LINCOLN THE RAIL-SPLITTER

Lincoln spent almost 30 years of his life in central Illinois.

Looking for Lincoln through central Illinois

The state-of-the-art Abraham Lincoln Presidential Library and Museum provides visitors with an emotional, evocative and immersive journey through Lincoln's life. But the Museum is just the beginning of a much larger Lincoln journey which includes the new Looking for Lincoln Story Trail. The Looking for Lincoln Heritage Coalition can take you on that astonishing journey through the landscape and the countless places where Lincoln traveled and lived. With unparalleled authenticity, the Lincoln sites in central Illinois make up the experience that we call "Looking for Lincoln."

BEARDSTOWN

(45 miles from Springfield)

Beardstown, first settled in 1819, is one of the oldest towns in Illinois. Lincoln argued many cases in the Beardstown Courthouse, including his best known, “The Almanac Trial.” Lincoln was also installed here as a captain of the Sangamon County Company during the Black Hawk War. During the Senate race of 1858 he spoke to the people of Beardstown on the city square. Stephen A. Douglas had spoken prior to Lincoln’s speech.

Beardstown is a bustling river town, about an hour’s drive from Springfield. The community is nationally known as the home of the famous “Beardstown Ladies,” who have authored best-selling books on commonsense investing.

LINCOLN COURTHOUSE

101 West Third Street — Downtown Square

Built in 1844, this Cass County courthouse is where Abraham Lincoln used an almanac to win acquittal for “Duff” Armstrong in the celebrated “Almanac Trial.” Lincoln often appeared in the second floor courtroom, which still is used by the Circuit Court. Visitors will see the courtroom, an original 1857 almanac similar to the one

Lincoln used, a famous Lincoln photo taken during the trial and the jail cell where Armstrong was held. The museum features an extensive collection of antique firearms and Indian arrowheads. The recent addition of seven Looking for Lincoln Story Trail wayside exhibits serves to share further the community’s rich Lincoln history.

BLOOMINGTON-NORMAL

(140 Miles from Downtown Chicago — 70 miles from Springfield)

Lincoln probably spent more time in Bloomington than any other city in Central Illinois outside of Springfield. He had many close political and legal associates from this area, including David Davis, whose influence on Lincoln's legal career and run for the presidency were crucial to Lincoln's success. The McLean County Museum of History, housed in an old courthouse on the square in Bloomington, is good place to learn about the area. This is also a good place to start your tour of the twelve Looking for Lincoln Story Trail wayside exhibits in Bloomington and Normal.

Bloomington-Normal provides a variety of historic, educational and entertaining attractions, including the Children's Discovery Museum, the Miller Park Zoo, and in the summer, Shakespeare under the Stars. If you add galleries, unique retail shopping, dining and summer festivals, this area is a great place to visit.

DAVID DAVIS MANSION STATE HISTORIC SITE

1000 E. Monroe — near east Washington and Davis Avenue

This beautifully restored 19th-century mansion tells the story of Lincoln and David Davis — two self-made men from very different backgrounds. Davis helped to shape Lincoln's political career and was responsible, in part, for his success in obtaining the Republican nomination.

The house, which contains a remarkable array of mid-19th-century modern conveniences, also serves to illustrate the life of a wealthy Victorian family. This is an environment that is not typically associated with Lincoln, but he often moved comfortably in circles that included politically and socially powerful men. The Davis Mansion is the best place to hear that part of Lincoln's story.

CHARLESTON

(70 miles from Decatur —
100 miles from Springfield)

Thomas and Sarah Bush Lincoln, Abraham Lincoln's father and stepmother, were among the early settlers of the Charleston area. Lincoln visited Charleston on legal business and for pleasure with some regularity. In 1858, Charleston was the scene of the fourth Lincoln-Douglas debate where an aspiring young politician and his rival, Douglas, debated the issue of states rights and race relations in front of a crowd of 12,000 people. It was to Charleston and nearby Lerna that Lincoln made his last trip from Springfield before going to Washington.

