Blue Ridge Parkway Superintendent's Message

National Park Service Mission Statement

The National Park Service preserves unimpaired the natural and cultural resources and values of the National Park System for the enjoyment, education, and inspiration of this and future generations. The Park Service cooperates with partners to extend the benefits of natural and cultural resource conservation and outdoor recreation throughout this country and the world.

JD Lee, Blue Ridge Parkway Superintendent

We're very happy to have you here. Whether you've traveled all 469 miles of the Blue Ridge Parkway or you've come for a family picnic, my hope is you are creating wonderful experiences in this truly special park.

The Parkway was constructed as a depression era work project to connect Shenandoah National Park to the Great Smoky Mountains National Park, all the while driving economic activity to communities along its route. The visionaries who advocated for, planned for, and ultimately constructed the Parkway would be proud of what this ribbon of road stands for today.

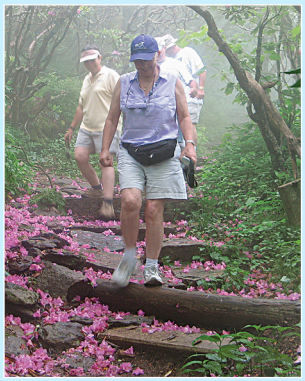

National Park Service staff up and down the Parkway are also proud to uphold this vision; and work tirelessly to insure you have a safe and memorable experience. From biologists charged with the protection of thousands of plant & animal species, law enforcement rangers who assist with hundreds of incidents each year, to architects planning historic road improvement projects, the behind-the-scenes Parkway is as fascinating as the scenic drive itself.

I encourage you to take a moment and consider your role in the long term protection and care of this special place. Help us insure that years from now the same wonderful experiences that brought you to the Parkway are being enjoyed by new generations of visitors. The National Park Service mission belongs to each of us. Thank you for caring and enjoy your visit to the Blue Ridge Parkway.

Safe travels,

JD

THE BLUE RIDGE PARKWAY

Something for Everyone

For visitors in search of novelty and adventure, the Blue Ridge area provides an unparalleled diversity of experiences. There's so much to see and do that no two visits are ever the same.

Outstanding scenery and recreational opportunities make the Blue Ridge Parkway one of the most popular units of the National Park system. Winding its way through 469 miles of mountains and meadows, the Parkway connects Shenandoah National Park at milepost 0 in Virginia with the Great Smoky Mountains National Park at milepost 469 in North Carolina.

Nature lovers will find majestic mountain vistas and scenic drives, outstanding hiking, biking, and equestrian trails, world-class whitewater and waterfalls, excellent campsites and fishing streams, and an incredible diversity of plant and animal life in the region's abundant protected forests and parks.

Those searching for cultural experiences and historical connections will discover a land rich in living traditions of music, craft and culture. Split rail fences, old farmsteads and historic structures complement spectacular views of distant mountains and neighboring valleys.

The Parkway incorporates several recreation areas, some exceeding 6,000 acres. These sites within the Parkway have visitor centers, campgrounds, picnic areas, trails and, in many instances, concessioner-operated lodges, restaurants and other facilities.

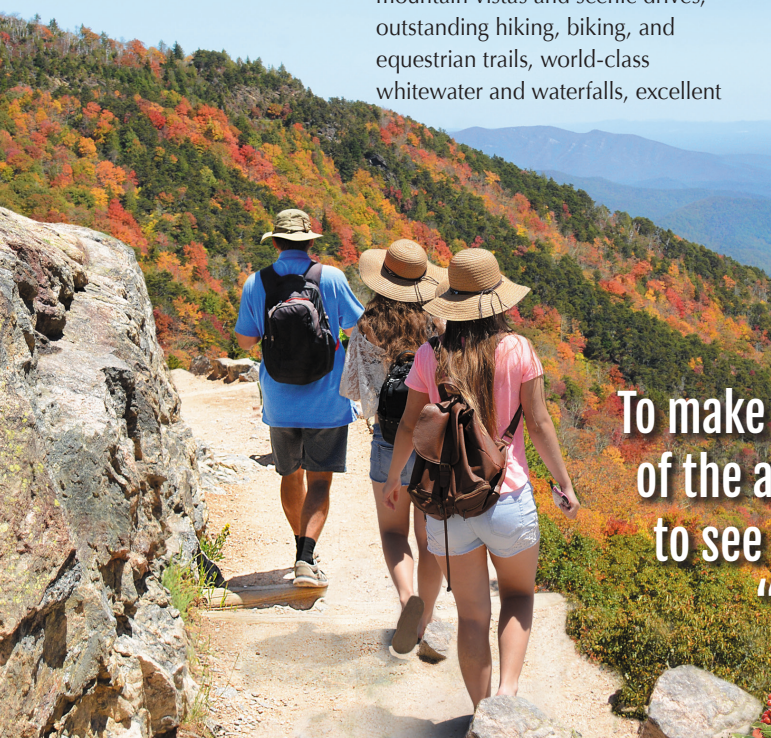

The Parkway offers something for everyone. To make the most of your visit, stop at any of the area's visitor information centers and you will quickly see why it is often called "America's Favorite Drive".

Blue Ridge Music Center

To make the most of your visit, stop at any of the area's visitor information centers to see why the Parkway is often called "America's Favorite Drive".

The Parkway offers a myriad of opportunities for enjoying all that makes these mountains so special.

Here are a few destinations you won't want to miss:

MP 5.8

Humpback Rocks

Hike to the famed rock outcropping high on the mountain to enjoy the magnificent view or stroll through the farm museum and imagine scratching out a living in the rocky soil here. Traditional lifestyle demonstrations occur seasonally.

Highlights: Visitor center and museum, historic farm, hiking trails, picnic area.

See page 33

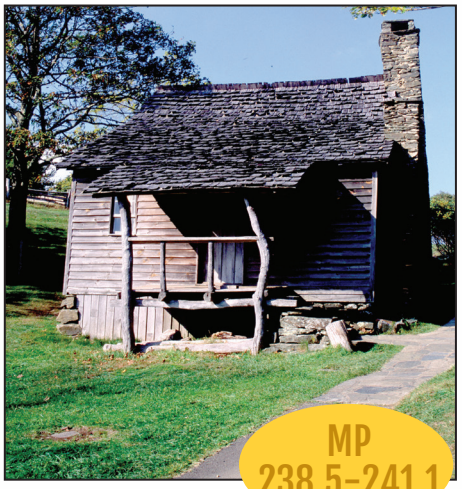

MP 167.1–176.3

Rocky Knob & Mabry Mill

The sights and sounds of rural life in Appalachia resonate throughout the Rocky Knob area during the summer and fall. Stop by Mabry Mill to view corn being ground, enjoy cultural demonstrations, or tap your toes to traditional mountain music on Sunday afternoons.

Highlights: Visitor center, historic mill, cultural demonstrations, summer concerts, hiking trails, campground, picnic area, restaurant.

See page 44

Doughton Park

Many visitors and locals alike call this area "their favorite Parkway spot". Appalachian history comes to life among the ridgetop meadows and steep mountainsides here. Hike some of the 30 miles of trails or visit Brinegar Cabin to learn of early mountain life. Highlights: Visitor center, Brinegar Cabin, hiking trails, campground, picnic area. See page 58

MP 85.9

Peaks of Otter

Stunning mountain views, cool summer temperatures, and amazing natural resources have enticed visitors to Peaks of Otter for centuries. Climb to the rocky peak of Sharp Top, run your fingers through a black bear's pelt at the Nature Center, or simply relax on the shore of Abbott Lake.

