Cabin
During the Roaring ’20s, a California businessman stored gear for lavish fishing trips in this small cabin. East of the village 2 miles on Hwy 180.

Roaring River Falls
A short, shady walk to a powerful waterfall rushing through a granite chute. This paved trail has been made more accessible. East of the Village 3 miles.

Zumwalt Meadow
This 1.5-mile (2.4 km) loop passes high granite walls, lush meadows, and the Kings River. Parking is 4½ miles east of Cedar Grove Village. Buy a trail guide at the visitor center. The start of the trail is accessible, but work to repair flood damage, starting in October, will limit accessibility until next summer.

Mist Falls
One of the park’s largest waterfalls. Don’t get close to the edge! Allow 4-5 hours; 9 miles (14.4 km) round trip from Road's End. Moderately strenuous; 800’ elevation gain (mostly in the last 2 miles).

Hotel Creek Trail to Cedar Grove Overlook

You are Responsible for Your Safety

Natural areas present hazards. Hot and cold temperatures, slippery or uneven ground, wild animals, and changing weather all pose dangers. Rocks roll, trees topple, and limbs drop without warning. People create other hazards via campfires, traffic, and poor decisions. GPS directions may mislead you here.

Water is the main cause of death here. Many drowning victims just walking or climbing near rivers unexpectedly fell in.

The National Park Service works to reduce risks, but your safety is in your own hands. Keep alert. Read warnings and ask a ranger for advice.

DROWNING
The #1 cause of death in national parks! Be careful around water; falling in is as dangerous as swimming. Once in a river, getting out can be nearly impossible: Rocks are smooth and slippery; swift, cold water rapidly saps your strength. Currents are always stronger than they appear, even during low water. Ask at visitor centers about river conditions.

PLAGUE, HANTAVIRUS & WEST NILE
Do not feed or touch ANY wild animals. Avoid areas of rodent activity, as fleas on rodents can carry plague and deer mice feces can carry hantavirus. West Nile virus is passed by bites from infected mosquitoes. Human illness is not common, but take steps to avoid mosquito bites.

TICKS are common in foothill and Kings Canyon grasses; check yourself for these little animals after a walk. Their bite is painless, but some carry Lyme disease. Remove them carefully with tweezers and seek a doctor’s advice.

GIARDIA
This protozoan in lakes and streams causes intestinal upset. Iodine and other chemicals may not be as reliable as heat in killing bacteria and Giardia, tinal upset. Iodine and other chemicals may not be effective if used properly. Boil drinking water from waterways for at least 3 minutes.

HYPOTHERMIA
This life-threatening condition can occur year-round. Stay dry; snack often. If others don’t react to the need for warmer clothes or are stumbling, forgetful, or extremely tired and drowsy, get warm sugary drinks into them immediately. Get them into dry clothes, sleeping bags, and shelter. Keep an eye on children who are wet or cold.

RATTLESNAKES
Found in much of these parks, especially common in the foothills, in the Kings Canyon, and near water. It has a triangular head, unlike the harmless gopher snake. Watch where you put your hands and feet! Do not harass or kill snakes; this is when most bites occur. Bites are rarely lethal, but tissue damage can be severe. If bitten, avoid panic and call 911.

LIGHTNING
See dark clouds or lightning? Hear thunder? Get inside a large building or a vehicle (not convertible), if possible. Do not stand under trees or in shallow caves. Avoid projecting above your surroundings, such as standing on a ridge, on Moro Rock, or in open meadows. Stay away from open water, wire fences, and metal railings, which can carry lightning from a distance.

POISONOUS PLANTS
Poison oak is a common shrub growing up to 5000 feet elevation. Shiny green leaves in groups of three in spring, red leaves and whitish berries in late summer and fall; bare in winter. If you touch any part of it, wash skin and clothes right away. Don’t touch poodle-dog bush (Turricula), the plant with light-purple flowers growing in burned areas along Hwy 180 to Cedar Grove. Its tiny sticky hairs cause blisters and pain.

CARBON MONOXIDE
This odorless, colorless gas can be fatal. Never burn charcoal in closed spaces such as a tent or RV.

OZONE POLLUTION
See air-quality forecasts in visitor centers. Most ozone rises into the Sierra Nevada on warm winds. Levels of this colorless gas are highest from May to October, peeking in late afternoon. The peaks sometimes reach “unhealthy” state/federal standards, and can affect respiratory systems. Ozone forms from gases in car and factory exhaust.
Bear Habitat: Proper food storage is the law!

Bears can grab unattended food or easily break into cars that have food in them. They become bold and sometimes aggressive in attempts to get more. Too often these bears must be killed.

This is why you may be fined if you do not store food properly. Follow the rules below to reduce (but not eliminate) the risk of a bear break-in.

Drivers
Never leave any food or scented item in cars where food-storage boxes are provided.

Picnickers
Never move away from coolers and tables when food is out. Stay within arm’s length of food.

Lodge Guests
Remove food from your vehicles.

Campers
Store food day and night in the metal boxes provided (avoid bringing coolers that won’t fit; most boxes are 47” long x 33” deep x 28” high. Store ALL food, coolers, related items, and anything with an odor (even non-food) — including openended cans and bottles. Latch the box completely. Food not stored properly will be impounded. Where boxes are not provided, seal food to reduce odors, cover it well, and close the windows. Keep a clean campsite. Deposit garbage immediately in bear-proof containers or store it like food. Take baby seats out of cars; the smells they absorb may attract bears.

Backpackers
Hanging food often fails! Store all food in a portable container. Less than 3 pounds, it holds up to 5-day’s food for one and fits in a pack. Metal boxes in a few wilderness locations offer backup storage. Rent/buy a container at visitor centers or markets.

Everyone
Don’t let bears approach you or your food, picnic area, or campsite. Wave your arms, make loud noises, and throw small rocks toward them (avoid hitting the face or head). Keep a safe distance but be persistent. Easily abandoning your food teaches a bear that it is acceptable to approach humans; it may hurt someone in the future. If a bear does get food, however, never try to take it back.

Entrance fees help the Parks!

Your fees get invested here on projects related to your park experience: roads, exhibits, and more. Save time at the entrance by paying for your pass in advance at www.yourpassnow.com/parkpass and show it as you go in. Ask about passes for 4th graders. Note: No passes are valid at Crystal Cave.

In the high Sierra, snow remains on all or part of many trails. It will take some time before the condition of all bridges, trails, and other features are known. Check www.nps.gov/seki for updates.

Thank you for following minimum-impact, no-trace guidelines to protect the wilderness!

Wild places include hazards, and help may not be available. Be prepared to be fully self-reliant. Many trees have died from drought, which may increase hazards from falling trees and branches; be careful where you linger or camp. See Be Safe, page 10.

Permits are required for all overnight trips, and they are limited during the summer quota period (May 26 through September 23, 2017). The permit fee during that time is $10 plus $5/person. Permits can be reserved by email or U.S. mail beginning March 1. Outside of the quota period, permits are free and can be self-issued at the permit station or visitor center closest to your trailhead (see page 2).

Jennie Lakes & Monarch wildernesses in the National Forest (USFS): Permits are not required but please complete a registration card at Jennie Lakes trailheads; information is used to manage the wilderness effectively. USFS requires a free fire permit for any open flame; downloadable from www.fs.usda.gov/sequoia.

Camping in the park’s “frontcountry” is permitted only in campgrounds. Camping or sleeping in vehicles is not allowed in parking lots, pullouts, picnic areas, or trailheads in the park.