Typical of many university towns, this city of 21,000 offers a varied array of activities, including an art museum, concert halls, theatres, a bike trail, golf courses, parks, shops and restaurants, plus a delightful display of outdoor murals that illustrate the city's history.

THE LINCOLN – DOUGLAS DEBATE MUSEUM

126 E. Street – Coles County Fairgrounds

This museum, built on the spot of the 4th debate, is the only one in Illinois that retraces the senatorial debates between Lincoln and Stephen Douglas. The museum provides a self-guided environment using interactive displays, audio selections, artifacts and photos that address the significance of the debates, what the issues were, and how these dialogues affected the county. The museum also includes an interpretive film, a children's hands-on area, a gift shop and a life size sculpture of Lincoln and Douglas — the perfect photo opportunity.

LINCOLN LOG CABIN STATE HISTORIC SITE

400 S. Lincoln Highway — 8 Miles south of Charleston

This was the last home of Thomas and Sarah Bush Lincoln, Lincoln's father and stepmother. Today the site includes a working living-history farm developed around a two-room cabin. Nearby is a second farmstead that helps visitors understand rural life in Illinois during the 1840's and enables them to compare two different styles of farming. The site also offers a broad array of interpretive programs, some of which are first person. In addition, a beautiful visitor center houses a museum, gift shop and an orientation theatre. The Reuben Moore State Historic Site is part of this complex and is within a five-minute drive. It was the site of a celebration dinner that Lincoln attended honoring his election to the presidency. The Shiloh Church & Cemetery State Memorial, where Thomas and Sarah Bush Lincoln are buried, is also nearby.

CLINTON

(170 Miles from downtown Chicago — 50 Miles from Springfield)

Visitors can explore a rich Lincoln heritage that has remained untouched for years and discover the important role that Lincoln played in Clinton's early development. Lincoln was frequently seen in Clinton from the time he began to practice law in 1839 and travel the Eighth Judicial Circuit until his election as President, a period of almost 20 years. This community is strategically located between Springfield and Bloomington and was an important stop on the Eighth Judicial Circuit. The Looking for Lincoln Story Trail includes nine wayside exhibits in Clinton and one additional site in DeWitt County

Clinton is conveniently located between Springfield, Bloomington, Mt. Pulaski and Lincoln. Recreational opportunities include seven city parks, Clinton Lake State Recreation area a 9,300 acre facility, and the 550 acre Weldon Springs State Park.

DANVILLE

(85 miles from Indianapolis — 120 miles from Springfield)

Lincoln's connection to this city is a rich one. He argued cases here on the Eighth Judicial Circuit and practiced law in Danville from 1849 to 1859. He shared an office here with a local attorney, the only office he ever had outside of Springfield. It was in Danville where he made his final address in Illinois from a train bound for Washington and the presidency.

Danville is the first Illinois stop from the east on I-74. The variety and quality of parks and recreational opportunities make this city a popular one for the visitor who is interested in adventures in nature. Over 15,000 acres of public parkland include the Middle Fork River, the only federally designated scenic river in Illinois.

DR. FITHIAN HOME

116 N. Gilbert — Corner Gilbert and Lafayette Streets

The home of Dr. William Fithian, build in 1855, is part of the Vermilion County Museum complex. Dr. Fithian was a prominent 19th century physician, who was a friend, client, and political supporter of Abraham Lincoln. On September 21, 1858, during his bid for a U.S. Senate seat, Lincoln made an impromptu speech from the second-floor balcony outside the bedroom he occupied. The room and the bed, in which Lincoln slept, are part of a tour of the Dr. Fithian home.