Highlights: Visitor center, nature center, historic lodge, Polly Wood Ordinary, Johnson Farm, hiking trails, campground, picnic area, restaurant. See page 39

MP 213

Blue Ridge Music Center

Music is a natural part of these mountains. Traditional folk music and dance has been created and kept alive in this region over the decades. Here visitors can explore the interactive Roots of American Music museum and enjoy live music daily from May through October. Highlights: Visitor center and museum, live folk music and jam sessions, hiking trails. See page 52

MP 292.7–295.8

Moses H. Cone Memorial Park

Moses H. Cone fashioned a textile empire by bringing denim production to the south in the late 1800s. He and his wife Bertha built Flat Top Manor as a summer retreat at the turn of the 20th century. Come explore the manor or stroll along 25 miles of carriage trails on the estate.

Highlights: Visitor center, craft store, historic estate and grounds, hiking trails, horseback riding. See page 66

Julian Price Memorial Park

MP 296.4–298.6

Julian Price established one of the nation's largest insurance companies and purchased this land in the 1930s as a recreational retreat for his employees. Visitors today find opportunities to explore the mountains by camping, picnicking, and canoeing and fishing on Price Lake. Highlights: Hiking trails, canoeing, fishing, campground, picnic area. See page 67

Linn Cove Viaduct

MP 304

The rugged slopes of Grandfather Mountain challenged engineers as they completed this last section of the Parkway in 1987. A world renowned marvel of engineering the viaduct was painstakingly designed to protect the ecologically sensitive slopes of the mountain. Highlights: Visitor center, historic architecture/ parkway design, hiking trails. See page 68.

Linville Falls

MP 316.4

The Linville River flows from its headwaters high on the steep slopes of Grandfather Mountain and cascades through two falls as it begins a nearly 2,000 foot descent through this rugged and spectacularly beautiful gorge. Highlights: Visitor center, waterfalls, hiking trails, campground, picnic area. See page 70.

The Museum of North Carolina Minerals

MP 330.9

Discover the area's rich mineral resources and mining heritage with hands-on, interactive exhibits to explore the creation of the Blue Ridge Mountains and the region's wide variety of minerals.

Craggy Gardens

MP 364.1

These high elevation summits are home to spectacular rhododendron displays in May and early June, and to a unique forest of gnarled and twisted trees that have been shaped by harsh weather. Highlights: Visitor center, hiking trails, rhododendron blooms, picnic area. See page 77.

MP 382

Folk Art Center

Tucked inside the Folk Art Center you will find a National Park Service visitor information counter as well as a large array of regional crafts created by members of the Southern Highland Craft Guild. Craft demonstrations provide the chance to meet the artists at work. Highlights: Visitor center and folk art exhibition hall, hiking trails.

MP 384.5

Parkway Visitor Center in Asheville

Watch an orientation video and learn how to make the most of your visit to the Parkway and region at this visitor center. View exhibits featuring the unique Parkway design and construction, the natural and cultural history, and recreational opportunities of the Blue Ridge. Highlights: Visitor center and park film, National Heritage Area information and hiking trails.

MP 407.6

Mount Pisgah

Reach new heights in the high country of Mount Pisgah, the birthplace of forestry. Hike historic trails, spend the night at the Parkway's highest campground or lodge, and be sure to catch the sunrise. Highlights: Historic lodge, hiking trails, campground, picnic area, restaurant.

MP 451.2

Waterrock Knob

It feels as if you can touch the clouds at the southernmost and highest elevation visitor center on the Parkway. Come prepared for cooler weather and spend time enjoying mountain views that stretch to the horizon. For an unforgettable experience, pause to watch a sunrise or sunset. Highlights: Visitor center, hiking trails. See page 86.

The designed landscape of the Parkway offers hundreds of spectacular views. To best enjoy these views, get out of your vehicle or off your motorcycle and use the Parkway's many overlooks.

MAKING A DIFFERENCE
– A Responsible Visit

GENERAL DRIVING SAFETY

Because of its unique design, the Parkway drive differs from most and can mean taking some extra care to ensure a safe visit. "Enjoy the view but watch the road!" is our way of reminding visitors to pay extra attention along the Parkway.

WATCH OUT FOR...

STEEP GRADES – In some places, the Parkway has steeper grades than normally found on highways. Without paying close attention, your speed can increase far more than you expect.

UNFORGIVING ROAD SHOULDERS – The Parkway's road shoulders are narrow in many places and some sections may have deep edge ruts. Give extra attention to staying on the paved surface, especially in long corners.

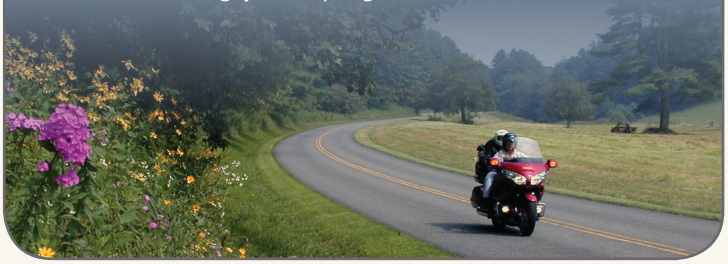

BUILT-IN DISTRACTIONS – Wildlife, wildflowers, and extraordinary views...all of these contribute to the Parkway experience. They can also be serious distractions to drivers. Every driver's first responsibility is to arrive safely at their destination.

LIMITED SIGHT DISTANCES – There aren't many straight lines in the natural world and the Parkway was designed with gentle curves and not many straight sections. This is part of what makes the road seem to lay gently on the land and it also requires some extra attention while driving.

SPEED CHANGES – The Parkway speed limit is mostly 45 mph, but occasionally you will find yourself in developed areas where the driving speed drops to 25 mph.

SPIRAL CURVES – Some of the tight curves do not have a consistent radius so extra care needs to be taken, especially on motorcycles.

TUNNELS – Most tunnels provide plenty of clearance, although several near Cherokee have a minimum height of less than 12 feet at the road's edge, and drivers of especially tall vehicles should consider an alternate route. For complete list of tunnel heights, visit: www.blueridgeparkway.org/tunnels

Parkways Dos and Don'ts:

*To help protect and preserve the Blue Ridge Parkway, observe all park regulations. Be alert for uncontrolled fire, safety hazards, accidents and emergencies. Please report such conditions by calling 9-1-1.

ROADSIDE PARKING - Parking is generally allowed on road shoulders as long as all four wheels are off of the pavement. During wet weather, please use paved parking areas and pull-outs to protect our road edges.

TRAILS - Trails are for hiking only. Bicycles and motorized vehicles are not permitted. Several horse riding trails are available.

CAMPING - Camping is permitted only in park campgrounds or designated back-country sites. See camping information, page 10.

PETS - All pets must be leashed (maximum six feet) and under physical control at all times. Electronic collars are not considered leashes or a means of physical control. Only service animals are permitted in Parkway facilities.

LAKES, RIVERS & PONDS - These are for fishing and scenic beauty only, with no swimming allowed. Nearby U.S. Forest Service recreation areas, state parks, and mountain resorts often have swimming facilities.

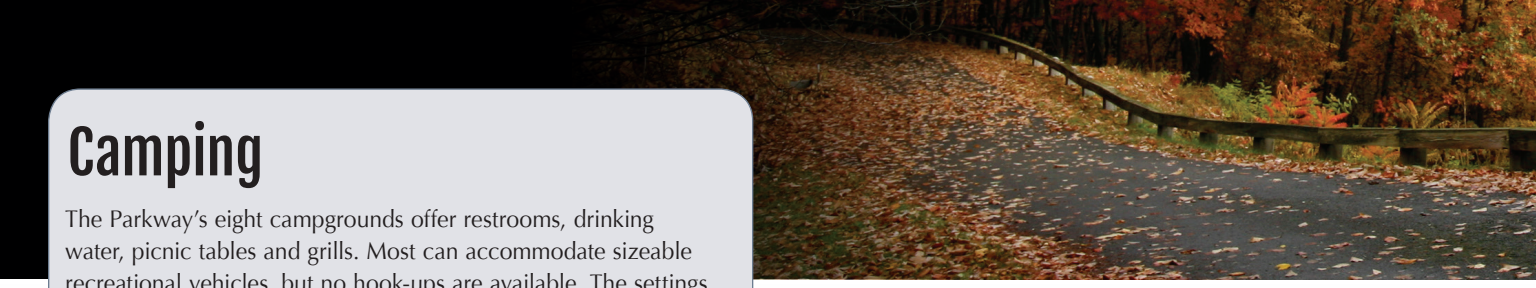

PREVENT FOREST FIRES - Fires are permitted in the provided grills or fire pits in campgrounds and picnic areas only.

