Yosemite Valley
Yosemite Valley, open all year, is world-famous for its impressive waterfalls, cliffs, and unusual rock formations. You can get there via Highway 41/Wawona Road from Fresno, Highway 140/El Portal Road from Merced, Highway 120 west/Big Oak Flat Road from Manteca, and (during summer) via the Tioga Road/Highway 120 east from Lee Vining. Yosemite Valley is home to massive cliff faces like El Capitan and Half Dome, thunderous waterfalls, including the tallest in North America, and attractive meadows. While Yosemite Falls slows to a trickle by August, a half-day hike will bring you to impressive Vernal and Nevada Falls. Walk to Mirror Lake, where you will see reflections of Half Dome. Gaze up at El Capitan, a massive granite monolith that stands 3,593 feet from base to summit. Whether you explore the valley by foot, bike, car, on horseback, raft, or tour, you will behold scenery that will leave you breathless and eager to see what’s around the next corner.
Glacier Point

Glacier Point provides a commanding view overlooking Yosemite Valley, Half Dome, and Yosemite’s high country. It is located 30 miles (one-hour drive) from both, Yosemite Valley and Wawona, taking the Wawona Road (Highway 41), to Chinquapin, then turning onto Glacier Point Road. At Glacier Point, a short, paved, and wheelchair-accessible trail takes you to an exhilarating view, as you stand 3,214 feet above Yosemite Valley. The road stays open as weather permits, however, overnight parking along it ends October 15. When the road is snow-covered and conditions permit, a system of cross-country ski tracks are maintained on it.

Wawona and Mariposa Grove

The Mariposa Grove of Giant Sequoias is located 36 miles (1 ¼ hours) south of Yosemite Valley via the Wawona Road (Highway 41), two miles from the park’s South Entrance. Starting July 6, 2015, the Mariposa Grove of Giant Sequoias will close for restoration, see page 7 for details. The nearby Pioneer Yosemite History Center in Wawona is a collection of historic buildings associated with people and events that shaped the national park idea in Yosemite. Enjoy a horse-drawn stage ride, or hike one of the scenic trails. For more information, visit the Wawona Visitor Center at Hill’s Studio, adjacent to the historic Wawona Hotel. This was once a painting studio for the 19th-century artist Thomas Hill.

Crane Flat and Tuolumne Grove

Crane Flat is located 16 miles from Yosemite Valley at the junction of the Big Oak Flat and Tioga Roads. A number of hikes through pleasant meadows are available—when snow covers the ground these turn into delightful ski and snowshoe tracks. To see giant sequoias, park at the Tuolumne Grove parking area located on the Tioga Road, and walk one steep mile down to the Tuolumne Grove of Giant Sequoias. Or, park at Merced Grove trailhead and walk two steep miles down to this small grove. These groves north of Yosemite Valley are smaller than the more-famous Mariposa Grove, but are quieter and off limits to vehicles. Remember that the walk down is easier than the walk back up.

Tuolumne Meadows and Tioga Road

The Tioga Road offers a 39-mile scenic drive past forests, meadows, lakes, and granite domes. The road closes after the first big snowfall, and overnight parking ends on October 15. The road’s elevation ranges from 6,200 to nearly 10,000 feet. Tuolumne Meadows embodies the high-country of the Sierra Nevada. The Wild and Scenic Tuolumne River winds through broad sub-alpine meadows surrounded by granite domes and peaks. It is the jumping off place for countless hikes, whether you venture out for a day or a week. In winter, Tuolumne Meadows is often reached by skiers via the Snow Creek Trail from the Mirror Lake trailhead, a short distance east of Yosemite Valley.

Hetch Hetchy

Hetch Hetchy Reservoir, a source of drinking water and hydroelectric power for the City of San Francisco, is home to spectacular scenery and the starting point for many wilderness trails. The area’s low elevation makes it a good place to hike in autumn and winter. The Hetch Hetchy Reservoir is located 40 miles (1 hour 15 minutes) from Yosemite Valley via the Big Oak Flat Road (Highway 120W) and the Evergreen Road. The Hetch Hetchy Road is open from 8am to 7pm through October 31, then 8am to 5pm through March 31. Vehicles and/or trailers over 25 feet long, and RVs and other vehicles over 8 feet wide are not permitted on the narrow, winding Hetch Hetchy Road.

DID YOU KNOW?

- Some of Yosemite’s most iconic features have original Ahwahneechee names - Yosemite Valley is also known as Ahwahnee, Bridalveil Fall as Pohono and El Capitan as Tutokanula.
- The largest Indian village in Yosemite Valley was located behind the Yosemite Museum. Currently, there is a reconstructed Indian Village there, which is still actively used by local American Indian communities for ceremonies and special gatherings.
- To this day, the descendants of Yosemite’s native people still use willow, red bud, tule, bracken fern and other native materials gathered in Yosemite to make traditional baskets for storage, food gathering, or to cook in and serve with.