THE VERMILION COUNTY MUSEUM

116 N. Gilbert

DECATUR

(40 miles from Springfield)

Macon County has a rich Lincoln history and many Lincoln “firsts.” Decatur was the first Illinois home of the Lincoln family, he was first nominated for the presidency at the state Republican Party convention, and made his first political speech in downtown Decatur. For two decades, Lincoln also practiced law here. These stories and more are colorfully retold on The Looking for Lincoln Story Trail, which features fifteen waysides exhibits. For those looking to broaden their exploration of Lincoln’s Illinois, nearby Rock Springs Center features a natural history museum and extensive hiking trails, some of which pass through tall-grass prairie. Decatur also offers opportunities for recreation including Lake Decatur, which is surrounded by a number of parks, nature trails, and a golf course. Scoville Park on the lake includes the Children’s Museum of Illinois and nearby Scoville Zoo, as well as a wonderful playground and picnic area. Decatur’s central location makes it an ideal jumping off point to go Looking for Lincoln.

GALESBURG

(50 miles from Peoria — 120 miles from Springfield)

Lincoln's connection to Galesburg is an important one. Old Main at Knox College, the site of the 5th Lincoln-Douglas Debate, is the only original debate site still standing. Two large bronze tablets commemorating the debate flank the east door. Inside are additional historical displays open to the public, including a chair that Lincoln sat in while visiting friends in Galesburg prior to the debate. Old Main is also the home of the Lincoln Studies Center at Knox College. The center is widely renowned for its books and research that have vastly enriched our understanding of Lincoln's life and presidency.

Carl Sandburg, noted both for his poetry and his Lincoln biography, was born in Galesburg, and the Carl Sandburg Birthplace State Historic Site is open to the public. Sandburg's early years in Galesburg helped to shape his literary talents and his life-long interest in Lincoln

JACKSONVILLE

(36 miles from Springfield)

Jacksonville is the perfect place to step back in history. The city's rich heritage includes sites that explore Lincoln's connection to Jacksonville and make history relevant to a new generation. Ten Looking for Lincoln Story Trail wayside exhibits highlight his relationship to Jacksonville. Six of these exhibits are enhanced by the Voices of Jacksonville Audio Tour. Options for visitors also include murals depicting the community's history, Underground Railroad sites, including Woodlawn Farm, and Jacksonville's historic homes district. Visitors can walk in the footsteps of greatness by following the lives of Stephen Douglas and General Benjamin Grierson. All of these experiences explain why Jacksonville is so proud of the many important figures who have called this historic city their home.

LINCOLN

(35 miles from Springfield — 165 miles from Chicago)

Lincoln, known as the “namesake city,” is the only town to be named for Lincoln before he became president. In fact, he christened the city with the juice of a watermelon, which is commemorated by a “Looking for Lincoln” exhibit near the train station. He had many friends, owned property here and practiced law at Postville Court House while riding the Eighth Judicial Circuit.

The century-old Logan County Courthouse is one of the few Illinois courthouses still being used for its intended purposes. It sits on Route 66 on the square of the beautiful and thriving downtown area, featuring several unique shops, businesses and restaurants. For more information, visit the Information Station at the corner of Fifth Street and Route 66.

LINCOLN HERITAGE MUSEUM

300 Keokuk — Lincoln College Campus

Located on the campus of the only institution of higher learning named for Abraham Lincoln while he was alive, the Lincoln Heritage Museum exhibits a significant collection of Civil War and Lincoln-related artifacts, such as an original 1860 “rail-splitter” campaign banner, the ballot box in which he cast his vote, an extremely rare copy of “Mortality,” Lincoln’s favorite poem written in his own hand, and several of his personal law books.

This site showcases an assortment of personal items that belonged to the family, including Mary Lincoln’s jewelry and china, several of Lincoln’s tools from his desk, a small rocker etched with Tad Lincoln’s name on it, and several furnishings from the Lincoln’s home.

The Lincoln Heritage Museum will be moving to a new and greatly expanded location on the campus in the spring of 2011.

METAMORA

(82 miles from Springfield — 10 miles from Peoria)

The heart of Metamora is its beautiful square in front of the courthouse, still used today for local celebrations as it was when Lincoln, the circuit riding lawyer, passed through town. A Looking for Lincoln Wayside Exhibit marks the area where Lincoln mediated conflicts and played horseshoes outside of court. Weekends are full of events on the square like band concerts, dances and Civil War re-enactments. Metamora, an easy 11 mile drive northeast of Peoria, was also hometown to Adlai E. Stevenson, Vice President of the United States under Grover Cleveland. The Metamora Courthouse and the Stevenson House are both on the National Register of Historic Places.