BOATS - Boating is permitted only on Price Lake. No motors or sails are allowed.

LITTER - Deposit all litter in the trash cans provided.

ALL NATURAL RESOURCES ARE PROTECTED - Leave wildflowers and other vegetation in their natural condition for others to enjoy. Do not disturb animal or plant life in any way. Hunting and trapping are prohibited. Do not interfere with animals by feeding, touching, or frightening them. Do not cut, deface, or damage trees.

ALCOHOLIC BEVERAGES - Possession of open containers of alcohol in vehicles is prohibited. Alcohol is permitted in picnic areas from 8:00 AM to 9:00 PM, and in campgrounds by registered campers and guests.

Camping

The Parkway's eight campgrounds offer restrooms, drinking water, picnic tables and grills. Most can accommodate sizeable recreational vehicles, but no hook-ups are available. The settings are tranquil and scenic, and offer ready access to miles of hiking trails for those who want to explore on foot. Be sure to ask about Ranger programs that are offered seasonally. Most campgrounds are at elevations greater than 2,500 feet, which means that temperatures are usually cooler than the surrounding area. Even in summer a sweater can come in handy.

Campgrounds are open May through October. First-come, first-served sites are available at all Parkway campgrounds.

Reservations may be made for any campground, except Crabtree Falls, by visiting www.recreation.gov/camping/gateways/2593 or calling toll-free (877) 444-6777. Typically, demand is higher on weekends and holidays. Shower facilities are available at Mt. Pisgah and Julian Price Park campgrounds.

Group camping is available at Linville Falls, Doughton Park and Rocky Knob campgrounds. Reservations may be made online by visiting www.recreation.gov/camping/gateways/2593 or calling toll-free 877-444-6777. In addition, limited backcountry camping is available by permit at Basin Cove in Doughton Park 336-372-8877 May-October, (828-348-3487 off-season), Old Johns River in Julian Price Park 828-963-5911 May-October, (828-348-3510 off-season), and Rock Castle Gorge in Rocky Knob 540-745-9664 May-October, (828-348-3272 off-season).

Lodging & Dining

Lodges are located on the Parkway at Peaks of Otter (MP 86), and Mt. Pisgah (MP 408).

Restaurants, other facilities and services are available seaonally at a number of other locations. See Places to Pause on page 8.

Fishing

The Parkway lies along the headwaters of many regional watersheds. Thirteen lakes were constructed for aesthetic beauty and recreational opportunities. Streams, ponds, and rivers give anglers ample opportunity to test their skills for trout, bass, and panfish. A state license from either North Carolina or Virginia is valid for fishing in all park waters. Creel limits and other regulations vary. Ask a Ranger for details.

Firewood

Tree-killing insects and diseases, brought in on firewood, threaten the forests and wildlife dependent on the food produced by those trees. To reduce the threat, the National Park Service requires campers to use heat-treated firewood that is bundled and displays a seal issued by the United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) or a state department of agriculture. Several on and off-parkway visitor centers and stores sell certified firewood from May to November. Campers may also use fallen dead wood found within 100 yards of their campsite. Stop at a campground kiosk to learn more about these new regulations.

Cultural Demonstration and Special Events

The sights and sounds of traditional rural life in Appalachia are portrayed through cultural demonstration and special events in many locations on the Parkway.

Numerous special events celebrate different aspects of the Parkway's history and heritage. These include: Music and Art in the Mountains at the Peaks of Otter, The Transportation Festival at James River and the Overmountain Victory Celebration at the Minerals Museum of North Carolina.

Keeping Music Traditions Alive

Mid-day Mountain Music

Music is an important part of the story and the visitor experience. The people of this region have created and continue to keep alive some of the richest traditions of music and dance in the nation. Serious followers of regional music can explore the Blue Ridge Music Trail in North Carolina (blueridgemusic.org), a project of the Blue Ridge National Heritage Area, leading them to towns and venues throughout the region. Visit the Roots of American Music museum at the Blue Ridge Music Center to learn more about the history and growth of the region's musical heritage.

You can find music in a variety of places on the Parkway, especially on weekends May through October.

- The Blue Ridge Music Center (Milepost 213) is dedicated to the subject — Mid-Day Mountain Music occurs on a daily basis and weekend concerts are held in the outdoor amphitheater. "The Roots of American Music" is an interactive exhibition that tells the compelling story of the region's rich musical heritage.
- Sunday afternoon music and dancing at Mabry Mill (Milepost 176) is a long tradition as are the Sunday evening concerts at Roanoke Mountain Picnic Area (Milepost 120).
- Monthly concerts are held at Humpback Rocks Farm (Milepost 6) during the summer.

Blue Ridge Music Center Outdoor Amphitheater Concert

HIKING

Important Safety Advice

- Hiking shoes or boots are recommended for most trails, especially the more strenuous ones. Steep and rocky areas and slippery stream crossings require extra attention and careful footing. Even for trails marked "easy," you should wear flat or rubber-soled shoes for comfort and good traction. Wearing sandals, flip-flops, or high heels can result in accidents
- Lock valuables in the trunk of your car or take them with you.
- Sudden changes in weather are common in these mountains. Even in mild seasons, rapid dips in temperature and unexpected thunderstorms frequently occur, and at higher elevations the wind and temperature can carry a surprising chill. Be prepared for weather changes by bringing along suitable clothing.
- Bring water with you. Do not drink the water from streams or springs.

Kids In Parks / Track Trails

The Blue Ridge Parkway Foundation's Kids in Parks TRACK Trails program is a network of self-guided hiking trails for kids. Each trail has brochures designated to turn an ordinary hike into a fun-filled, discovery-packed adventure. Kids who hike these trails can register on the Kids in Parks website to win prizes. Visit the parkway's TRACK Trails at the Blue Ridge Parkway Visitor Center in Asheville, Julian Price Park, Blue Ridge Music Center, Mabry Mill, Rocky Knob Picnic Area, Peaks of Otter, and the James River Visitor Center. Visit kidsinparks.com to find dozens of additional TRACK Trails in communities near the parkway.

Junior Ranger Programs

A Junior Ranger is someone like you who cares for and learns about America's national parks so that others in the future may enjoy them. Ask for the family friendly activity sheets at any visitor center and begin your journey to becoming a Parkway Junior Ranger.

Mount Mitchell State Park, NC

Mount Mitchell is the highest point in eastern North America, rising to 6,684 feet. A Mount Mitchell State Park map with trail information is available at the state park headquarters, two miles up NC State Highway 128 from the park entrance at Milepost 355.4. Write to Mount Mitchell State Park, 2388 State Hwy 128, Burnsville, NC 28714 or call (828) 675 4611. www.ncparks.gov

Appalachian Trail, VA

The Appalachian Trail parallels the first 100 miles of the Blue Ridge Parkway to a point just north of Roanoke VA. There are many trail access points along this section of the Parkway. For more information, please refer to Appalachian Trail publications. www.nps.gov/appa

Ranger Led Programs

A variety of interpretive programs are offered from June through October. Campfire talks, guided hikes, historic craft demonstrations, music, and nature study are some of the activities you and your family can enjoy. Specific schedules are posted at all developed areas.

