

American Latino Heritage

DIONICIO RODRIGUEZ

DIONICIO RODRIGUEZ

Born in Mexico, Dionicio immigrated to the United States during the 1920s. His unique sculpting process allowed him to use chemically treated concrete, in order to create the appearance of wood. His sculptures were commissioned all across the country including at sites in Texas, Tennessee, and Maryland. The sculpture pictured is located in T.R Pugh Memorial Park in Arkansas.