METAMORA COURTHOUSE STATE HISTORIC SITE

113 East Partridge Street — Downtown Square

Lincoln was involved in more than 70 cases, including two harboring slave hearings and two murder cases — some before his friend and future Supreme Court Justice, David Davis. The renovated 1845 Metamora Courthouse is one of only two remaining original courthouses on the Eighth Judicial Circuit. The community museum on the first floor has artifacts from pioneer days through the Civil War, photographs and even history games.

MT. PULASKI

(25 miles from Springfield — 12 miles from I-55)

Many of Lincoln's friendships were created as he traveled from one courthouse to another on the Eighth Judicial Circuit. Lincoln had many friends in Mt. Pulaski. He spent a great deal of time arguing cases there in a courthouse that is still located on the square in the center of town and is surrounded by lovely old buildings reflective of small-town America.

Mt. Pulaski is a farm town that is only 12 miles from I-55 and 25 miles from Springfield. No matter how you get there, you will drive through some of the richest farmland in the state. This stop offers the opportunity to get off the main roads and see the country.

PETERSBURG

(25 miles from Springfield)

Petersburg is a scant two miles north of New Salem. Lincoln surveyed the city in 1836. Many former residents of New Salem are buried in Oakland Cemetery, among them Ann Rutledge, who was reputed to be Lincoln’s sweetheart. Edgar Lee Masters, who wrote about Lincoln and the many inhabitants of New Salem, was a resident of Petersburg. His home is still standing. Masters is also buried in Oakland Cemetery.

The square features shops, antique stores and restaurants plus the Menard County Historical Museum, featuring a special exhibit about Lincoln the Surveyor. Because it is such a quick drive from New Salem to Petersburg, many hungry visitors take advantage of this charming old town to rest and refresh. Like most river towns, Petersburg is picturesque and hilly and filled with beautiful old Victorian houses.

LINCOLN’S NEW SALEM STATE HISTORIC SITE

Rt. 97 — 2 Miles South of Petersburg
www.LincolnsNewSalem.com

New Salem is a reconstructed pioneer village. Lincoln came here in 1831 and stayed for six years. While here, he served as a legislator, studied law and occupied a number of other positions. A trip to New Salem reveals the hard prairie life of rural Illinois in the 1830’s at the same time reflects a vigorous community. Included among the buildings are numerous log houses, a grist mill, a carding mill, doctors’ houses, a tavern and several stores — 23 structures in all. Interpreters in period dress often demonstrate the daily tasks performed by the pioneers who lived here. The site includes a visitor center, a museum and an orientation film.

PITTSFIELD

(70 miles from Springfield — 55 miles from Quincy)

If you are traveling to or from Springfield west on I-72, Pittsfield and Pike County are an easy stop off the highway. Lincoln's three White House secretaries are associated with Pike County and Lincoln had many friends in this community. Pittsfield's history is rich with people who knew Lincoln and the community has found a very unique way to share that history with visitors.

Pittsfield, in Pike County, is situated between the Illinois and Mississippi Rivers which affords the perfect location for recreational spots. The area also includes 20 hunting lodges and bed and breakfasts that cater to hunters looking for wild turkey and deer. Plus there are many opportunities for the hiking enthusiast.

THE TALKING HOUSES OF PITTSFIELD

Many houses that Lincoln visited are still standing in Pittsfield. While it is possible to actually tour only one, the Shastid House, visitors can pull up in front of eight other houses and three sites and through the car radio listen as people who knew Lincoln and lived in those houses each tell their story. A map and information for the Talking House tour are available at the Pittsfield Visitor Center located at 224 W. Washington. The tour begins at the Visitor Center where staff is available during the week. Maps and brochures are always available at that location.