North Carolina's Mountains-to-Sea Trail

The Mountains-to-Sea Trail (MST) stretches 1,150 miles from the Great Smoky Mountains National Park to the Outer Banks. In the North Carolina mountains, much of the MST parallels the Blue Ridge Parkway. To find the trail, look for markers along the Parkway with a hiker symbol and a white circle blaze.

Volunteers maintain this and other Parkway trails. Learn more at mountainstoseatrail.org

Please note: Distances are one way except for loop trails. See trail maps for distances, features, walking conditions and important advice.
 Designated National Recreation Trail. A =Tanawha has nine Parkway access points, several in the Grandfather Mountain area.*

Waterfall Hikes

- Always take caution while enjoying waterfalls!
- Do not climb on rocks near waterfalls.
- Use extreme caution when walking along riverbanks, since these rocks are slippery.
- Never dive or jump into park waters. Submerged rocks, trees or debris could be immediately below the surface of the water.

Hiking to a waterfall can be a wonderful and rewarding experience. On the right is a list of popular hikes featuring waterfalls along the Parkway.

MP 78 Apple Orchard Falls - These falls have a viewing platform directly underneath the falls, creating a refreshing shower during the summer months.

MP 83 Falling Water Cascades - Near Peaks of Otter, the trail is lined with rhododendrons, creating a beautiful setting.

MP 316 Linville Falls- Linville Falls has four different overlooks to properly appreciate the falls.

MP 339 Crabtree Falls - Originally, these falls were known as Murphy's Falls until the Park Service changed the name to Crabtree Falls when the Parkway was built in the 1930's.

MP 411 Looking Glass Falls - Looking Glass Falls is one of the most symmetrical waterfalls in western North Carolina. Travel east on 276. Sliding Rock and Moore Cove Falls are nearby.

MP 417 Skinny Dip Falls - Skinny Dip Falls features a swimming hole at the bottom of the cascades. These falls lie along the Mountains-to-Sea trail.

MP 419 Graveyard Fields Falls - The name "Graveyard Fields" originates from a time when a great windstorm felled hundreds of spruce and fir trees in the area. The moss covered stumps resemble graves.

WHAT'S PEAKING ALONG THE PARKWAY?

Many questions posed to Parkway staff have to do with peak seasons. When things happen in the natural world can't be predicted precisely because of the variety of factors coming into play. The following short list gives some guidance and may help you find your favorite peak event.

Rhododendron

Catawba rhododendron is the purple variety that blooms from early June around the Peaks of Otter in Virginia to the third week of June at Craggy Gardens in North Carolina. Any time between these dates, there are spots of the variety in bloom. Rosebay rhododendron is the larger, white or pink variety that begins in late June and blooms into July, primarily through Rocky Knob, Virginia.

Hawk Migration

Many species of hawks migrate south during the winter and one of their major routes follows the spine of the Blue Ridge. Warm air in the valleys rises up the sides of the mountains and hawks catch a ride on these thermals, circling higher and higher, almost going out of sight. Then they head south, coasting or gliding in order to save energy and flying as far down the ridge as possible. They will find another thermal, make another twisting, corkscrew ascent, and then another glide south. This pattern takes them hundreds of miles down the mountains toward their winter destination. North of Roanoke, Virginia at Harvey's Knob Overlook (Milepost 93.5) is a favorite spot for hawk watchers from September through November. Mahogany Rock (Milepost 235) in North Carolina is also a popular spot. Tens of thousands of hawks, along with a few Peregrine Falcons and perhaps a Bald Eagle are counted by local birding clubs each year during this spectacular migration.

Fall Foliage

Fall is the season when the Blue Ridge attracts the most attention. Travelers, nature writers, photographers, and artists come to enjoy the visual display created by hardwood leaves changing from summer green to autumn gold, red, and orange. Visiting here in the peak of the fall color season is a sight that few fail to appreciate. Finding the right window of time and the perfect spot can perhaps be nothing more than good fortune, but keeping a few things in mind and exercising some patience can increase anyone's changes of seeing the Blue Ridge in its autumn glory. Typically, the Parkway experiences the much anticipated change in fall foliage around the middle of October. Many factors contribute to variations in when and where colors will peak, with moisture throughout the year and the colder temperatures being key factors. In a park that is 469 miles north to south and varies over 5,000 feet in elevation, the best plan for witnessing fall color is to drive some distance on the Parkway, changing elevations and north-south orientation. A little planning in mid to late October will yield at least some of the spectacular color that we're famous for.

Monarch Butterflies

During the latter half of September, a little-known aspect of the grand scheme of nature unfolds along the Parkway as Monarch butterflies begin an epic migration. These familiar orange and black striped beauties are often seen on milkweed plants late in the summer. At Cherry Cove Parking Overlook (Milepost 415.7) south of Mt. Pisgah, visitors gather in mid-September to witness the north to south migration. Thousands of Monarchs may pass by here and other nearby places on a daily basis.

Wildflowers

Although visitors may know the precise place and time on the Parkway to view their favorite species of wildflowers in bloom, there is little doubt that May is, overall, the best month for wildflowers. May Apple, Trillium, some lingering Bloodroot, Jack-in-the-Pulpit, Lady Slippers, Bleeding Heart, and Firepink – all of which are among the most admired and photographed in the region – make their appearance at some time during the month. As with any blooming species, elevation can make lots of difference, so enjoy a long, leisurely drive, meander down a trail, and enjoy this special month of the year.

Use this guide to identify the brilliant colors of Blue Ridge Parkway trees during fall leaf season.

PARKWAY BY THE SEASONS

As you plan your trip to the Blue Ridge Parkway, keep in mind that elevation and, to a lesser degree, your north-south orientation can make a big difference! The Parkway's elevation ranges from 649 feet at Virginia's James River to 6,047 feet south of Mount Pisgah in North Carolina. Sudden changes in weather are common in these mountains. It is always a good idea to have a jacket and cap on hand, dress in layers, and to be aware of the local weather forecasts.

SPRING – Springtime in the mountains is a transitional period and very unpredictable. Winter weather can linger long after trees are greening up in the lowlands. Sunny skies can be followed quickly by cold fronts and snowy conditions. Afternoon rain showers are common. Below-freezing temperatures are still common throughout March and into mid April.

SUMMER – Summer is hot and humid as it is in most of the southeastern United States, but it is much more pleasant in the higher elevations. July and August high temperatures are typically in the 80s at mid to high elevations, warmer at the lower elevations. The summer temperatures can be considerably cooler at times and many times you will be glad to have a light jacket. Afternoon showers and thunderstorms are common and can move in quickly.

FALL – Warm days and cool nights are the normal conditions, with frost common at high elevations beginning in late September. By the time leaf color has peaked in late October, expect high temperatures to sometimes remain in the 50s and 60s. Freezing temperatures and snow are a possibility beginning in November.

WINTER – Extreme winter weather can occur here, with wind, ice and snow occuring even when the Piedmont has pleasant conditions. Always be prepared for fast-approaching winter weather conditions and expect parts of the road to be closed due to ice and snow.

