

EDUCATOR

EDUCATOR

Skills needed: Extreme comfort with public speaking, the ability to make connections between one's audience and the resources at hand

Job Details: "Translate" the artifacts, collections, history, and physical resources of national parks into a language that helps visitors connect and learn.

Fun Fact: Park educators inspire everyone—from young children to great-grandparents and from visiting tourists to long-time residents—to learn more about our parks and to protect them.