QUINCY

(114 miles from Springfield)

Lincoln counted many Quincy residents as his closest friends. He served with future U.S. Senator Orville H. Browning and future Governor John Wood when they all fought in the Blackhawk War in 1832. His many contacts with Quincyans were instrumental to his political and legislative successes. The hallmark Quincy-Lincoln connection is the historic sixth debate with Senator Stephen A. Douglas which was a turning point in the campaign and in Lincoln's political career. In addition to several Lincoln related sites, the home of Dr. Richard Eells, an abolitionist and Underground Railroad conductor is open for visits on the weekend. Quincy is an important participant in The Looking for Lincoln Story Trail with eighteen wayside exhibits describing Lincoln's long-time relationship with the people of Quincy.

Quincy is a community that is proud of its architectural diversity. Four major historical districts provide a rich array of homes and buildings from the period 1850-1930 when Quincy was a prominent river town. The Gardner Museum of Architecture and Design preserves and interprets the city's architectural heritage. Another architectural gem is the Villa Katherine, a Moorish Castle that overlooks the Mississippi River.

JOHN WOOD MANSION

425 N. 12th Street

Lincoln and John Wood were both against slavery and were members of the Whig Party. They worked to establish the Republican Party and campaigned for each other during their political careers. Both men also served together in the Blackhawk War of 1832. Wood served a ten month term as Governor of Illinois starting in 1860 when Governor William Bissell died. The site complex also includes a preserved 1835 Pioneer Log Cabin and garden and a history museum which displays items depicting the history of Adams County. The adjacent visitor center features a new gallery focusing on Lincoln and Quincy. It also includes several rare items associated with Lincoln's assassination. Admission $3.00.

SPRINGFIELD

(200 miles from downtown Chicago —
100 miles from St. Louis)

Springfield is the heart of Lincoln country. Lincoln moved from New Salem to Springfield in 1837 and left as president-elect in 1861. When visiting Lincoln's Home, the Old Capitol, Lincoln's Law offices, the Lincoln Depot and the new Abraham Lincoln Presidential Museum, visitors will begin to understand how this man grew from a fledgling lawyer to a president. Springfield provides insights into Lincoln's personal life as well as his political career.

But Springfield isn't just about Lincoln. It is a state capital with museums and sites appropriate to a capital city. Route 66 cuts through Springfield and attracts visitors from all over the world. A totally restored and furnished Frank Lloyd Wright prairie-style house, a water park, a zoo and permanent and changing exhibits at the Illinois State Museum are just some of the other options the city provides. There truly is something for everyone.

OLD CAPITOL STATE HISTORIC SITE

Downtown Mall

This majestic structure with its imposing porticoes and original facade allows guests to imagine the state capitol building as it was when Lincoln lived and worked in Springfield. It is here that he practiced law before the Supreme Court, spent hours with his professional associates in the law library, served as a legislator, and most importantly, in 1858 gave his famous "House Divided Speech." It is also here that his body lay in state when he was brought back to Springfield after his assassination. Original pieces are mixed with antique furniture and artifacts, successfully re-creating the building as Lincoln would have known it.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN PRESIDENTIAL MUSEUM

212 North 6th Street • www.PresidentLincoln.org

In a stunning combination of scholarship and showmanship, the Abraham Lincoln Presidential Museum immerses you in Lincoln's world and time. Journey from a rustic Indiana cabin to the Executive Mansion in the nation's capital; follow the fate of America's 16th president and share the joys and sorrows of a family—and a nation.

In the Ghosts of the Library, our Lincoln historian tackles the question: "Why save all this stuff?" As he muses over artifacts and documents, he is joined by ghosts of Civil War soldiers and even Abraham Lincoln himself to reveal why history matters. In Lincoln's Eyes, you peer through a window to Civil War America in this vibrant, multi-screen presentation. The Treasures Gallery rotates our priceless artifacts that range from the extraordinary to the everyday.

The heart of the Lincoln legacy is at the Abraham Lincoln Presidential Museum in Springfield, Illinois.