SHOWY BLOOMS

A Quick Guide to some flowers & shrubs on the Parkway

Shrubs

Catawba Rhododendron
(Rhododendron catawbiense):
A medium shrub with pink to purple flowers growing above 3000 feet on exposed ridges.
June – Early July

Rosebay Rhododendron
(Rhododendron maximum):
also called White Rhododendron: A large shrub with white to pink flowers, over a wide range of elevations.
June – July

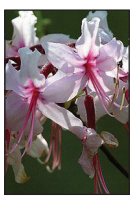

Flame Azalea
(Rhododendron calendulaceum):
A medium shrub with bright orange to red flowers. Azaleas are in the rhododendron family.
June – July

Wild Hydrangea
(Hydrangea arborescens):
A medium shrub with large clusters of white flowers.
May – August

Mountain Laurel
(Kalmia latifolia):
A medium shrub with pink flowers.
June – July

Pinxter Flower
(Rhododendron nudiflorum):
A medium shrub with pink honeysuckle-like flowers, common at lower elevations.
April – May

Flowers

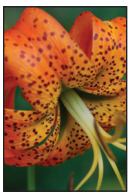

Fire Pink
(Silene virginica):
This 6-20 inch plant has bright red flowers up to 1-1/2 inches wide.
April – June

Goat's Beard
(Aruncus dioicus):
3-5 feet tall with flower plumes 3-5 inches wide and 6-10 inches long.
May – June

Bluets
(Houstonia species):
3-6 inches tall with many small 4-petal flowers, light to dark blue. Bluets sometimes grow in large beds.
May-August

Turks-Cap Lily
(Lilium superbum):
6 to 10 ft tall with flowers 2-4" wide with a green star at center. The Carolina Lily (L. michauxii) is similar but lacks the green star & bears fewer flowers. July-August

White Trillium
(Trillium grandiflorum):
The largest of several trilliums found along the Parkway, grows to about 15 inches. Trilliums have 3 leaves and a single 3-petal flower.
April – May

Bee Balm
(Monarda didyma also called Oswego Tea):
2-5 feet tall with bright red 2-inch flowers. Wild Bergamot is similar but pink.
July – August

OTHER COMMON FLOWERS

Birdfoot Violet - (Viola pedata) 4-10 inches tall, bluish-purple flower. March — June
Columbine - (Aquilegia canadensis) about 2 feet tall, nodding red and yellow flower. June — July
Sun Drops - (Oenothera fruticosa) 1-2 feet tall, yellow 4-petal flower. June — July
Evening Primrose - (Oenothera biennis) 3-5 feet tall, yellow 4-petal flower. June — July
Phlox - (Phlox species) 2-6 feet tall, magenta-pink flowers. July — October
Touch-me-not - (Impatiens species) 3-6 feet tall, nodding yellow or orange flower. July — August
Tall Bellflower - (Campanula americana) 2-6 feet tall, blue, 5-petal flower. July — August
White Snakeroot - (Eupatorium rugosum) 3-5 feet tall, bright white flower heads. July — Sept
Dense Blazing Star - (Liatris spicata) 2-4 feet tall, rose-purple flowered spike. August — Sept
Goldenrod - (Solidago species) about 3 feet tall, golden-yellow spikes or plumes. August — Sept
Ox Eye Daisy - (Chrysanthemum leucanthemum) 1-3 feet tall; white petals, yellow center.
Black-Eyed Susan - (Rudbeckia hirta) 3-6 feet tall, yellow petals, black center.
Tall Coneflower - (Rudbeckia laciniata) 2-3 feet tall, drooping yellow petals, green center.
Coreopsis - (Coreopsis major) 2-3 feet tall, golden-yellow petals, green center.
Jerusalem Artichoke - (Helianthus tuberosus) 5-10 feet tall, yellow petals, yellow center.
Aster -(Aster species) 2-5 feet tall; many small flowers; blue, purple, or white petals.

THE BLACK BEAR

Be Bear Aware!

For many visitors, a Parkway trip is not complete without a glimpse of a mammal considered by many to be the very symbol of wildness, the Black bear (Ursus americanus). In both Virginia and North Carolina, bear populations are healthy and stable – a great natural history success story. Much of the reason for their stable population is due to your responsible actions.

Seeing a bear is exciting and the highlight of any visit to a National Park. These encounters are better if they are memorable for good reasons rather than bad ones. You can help protect these bears by being "Bear Aware!"

For Your Safety and Theirs

- Stay at least 50 yards away. If a bear's behavior changes when it sees you, you are too close!
- Stay in your vehicle when viewing bears along the roadside.
- Remember that "a fed bear will become a dead bear". Carry out or dispose of your trash properly. Don't be responsible for giving bears their first taste of human food. Our food is not part of a bear's healthy, natural diet.
- If a bear approaches you, it is demanding more space. Don't run, but slowly back away, watching the bear. Increase the distance between you and the bear. The bear will probably do the same.

How Do You Compare to a Black Bear?

- SMELL Bears have a sense of smell that is more than seven times better than a bloodhound's! In fact, scientists believe that bears have the best sense of smell of any land mammal.
- HEARING A bear's hearing is over twice as sensitive as a human's and exceeds the frequency range humans can hear.
- VISION Bears have color vision.
- SPEED Think that you can outrun a bear? Think again. Bears can run 30 miles per hour—faster than the world record 100 meter sprinter! Bears are also good tree climbers and can swim very well.
- INTELLIGENCE Bears have large brains compared to body size. They have excellent long-term memory.

Watch for Elk crossing at southern entrance to Parkway in Cherokee.

Elk – The New Big Guy in Town

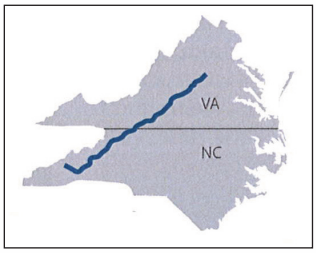

Elk once roamed the southern Appalachians, but were eliminated from this area in the late 1700s by over-hunting and habitat loss. Reintroduced to nearby Great Smoky Mountains National Park in 2002, elk can now be found on the southern end of the parkway.

Elk are large animals—much larger than black bears. Adult males, known as "bulls", can weigh 700 pounds. Females are called "cows" and average 500 pounds. Adults are 7-10 feet long from nose to tail, and up to 5 feet tall at the shoulder.

These imposing creatures are an increasingly common site on the parkway's southernmost stretches. If you see an elk while traveling the Parkway stay in your vehicle and do not approach them. These wild animals deserve their space and your respect for their safety and yours. Elk can become aggressive, particularly in the fall which is their mating season.

BIODIVERSITY AND THE BLUE RIDGE

More than just a road

Blue Ridge Parkway stretches 469 miles

The Blue Ridge Parkway is so much more than just a road. In fact, the extraordinary number and variety of living organisms found on the Parkway is one of its most unique and least understood resources.

What contributes to this variety? The species variety found in these mountains, referred to as biodiversity, is the result of the varied ecosystems or habitats found here. The temperate climate found in the Appalachian Mountains combined with elevations ranging from 610 ft at James River to 6053 ft at Richland Balsam and the 469 mile geographic span of the Parkway make for remarkably diverse habitats.

By the Numbers*:

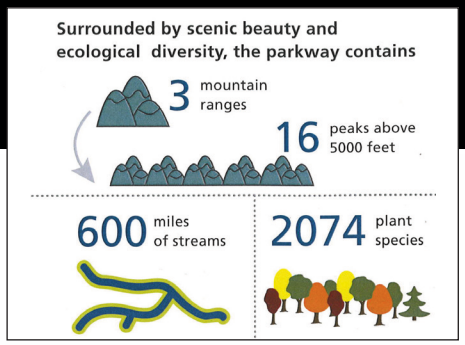

Blue Ridge Parkway	3071 species
Grand Canyon NP	2633 species
Yosemite NP	1965 species
Yellowstone NP	2042 species

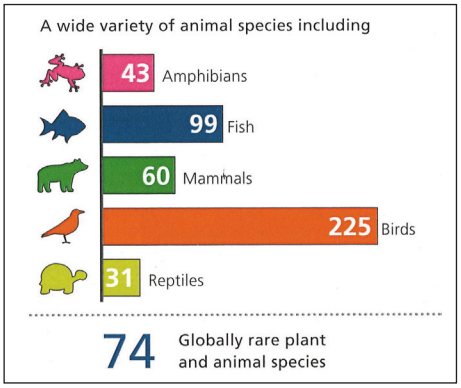

The habitats vary so widely that plants growing on a mountain summit at the park's northern end may be quite different from those on a summit at the southern end. Some of these habitats are exceptionally rare.