The trail drops down 1.5 miles, making this a moderately strenuous hike on the uphill portion. There is no potable water in the area so be sure to bring drinking water with you. The grove is located 3½ miles north of Crater Flat and 4½ miles south of the Big Oak Flat Road (Highway 120 West). The trail is marked by a sign and a post labeled B-10.

Tuolumne Grove

The trailhead for this grove of approximately 25 sequoias is near the intersection of the Big Oak Flat and Tioga roads at Crane Flat. The moderately strenuous trail leads downhill from the parking area into the grove and drops 500 feet (150 meters) in one mile. Within the Tuolumne Grove there is an easy, half-mile, self-guided nature trail. There is no potable water in the area so be sure to bring drinking water with you.

SUNLIGHT
Autumn may create outstanding outdoor opportunities but can also pose a few unique challenges. With days becoming noticeably shorter, it is important to PLAN your outdoor activities accordingly. Carry a flashlight and/or headlamp, in case you find yourself on the trail longer than expected.

WEATHER
Comfortable daytime temperatures can drop with little warning. Unexpected storms can brew quickly, bringing wind, rain or even snow. PREPARE for potential weather changes. To brew quickly, bringing wind, rain or even snow, with little warning. Unexpected storms can drop with little warning. Comfortable daytime temperatures can brew quickly, bringing wind, rain or even snow. PREPARE for potential weather changes.

KEEP FOOD AND TRASH STORED
Wildlife can be quite active during the autumn season. This time of year is Yosemite wildlife’s final opportunity to prepare for the long winter ahead. While this makes for good wildlife viewing, it also creates some road hazards. Pest vehicle-deer collisions occur in the autumn. Yosemite experiences ice in the autumn. Moisture from rain or melting snow can freeze on the pavement even before the sun sets. When temperatures warm and the roadways are dry, spots of ice can remain in shaded areas throughout the day. Please give 100% of your attention to your driving and find a safe place to pull over to enjoy the scenery or wildlife. Drive within the designated speed limits and be prepared to reduce speed if conditions warrant.

PLAQUE
Plague is an infectious bacterial disease that is carried by squirrels, chipmunks and other wild rodents and their fleas. When an infected rodent becomes sick and dies, its fleas can carry the infection to other warm-blooded animals including humans. To protect yourself from plague, never feed wildlife, avoid dropping food scraps that attract rodents when eating outside, avoid pitching a tent near or disturbing rodent burrows, wear insect repellent with DEET, and tell a park ranger immediately if you see a dead animal.

AVOID CONTACT WITH WILDLIFE AND KEEP FOOD AND TRASH STORED PROPERLY
Wild animals in Yosemite can transmit numerous diseases, including plague, rabies, and hantavirus. Keeping your distance and your food from wildlife not only protects them, it also protects you from injury and exposure to diseases. If you encounter a mammal, particularly a raccoon, skunk, fox, coyote, or bat, that is behaving erratically, don’t touch the animal. Instead, report the sick animal to a park employee. Raccoon, skunk, fox, coyote, or bat, that is behaving erratically, don’t touch the animal. Instead, report the sick animal to a park employee.

WILDERNESS PERMIT DETAILS
Wilderness permits are required year round for all overnight trips into the Yosemite Wilderness. Permits are issued and bear canisters are available for rent at the Yosemite Valley Meadow Wilderness Center, the Tioga Pass Information Center, the Hill’s Studio in Wawona, and the Hetch Hetchy Entrance Station during hours of operation. Please see wilderness permit information on pages 6 and 7 for more details. For summer trips, reservations are taken from 26 weeks to two days in advance of the start of your trip. A processing fee of $5 per permit plus $5 per person is charged to each confirmed reservation. Sixty percent of the trailhead quota is available in advance. Forty percent of the trailhead quota is available on a first come, first served basis and are available, same-day, at opening and the day before starting at 11am. Check the park’s website at www.nps.gov/yose/planyourvisit/wildpermits.htm or call 209/372-0740, for additional information.