LINCOLN HOME NATIONAL HISTORIC SITE

8th and Jackson

This is the only home that Lincoln ever owned. He and his family lived here from 1844 until they left for Washington in 1861. A tour of the home and the surrounding 4-block area provides a glimpse into Lincoln's life, revealing Lincoln as husband, father, neighbor, politician, and president-elect. The historic neighborhood, which appears much as Lincoln would have remembered it, includes two restored houses that provide exhibits, neighborhood wayside exhibits, and a Visitor Center with films and displays that further tell the story of the Lincolns in Springfield.

LINCOLN – HERNDON LAW OFFICES STATE HISTORIC SITE

Downtown Mall

These offices are the only ones still standing where Lincoln practiced law. He moved into the building in 1843, and William Herndon became his partner in 1844. They were still partners when Lincoln left for Washington. The offices occupied by Lincoln and Herndon are here. The building also contains a post office and the only Federal Court in Illinois between 1840 and 1848. The first floor of the site also houses Tinsley Dry Goods, where you'll find a great selection of souvenirs and original items to give as gifts or to help you remember your time in the Land of Lincoln.

LINCOLN DEPOT (GREAT WESTERN RAILROAD)

10th and Monroe

The day that Lincoln left to assume the presidency, many close friends came to the depot as a gesture of their affection. In response he gave a very famous impromptu speech of farewell. A video recounts that story and describes the events that were taking place in the country as Lincoln traveled to Washington. Self guided tour. Lincoln will give his Farewell Address to Springfield every Tuesday from mid-June to mid-August at 4:30 PM.

SPRINGFIELD'S LOOKING FOR LINCOLN STORY TRAIL

Springfield was the first city to install Looking for Lincoln

Wayside Exhibits. There are 48 “story boards” throughout the downtown area that re-create the Springfield that would have been familiar to the Lincoln family. Each time a visitor stops to read they will learn something else about the community and the Lincolns. In front of the Lincoln Law Offices are two exhibits that explain the importance of this community to Abraham Lincoln. Adjacent to the exhibits is a life-size bronze sculpture grouping representing Lincoln, Mary and two of their children — the perfect photo opportunity.

HISTORY COMES ALIVE IN SPRINGFIELD

From mid-June until mid-August the days and evenings in downtown Springfield will be filled with entertainment designed to bring history alive. Regularly scheduled programs include strolling musicians, costumed interpreters, visits with Abraham Lincoln, story programs for children and costumed tour guides. Each evening Tuesday through Saturday a different event has been planned including a flag lowering ceremony at the Tomb, music at the Governor's Mansion, Lincoln's Farewell at the Depot and special appearances by Lincoln at the Old State Capitol. As visitors walk from the Abraham Lincoln Presidential Museum to each historic site, they just might find living history around the very next corner. For a schedule of these events contact the Springfield Convention & Visitors Bureau at 1-800-545-7300.

LINCOLN TOMB STATE HISTORIC SITE

Oak Ridge Cemetery

It is said that Abraham Lincoln and his wife Mary often visited Oak Ridge Cemetery while they lived in Springfield. They were both impressed by the setting. Remembering that time, Mary insisted that Lincoln be buried at Oak Ridge. The magnificent and imposing tomb designed by world-famous sculptor Larkin Mead stands on a slight rise and provides a dramatic image as visitors enter the cemetery. The tomb contains the remains of the entire family with the exception of Robert, who is buried at Arlington Cemetery. The 114th Regiment Illinois, a volunteer infantry reactivated Civil War unit, performs a stirring flag ceremony in front of the tomb at 7:00 PM each Tuesday evening during the summer.