Rock outcrops at high elevations contain a fragile group of alpine species that were pushed southward during glacial times and eventually left stranded on the southern mountains.

Grassy balds are treeless grassy meadows that occur on select ridgetops in the southern Appalachian Mountains. These meadows, once grazed by native animals such as bison and elk in centuries past, are now maintained by park biologists to preserve the unique habitat they provide.

It may be thought of by many as just a road, linking Shenandoah and the Great Smokies but without a doubt, the Blue Ridge is one of the most diverse places on earth.

You can help biologists continue to discover the amazing diversity of life found in nature by becoming a "citizen scientist." As an amateur scientist, you can help count and record useful information that can add to the numbers of plant and animal species found here and in your community.

 information provided by NPSpecies Checklist*

Keep it wild

- The best diet for all animals is a natural one. Human food can make any wild animal sick. The digestive system of a white tail deer, common around campgrounds and picnic areas, only breaks down the natural food sources including twigs, bark, leaves, grasses and acorns. Wild animals like the taste of human food, but for their safety and health, do not feed them.
- Rabies can be transmitted by most wild animals. Animals in the park should not be treated as pets or lured close enough to feed or touch. If a wild animal approaches you, it could be a sign of serious illness. Please tell a Ranger.
- Many of the Parkway's rare and endangered plants are threatened by foot traffic. Whether rare plants are present or not, please stay on the trail - if for no other reason than to protect all plants and to prevent erosion.
- All plants on the Parkway are protected. Many of our native wildflowers in the Blue Ridge are threatened by illegal harvesting. You can help stop this poaching - if you see anyone collecting plants on the Parkway, report it to a Ranger.

MORE THAN JUST A ROAD

Designing the Parkway

Unlike most national park areas, the Blue Ridge Parkway is a planned landscape – planned on a grand scale but also planned down to the smallest detail - in ways that most visitors do not notice at first glance.
The skills and genius of both landscape architects and engineers came together to create what is now often called "America's favorite drive" for the millions who have enjoyed this drive for almost eight decades.

The landscape architects and engineers who designed and built the Parkway thought of this project as more than just a road...but as a work of art.

Overall, the Parkway was "to reveal the charm and interest of the native American countryside" as the designers perceived that to be. Log cabins and barns, rail fences, and "pioneer ways" were looked upon much more favorably than some of the more modern influences that had already impacted American mountain living in the 1930s and 1940s. Broadly speaking, the road was to lie gently on the land, to blend into a protected corridor, and to give the impression that the park boundary extended to the horizon. Nothing in the view shed, as far as the eye could see, would spoil the travelers' experience. The Parkway and all of its associated structures, including its fences, guardrails, and even the stone-lined ditches, would be characterized by simplicity and informality in order to harmonize with the environment. In this respect, "All elements must compose" became the guiding principle of the project.

In contrast to the Skyline Drive in Shenandoah National Park, the Parkway was to offer a variety of viewing experiences. Routing the road along mountainsides, through plateaus, beside streams and through broad river valleys was intentional and are documented in the 830 original park land use maps. This variety, evident as one travels through the various sections of the Parkway, was considered the "spice" of the roadway by Stanley W. Abbot, one of the most important park visionaries, who was influenced by Frederick Law Olmsted, famous for co-designing New York City's Central Park.

Large parcels of land were acquired where visitors could camp, picnic, hike, or find overnight lodging. These areas took in the whole "scenic pictures," were thought of as wayside parks, and have become popular visitor destination areas. Traveling the Parkway continues to be a "ride-a-while, stop-a-while" experience fulfilling the intentions of the earliest visionaries and continue to inform present day park planners. The skills and genius of both landscape architects and engineers came together to create what is now often called "America's favorite drive" for the millions who have enjoyed this drive for more than eight decades.

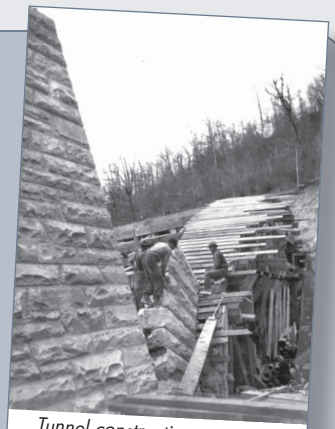

When construction of the Parkway began in 1935, the Blue Ridge and Southern Appalachian region had already been scarred by floods, fires, excessive logging, and the accompanying hillside erosion. The Parkway was, in many ways, a restoration project – to restore the land and restore the economy by providing jobs after the Great Depression of the 1930s.

Packing explosives while smoking a pipe, ca. 1935

Transplanting trees by the Civilian Conservation Corps, ca 1936

Tunnel construction ca 1935

Companies were required to hire as many unemployed local men as possible, often under quotas stated in their contracts. Thousands of trees and shrubs were planted to line the roadway. Although the stone masonry portals on most Parkway tunnels were not part of the original design, they were added later, mostly in the 1950s and 1960s, to maintain the harmonious look intended in the Parkway vision.

MANAGING PARKWAY VIEWS

More than Meets the Eye

Three Ridges Overlook in Virginia, before.

Three Ridges Overlook in Virginia, after.

Skilled arborists selectively restore designed vista.

Managing the scenic beauty of the Blue Ridge Parkway is a complex and important task. The Blue Ridge Parkway was designed to maximize scenic views and give visitors the impression that they are in a park with boundaries to the horizon. Today, the Parkway has some 500,000 acres of viewshed within 469 mile-long corridor.

Studies through the years consistently cite the primary purpose for visiting the Parkway is to enjoy outdoor recreation and view scenic beauty. As trees have grown over the years, views have been impacted and park visitors frequently communicate with park staff, partner groups, elected officials and others that because of this growth, their experience was diminished.

Park managers are working to identify potential vistas for restoration keeping in mind the original design intent of the Parkway, while also addressing natural resource protection in this biologically diverse park.

In recent years, neighboring communities and Parkway partner organizations have gotten involved and provide funding for vista restoration.

Several counties in North Carolina, including Haywood, Watauga, and Henderson County, donate funds through their Tourism Development Authorities. Additionally, the FRIENDS of the Blue Ridge Parkway and the Blue Ridge Parkway Foundation provide support for these important vista clearing projects. Donated funds are use to bring highly skilled arborists into the park to address the tallest trees (50-70 years of growth) at the bottom edge of an overgrown vista and have had remarkable success in revealing the spectacular views the Blue Ridge Parkway was designed to provide.

Effective management and conservation of one of the Parkway's signature features is a complex undertaking. Thankfully, with increased awareness of the issue and support from partners and communities, these successful projects will continue.

BLUE RIDGE PARKWAY
Protecting its future

Moses H. Cone Memorial Park, milepost 294, is a focus of restoration and rehabilitative efforts by the Foundation.

In 1997, the Blue Ridge Parkway Foundation started as a simple idea: Give people who love the awe-inspiring scenic route the opportunity to protect and guide its future. As the Foundation celebrates two decades of success, it continues to bring donors and volunteers together to support new projects and programs that will have a lasting impact on one of the nation's most visited national park units. Funding for our national parks continues to decline, threatening the abundant resources along the Blue Ridge Parkway, which draws more than 15 million recreational visitors each year, exceeding the number of visitors to Yellowstone, Yosemite, and Grand Canyon National Parks combined.

Caught on camera: Over the past few years, more than 50 motion-activated wildlife cameras were purchased with donated funds. Images, like this one, of mammals, birds, and insects in their natural environment help inform park biologists.