HALF DOME PERMIT INFORMATION
Permits to hike to the top of Half Dome are required seven days a week when the cables are up, from May 22 through October 12, 2015, conditions permitting. A daily total of 225 pre-season permit slots have already been issued for 2015. In addition, approximately 50 permits will be released by daily lottery throughout the season based on estimated under-use and cancellation rates. Application for daily lottery will be accepted 2 days prior to the desired hiking date between midnight and 1pm. To apply, visit Recreation. gov or call 877/444-7477. A non-refundable application fee applies to all submissions and a use fee applies to winning applicants. Finally, a daily quota of 70 Half Dome permits will be available to overnight users with an appropriate wilderness permit (use fee applies). These permits may be acquired through early reservations (50 per day) or day before walk-up (25 per day). Rock climbers who reach the top of Half Dome without entering the subdome area may descend on the Half Dome Trail without a permit. More information is available at: http://www.nps.gov/yose/planyourvisit/permits.htm. For backpackers more information is available at: http://www.nps.gov/yose/planyourvisit/ hdpermits.htm.

HANTAVIRUS INFORMATION
Mice are an important part of the ecosystem, but can carry diseases harmful to humans. Hantavirus Pulmonary Syndrome (HPS) is a rare but serious disease spread to humans via the droppings, urine, or saliva of infected rodents. Not all rodents are infected with hantavirus, but infected rodents have been found throughout the US. You may come into close proximity to rodents during your visit, so it is important you take steps to protect yourself from HPS. HPS risk is greater inside of buildings or other enclosures where deer mice are present. If staying in guest lodging, please tell the housekeeping staff if you see evidence of mice in your accommodations. Do not clean up the area yourself. Keep doors to guest lodging shut and do not bring food into your cabin that is not in a sealed container. If you are camping, always pack out litter, do not pitch tents near rodent burrows or droppings. HPS often begins with flu-like symptoms such as aches, fever, and chills one to seven weeks after exposure, progressing to cough and difficulty in breathing. Seek medical attention immediately if you experience these symptoms and mention any potential rodent exposures to your physician. For more information on hantavirus and other environmental safety hazards visit: {http://www.nps.gov/yose/planyourvisit/safety.htm}.
Keep Yosemite’s Black Bears Wild and Alive, while protecting yourself and your property.

If you see a bear, scare it away or keep your distance
You may not see a bear during your visit because they naturally avoid people. However, if you see one in a developed area (like a campground or parking lot), act immediately to scare it away. Make noise and yell as loud as possible. If there is more than one person, stand together to present a more intimidating figure, but do not surround the bear. If you see a bear anywhere else, consider yourself lucky—but keep your distance (at least 50 yards, or about the distance made by four shuttle busses parked end to end). If you get too close, you will be helping the bear become used to being around people. Bears that become comfortable around humans lose their natural fear of us and may become too aggressive. When that happens, they sometimes have to be killed.

Drive the speed limit
The most common human-related cause of death for a black bear in Yosemite is being hit by a car. Slow down! Driving too fast is almost always the cause of these accidental deaths. Please report bear sightings by calling 209/372-0322.

How to Store Food
"Food" includes any item with a scent, regardless of packaging. This may include items that you do not consider food, such as canned goods, bottles, drinks, soap, cosmetics, toiletries, trash, ice chests (even when empty), and unwashed items used for preparing or eating meals.

Store Your Food Properly
The typical daily diet of most bears may consist of 4,000 to 20,000 calories worth of grasses, berries, acorns, and grubs. It’s a lot easier for a bear to eat the thousands of calories of food in an ice chest than it is to spend all day nibbling at grasses. Their incredible sense of smell allows them to detect things we can’t, which helps them find food—a black bear can smell a dead deer three miles away. To top it off, bears have excellent vision and can see in color, so they recognize ice chests, grocery bags, and other food containers as potential food sources.

Method of Preventing Bears From Getting Human Food
Bear resistant food containers are required throughout the park. In Yosemite and the southern Sierra, bear canisters are the only effective and proven method of preventing bears from getting human food. Bears can smell food, even if it’s sealed in the trunk or glove compartment, and they recognize bose and bugs as potential food sources. They can easily and quickly break into all kinds of vehicles!

Julia Parker: A 68-Year Legacy
by Park Ranger Sheree Peshlakai

I t is just as important to protect Yosemite’s stories and past cultures as it is to protect Yosemite’s world-renowned scenic vistas and landscapes. For 68 years, Julia Parker has served as an Indian cultural demonstrator, protecting and preserving Yosemite’s Indian artifacts, stories and traditional culture, as well as generously sharing her skills and knowledge with others. Yosemite visitors from across the nation and around the world who have had the privilege to wander into the Indian Cultural Museum and interact with Julia, have seen and heard Yosemite’s past brought to life. She communicated Yosemite’s cultural history, conveying it like a treasure, that should never be forgotten. This year we celebrate Yosemite’s 125th anniversary, as well as Julia’s retirement at age 86.

Telling stories as intricate as the designs woven into her baskets, Julia kept Yosemite visitors, young and old, mesmerized by her audience’s imagination, linking the park’s connection from past to present. She brought images of Yosemite’s beautiful landscape from over 300 years ago to life, back when Yosemite’s native people may have been pounding acorns in rock mortars beneath Chó’-lok (Yosemite Falls), or gathering materials for baskets in the meadows below Tat Tokkáta (El Capitan) and Tiseyak (Half Dome).