TAYLORVILLE

(27 miles from Springfield — 75 miles from downtown St. Louis)

Taylorville is known as “the last stop” because as Lincoln and his fellow lawyers rode the Eighth Judicial Circuit, Taylorville was often the last town they visited before returning to Springfield. A favorite Taylorville story about some noisy pigs under the courthouse illustrates Lincoln’s sense of humor. This moment is commemorated by a whimsical statue on the lawn of the Taylorville courthouse. A Looking for Lincoln wayside exhibit tells the story of Lincoln and the pigs. The original courthouse built in 1839 was moved to the Christian County Historical Society and Museum complex in 1967. For information about this museum complex and visiting hours please call 217-824-6922.

VANDALIA

(80 miles from Springfield — 75 miles from downtown St. Louis)

Vandalia is where Lincoln officially started his political career when he was elected legislator while at New Salem. Vandalia was the state capital from 1820 to 1839. Then it was moved to Springfield, partly through Lincoln's efforts. Across from this imposing building is a small park where visitors can sit with a statue of Lincoln, rest, and have a photo taken with the capitol in the background. The Looking for Lincoln Story Trail in Vandalia consists of ten wayside exhibits throughout the downtown area and the adjoining cemetery.

Vandalia is located right at the junction of I-70, US-51 and IL-185 and is the western terminus of the old National Road. The spot is marked by the Madonna of the Trails, an impressive 18 foot statue. Across the street is the Fayette County Museum, which houses items of the Lincoln-era.

VANDALIA STATEHOUSE STATE HISTORIC SITE

Corner of Route 51 & Gallatin Street

Lincoln began to hone his skills as a legislator and an orator in this impressive white brick building. It is here that his fellow legislators began to recognize his leadership skills. The building is an elegant Federal style structure, which was built by city residents in a failed attempt to keep the capital in Vandalia. All three branches of state government were contained in this building for the first time in the state's history. Totally restored and appropriately furnished, a tour of this building is a lesson in the early politics of Illinois and Lincoln's place in that story.

FOLLOW THE LOOKING FOR LINCOLN STORY TRAIL!

We invite you to explore The Looking for Lincoln Story Trail. More than 50 communities throughout central Illinois have installed over

210 Looking for Lincoln Wayside exhibits designed to tell you about each community's connection to Lincoln. Some communities have as many as 18 while others might just have one or two. Springfield has 48 in total. To find these places go to our web site www.LookingForLincoln.com. Use the web map or contact us for a Looking for Lincoln Story Trail brochure. Keep checking the web site for the addition of the GPS coordinates for each wayside.

The wayside exhibits serve as storyboards that describe Lincoln's specific connection to each of these communities. They portray friendships, law cases and important political events, all leading to his presidential election. More than just a historical marker, these waysides contain illustrations, photographs, text and a 2 inch medallion in bas relief with an image that is unique to each storyboard. Visitors are encouraged to take rubbings of the medallions and create a collection that commemorates all of the places that they have been to look for Lincoln.

THE ABRAHAM LINCOLN NATIONAL HERITAGE AREA

Join us while we go Looking for Lincoln!

The Abraham Lincoln National Heritage Area was designated by Congress and then the authorizing legislation was signed by the President on May 10, 2008. It is the only National Heritage Area named for a president. The legislation designates the Looking for Lincoln Heritage Coalition as the management entity for the heritage area. The coalition and the National Heritage Area cover the same 42 counties in central Illinois. They share a mission to preserve, interpret and promote the heritage and culture of the area, in the context of Abraham Lincoln's life in Illinois.

They further seek to inform and educate, develop and interpret visitor-ready sites, creating a living history experience, chronicling the evolution of the area's landscape and extending these opportunities to the largest audience possible. By means of a thought-provoking engagement with rich stories and evocative tales of connections, the Heritage Area endeavors to explore themes related to Lincoln the lawyer and politician, Lincoln and civil rights, the Underground Railroad, and Lincoln and the Civil War.

Under the leadership of the Looking for Lincoln Heritage Coalition, a consortium of central Illinois sites and communities with the crucial support of partners like the Illinois Historic Preservation Agency, the Illinois Office of Tourism, the Abraham Lincoln Presidential Library and Museum, and the National Park Service can now give visitors the opportunity to literally walk in Lincoln's footsteps.