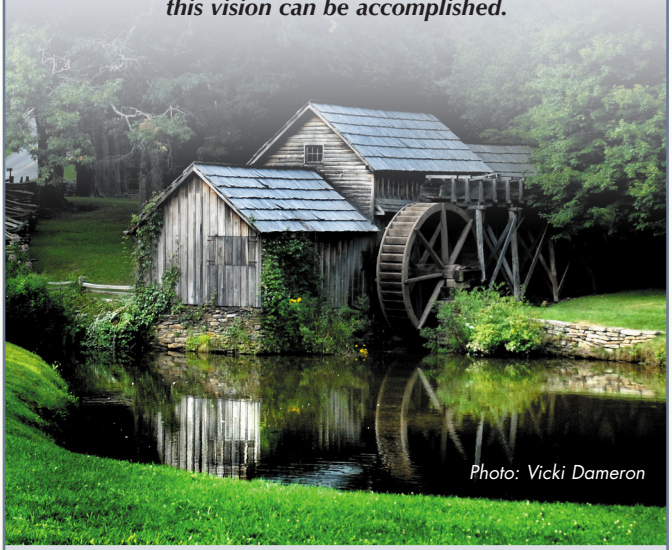

For more than 20 years, the Foundation has grown into a dedicated Community of Stewards made up of individuals, businesses, and organizations that are committed to ensuring the Blue Ridge Parkway remains a place of abundant outdoor recreational opportunities, a vibrant and sustaining habitat for flora and fauna, a touchstone to mountain history, an economic engine for neighboring communities, and most of all, America's Favorite Drive.

The Blue Ridge Parkway Foundation's Community of Stewards has invested more than $14 million to:

- Protect natural resources through wildlife surveys, trail repairs, environmental studies, training for rangers, and more.
- Expand education and outreach by introducing young park stewards to the outdoors through the Kids in Parks program, update museum and visitor center exhibits, fund youth conservation crews, engage in citizen science projects, and more.
- Preserve history and culture by placing Moses H. Cone Memorial Park on the National Register of Historic Places, support musical programming at the Blue Ridge Music Center, restoration projects at Mabry Mill, Humpback Rocks, Peaks of Otter, and more.
- Enhance visitor amenities and experiences at stops up and down the Parkway, including Peaks of Otter, Graveyard Fields, Price Lake, Linville Falls, Craggy Gardens, and many more locations.

As the Blue Ridge Parkway Foundation embarks on its third decade, it is calling on every visitor to consider how extraordinary this journey is and make a commitment to protect it for future generations to enjoy.

Through gifts, feedback, and ideas, this vision can be accomplished.

Generous donations to the Blue Ridge Parkway Foundation funded the replacement of the waterwheel at Mabry Mill, milepost 176, helping to retain the historic landscape at this popular site.

HOW YOU CAN HELP

Join the National Park Service team!

Volunteer services, internships and a variety of partnerships have become an essential and effective means for the National Park Service to fulfill parts of our mission and foster a shared sense of stewardship that is so crucial for our future.

If you are a student looking for a meaningful internship or someone with extra time who'd like to volunteer, you can make a difference by bringing your unique experience, background, interest and perspective to our work.

There are thousands of opportunities for high school, college, and graduate school students to work alongside National Park Service staff to explore potential careers, gain valuable job experience, fulfill college requirements, and learn new skills. Many internships are filled at the park level so contact the park that interests you - - but others are advertised and recruited nationally by the National Park Service or in partnership with several national organizations.

For more information about volunteering www.nps.gov/blri/getinvolved/volunteer.htm

In addition, the Volunteers-In-Parks (VIP) Program at Blue Ridge Parkway works to preserve the cultural heritage, history, and natural resources of the Parkway region by helping to provide visitor services, education, interpretation, and resource protection programs and activities.

We welcome the interest and involvement of all generations who will help us care for our nation's environment and preserve her history.

Go to www.nps.gov/aboutus/jobsforstudents.htm

"A Community of Stewards"

BRPFoundation.org

The Blue Ridge Parkway is no ordinary road. With rich Appalachian culture, stunning landscapes, and outdoor adventures from beginning to end, this exceptional journey connects us to the natural wonders and enriching heritage of our mountains.

Maintaining the ribbon of road, overlooks, forests, trails, historic sites, and more requires steady commitment, ample resources, and on-the-ground work. Unlike many popular National Parks, the Parkway receives no income from entrance fees. By supporting the Blue Ridge Parkway Foundation, you play a role in sustaining and nurturing this national treasure. Without you, many of the resources, amenities, and services often taken for granted would vanish. Whether your interests are in education, environmental and resource protection, visitor amenities, or cultural heritage, you can join the thousands of others who understand the importance of preserving this route that forever ties us to the grandeur and rich history of the Blue Ridge Mountains. Visit BRPFoundation.org to become a member of our Community of Stewards.

"Discover Your Journey. Then Help Protect It."

PARKWAY PARTNERS

The first National Park Service Director Stephen T. Mather said "establishment of parks is not enough, what is needed are more people who will take the time to gain a better understanding of the important issues facing our National Parks."

Increasingly, partnerships are essential and effective means for the National Park Service to fulfill parts of our mission and foster a shared sense of stewardship. Stephen Mather knew that building public support for a fledgling National Park System was crucial for its future.

Fortunately, many nonprofit partner groups now work hand-in-hand with the Blue Ridge Parkway. While these organizations have differing missions, they share an overarching goal: to preserve and enhance the national treasure that is the Blue Ridge Parkway.

About the THE BLUE RIDGE PARKWAY

The Blue Ridge Parkway is a scenic highway connecting Shenandoah National Park and Skyline Drive in Virginia with the Great Smoky Mountains National Park in North Carolina and Tennessee. Traversing Virginia and western North Carolina, the Parkway encompasses a 469-mile drive through many areas of natural and cultural significance.

The majority of the Parkway in Virginia runs through the George Washington and Jefferson National Forests, along mountain crests into the Pisgah and Nantahala National Forests in North Carolina. This National Scenic Byway is a two-lane road with a maximum speed limit of 45 mph. For those who enjoy road trips and nature, traveling the Parkway is not to be missed.

A Parkway trip can be the opposite of hectic daily life. People are busy, inundated with information and connected as much as possible. We often rely on secondary sources rather than personal experiences. A Parkway experience defies much of this. Slow and relaxed, the Parkway provides sunshine, mountain gusts and up-close views of the Blue Ridge region.

You will hug the crest of the world's oldest mountain range as you wind through the coves and forest slopes of southern Appalachia. The breathtaking views stamp an unforgettable impression on your mind.

It has been said, "Too many places we see in America today look like too many places we see in America today." Interstates, cities and subdivisions can look alike no matter where you are. But America's National Parks are each unique, with remarkable experiences unattainable anywhere else.

The landscapes along the Virginia portion of the Parkway differ from those in North Carolina. A glimpse of traditional early days of settlement is visible in Virginia, with recreated farms near Humpback Rocks and Mabry Mill further south. In North Carolina, Linville Falls and the Cradle of Forestry highlight mountain forests and natural wonders.

In addition to stops along the Parkway, the road runs near historic towns from top to bottom for accessing the areas' heritage and culture. The Blue Ridge Parkway Headquarters are located in Asheville, N.C. – a city well loved by literary figures Carl Sandburg, Thomas Wolfe and F. Scott Fitzgerald. Exploration of their homes and haunts presents an interesting side trip.

The Parkway inspires pride, appreciation and responsibility. Whether enjoying an afternoon drive or visiting for the first time, pride is important to protecting the Parkway. Appreciation may be found in the streams, trails, wildlife, historic structures, cool air, vistas or absolute serenity. Responsibility lies in the stewardship required of all visitors to National Park sites. This place can only stay as we know it with community, regional and individual help. Whatever your Parkway experience, respect other visitors and wildlife and keep to the trails to enjoy all of it.

The Park holds more than 500 miles of trails, including 101 miles of the Appalachian Trail. Trails may follow a ridge crest, or they may lead to high places with panoramic views or to waterfalls in deep canyons.