At times, Julia had demonstrated how to cook acorn behind the museum in the reconstructed Indian Village. On cool, crisp autumn days she would gather bags of acorns, giving thanks while harvesting from the earth. After the acorns were gathered she would lay them in the sun to dry, to prepare them for a year of storage. Afterwards, the dried acorns were cracked and shelled, then winnowed and pounded to a meal, which was sifted and leached before cooking. The cooking basket was soaked in water for several hours to ensure it was water tight.

She would heat fist-sized basalt or soapstone rocks in a fire until they were glowing, then rinse the ash off each hot rock before lowering it into the acorn and water mixture. As the Indians did thousands of years ago, she would then move the hot rock around in the acorn mixture until it cooled then replace it with another hot rock. After several rocks, the mixture had boiled, bubbled and splattered from the heat, and became acorn mush, a traditional staple of Yosemite’s native people. Julia is Kashia Pomo from the northern California coast. She started work at Yosemite in 1947 and married Ralph Parker, a Mono Lake Paiute and Miwuk from Yosemite. She credits her husband’s grandmother, Lucy Telles – a prominent basket maker, and other elders in her husband’s family for teaching her how to cook acorn, how to appreciate the old ways and carry them on, and for giving her a desire to learn basketry. Julia knew that the best way to learn was to quietly sit, listen and watch as her elders worked. Julia was amazed to be living in Yosemite Valley.

“When I first came to Yosemite, we stayed with my husband’s grandma in the Indian village. I got up early in the morning and would do a little circle, looking to the north, south, east, and west, and I would be amazed, thinking of where I was. I was orphaned at a young age. I never had a grandmother or a mother. Yosemite Valley was like a mother to me, taking care of me and keeping all the bad things away from me. I still feel like that when I go there,” Julia said.

On her first day of work Julia probably didn’t know that while she shared Yosemite’s legacy she would create one of her own. Considered one of Yosemite’s cultural ambassadors, Julia has triggered imaginations, brought smiles, left lasting impressions and connected with so many people, that returning visitors to Yosemite often encounter Julia once again.

Over time, Julia’s patience and perseverance paid off in her basket weaving and she is now a world-renowned basket weaver. She was honored to present one of her baskets to Queen Elizabeth II and some of her work is displayed in the Smithsonian Institution in Washington, D.C.

“When I was asked to make a basket for Queen Elizabeth, it took me about one year. I thought, what kind of basket do I make for a queen? Not a cooking basket because she doesn’t cook, not a gathering basket because she doesn’t gather, and not a baby basket because she’s a grandmother, like me. I thought, I’ll make her a gift basket. It was an oblong gift basket with red bud trim,” Julia said.

Through her success, Julia has remembered the lessons that her elders taught her and kept in tune with her Indian heritage, which she preserved by sharing it. She was not limited to doing this in Yosemite, but also taught basket weaving seminars and workshops, and gave demonstrations at elementary schools, colleges and museums, and co-wrote a book entitled It Will Live Forever: Traditional Yosemite Indian Acorn Preparation.

Although retired, she remains busy teaching basketry to those who want to learn and training her daughter and granddaughter to carry on the traditional art form.

“Older generations will look at baskets different. I look at baskets like the old people in a different time, just like my daughter is living in a different time and looks at a basket different and my granddaughter,” Julia said. “There were really good women basket makers in Yosemite and I hope my granddaughter will write about them, her relatives, hopefully some day!”

On her first day of work Julia probably didn’t know that while she shared Yosemite’s legacy she would create one of her own. Considered one of Yosemite’s cultural ambassadors, Julia has triggered imaginations, brought smiles, left lasting impressions and connected with so many people, that returning visitors to Yosemite often encounter Julia once again.

Julia has dedicated much of her life to keeping Yosemite’s long-established and time-honored customs and traditions alive so that they are never forgotten. It is certain that she and her work will be missed, however, for those who are seeing Yosemite for the first time and feel inspired, she leaves this advice: “Take time to stop, look, and listen. We take from the earth with a please and give back to the earth with a thank you.”

Yosemite Volunteers: Serving Yosemite
Over 10,400 volunteers donated more than 163,000 hours of service to Yosemite last year, restoring native habitat, working in visitor centers, serving as camp hosts, studying wildlife, cleaning up litter and more. Would you like to serve? We have group and individual volunteer opportunities, both short term and long term. Learn more at: www.nps.gov/yose/getinvolved/volunteer.htm or call the volunteer office at 209/379-1850.