SHENANDOAH NATIONAL PARK

AMERICA'S BYWAYS™

Shenandoah National Park lies astride a beautiful section of the Blue Ridge Mountains, which form the eastern rampart of the Appalachian Mountains between Pennsylvania and Georgia. The Shenandoah River flows through the valley to the west, with Massanutten Mountain, 40 miles long, standing between the river's north and south forks. The rolling Piedmont country lies to the east of the Park. Skyline Drive, a 105-mile road that winds along the crest of the mountains through the length of the Park, provides vistas of the spectacular landscape to east and west. Many animals, including deer, black bears, and wild turkeys, flourish among the rich growth of an oak-hickory forest. In season, bushes and wildflowers bloom along the Drive and trails and fill the open spaces. Apple trees, stone foundations, and cemeteries are reminders of the families who once called this place home. Shenandoah National Park has many stories waiting to be told, and a world of beauty that can renew and bring peace to the spirit.

Facilities and Services

Includes visitor centers, bookstores, campgrounds, showers and laundries, picnic areas, gift shops, lodges, cabins, restaurants, gas station, ATMs, waysides, campstores, a stable, & restrooms.

ACTIVITIES AND EVENTS

Visitors can participate in Ranger-guided activities, view audio-visual programs or exhibits at visitor centers, enjoy the panoramic views from overlooks, hike to peaks and waterfalls, fish or just plain relax in the peaceful surroundings.

Continuing a tradition set by George Freeman Pollock, who founded a resort at Skyland long before Shenandoah National Park was established, Delaware North at Shenandoah National Park, the Park's concessioner offers a variety of activities for visitors in spring, summer, and fall, providing a terrific way to have fun and learn more about the Park's history and wildlife as well as regional arts, music, and crafts. For a calendar of events visit the concessioner's website at www.goshenandoah.com

A LITTLE HISTORY

In 1926, U.S. Congress authorized creation of Shenandoah National Park. Today nearly 200,000 acres of eastern deciduous forest are a sanctuary for more than 100 varieties of trees, 200 bird species, and 1,100 flowering plants.

Private lands were purchased by the Commonwealth of Virginia. On December 26, 1935, Virginia gave the deeds to the Federal Government, formally establishing the Park. In 1936, Shenandoah was dedicated by President Franklin D. Roosevelt for the recreation and re-creation found here.

Visit Shenandoah and step back in time. Over 400 buildings and structures within the Skyline Drive Historic District are listed on the National Register of Historic Places as being nationally significant for their architecture and association with the history of the 1920s and 1930s.

Today, approximately 1.4 million visitors come to Shenandoah each year. It is our hope that this park, created as a peaceful refuge for nearby urban populations, will continue to offer relaxation, recreation, and inspiration for many generations to come.

HUMPBACK ROCKS

Milepost 5

Travelers heading south from Rockfish Gap experience a scenic drive through a mountain forest interspersed with agricultural lands. Climbing and descending ridge tops and gaps offers magnificent views of the Shenandoah Valley to the west and Rockfish Valley to the east, along with the flora and fauna of Appalachian hardwood forests. This is a region that was once cleared for agriculture, trade routes, timber harvesting, and subsistence living. Now it supports mature forests, designated wilderness, US Forest Service lands, and the return of many species of wildlife not seen in years.

Humpback Rocks at Milepost 5.8 is perhaps the best representation of the varied combination of natural and cultural resources anywhere along the Parkway corridor. The prominent rock outcrop was a landmark guiding wagon trains over the Howardsville Turnpike in the 1840s. A portion of the historic trace still exists. This was a major route across the narrow Blue Ridge until railroads came through the mountain gaps. The view from "the rocks" is spectacular any time of the year.

Adjacent to NPS Humpback Rocks Visitor Center, an outdoor farm museum is surrounded by nearly 3,000 acres of predominantly forested lands. Early Parkway designers collected buildings from nearby and assembled them here in an arrangement that allows for an easy stroll along the pathway. The farm museum consists of a single-room log cabin and a series of outbuildings that represent elements of regional architecture of the late nineteenth century. Costumed interpreters provide demonstrations seasonally, including weaving, basket making and gardening. Interpretation focuses on and emphasizes the generalized life styles of subsistence farmers.

A visit to Humpback Rocks will help travelers better understand the difficulties and advantages associated with farming and living in these mountains and get a sense of how transportation routes across the mountains linked residents and communities in the region. Participate in "hands on" cultural demonstrations depicting domestic and farm chores including gardening and music.

Perfectly situated where Skyline Drive, the Blue Ridge Parkway, and Appalachian Trail meet, Waynesboro, VA, offers travelers a getaway as relaxing or adventurous as their tastes.

The South River, one of two urban trout fisheries in the state, flows through downtown providing the opportunity to catch trophy-size rainbow and brown trout. Historic downtown boasts trendy restaurants, coffee shops, art galleries, and museums. The vaudeville-era Wayne Theatre attracts national acts as well as house-produced theater. Tempt your tastebuds at three craft breweries located on the Shenandoah Beerwerks Trail or sample the many flavors of kombucha at Blue Ridge Bucha's taproom.

Some of Virginia's best hiking is at Waynesboro's back door. The one-mile hike up Humpback Rocks, with breathtaking views of both the Shenandoah and Rockfish valleys, is one of the most popular hikes on the Parkway.

Milepost 86

Visitors to the Peaks of Otter gain a sense of both the history of community and the history of tourism in the Blue Ridge Mountains of Virginia. The community had its beginning in 1766 when Thomas Wood settled here from Pennsylvania. By the mid 1800s, there were twenty families, a school, and a church integrated into the business of tourism, providing food and labor for a large resort hotel.

Polly Woods' early tavern or "ordinary" provided the basic necessities for travelers as early as 1840 and is preserved at the Peaks of Otter as well. Visitors will get a sense that many of the things attracting them to the Peaks of Otter today have attracted visitors for centuries. Prominent historical figures such as Thomas Jefferson and Robert E. Lee have visited or written about the Peaks of Otter, signifying its importance as a natural landmark in Virginia's Blue Ridge.

The Johnson Farm provides opportunities for insight into community life in the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries, with hands on living history demonstrations that convey a sense of visiting an occupied family home. The farmhouse is perhaps the Parkway's best example of a log cabin home that was enlarged over time, clap boarded and otherwise modified to reflect the evolution and development of Appalachian homes. The Johnson farm represents what may be thought of as "middle class" life in the mountains, providing a significant contrast to log homes selectively preserved by Parkway planners, and breaking down the stereotypes often associated with mountain residents.

Natural history also abounds at the Peaks of Otter, an area that is representative of the hardwood forests common along the mid range elevations of the Parkway. The area is also home to rare plants and animal species and an extensive trail system offers visitors access to these areas. A hike to the top of Sharp Top, one of the three "peaks", along with Flat Top and Harkening Hill, is a long standing tradition dating back over a century. Overnight lodging and food service makes the Peaks especially attractive.

What attracts visitors today, abundant wildlife, the high mountains, cool summer temperatures, and diversity of natural resources, have made the Peaks of Otter a hunting destination for humans for 10,000 years and a destination for travelers for centuries. Newly developed exhibits in the visitor center convey this in more detail.

Virginia's Franklin County is a vibrant confluence of gateways. It's your gateway to landscapes, world-class outdoor recreation and incredible touchstones of Appalachian music and history. We are your gateway to Virginia's mountains, a gateway to the Crooked Road: Virginia's Heritage Music Trail, as well as Virginia's Rail Heritage Region.

Plug into the vibrancy of Smith Mountain Lake or quite literally unplug to the serene essence of Philpott Lake. Music lovers will be acoustically touched by the quality of the Harvester Performance Center in Rocky Mount.

While known as the "Moonshine Capital of the World" during the Great Moonshine Conspiracy Trial of 1935, there's much more to the area's history. Experience regional heritage at the Blue Ridge Institute & Museum. Agriculture is highlighted at Booker T. Washington National Monument, birthplace of America's prominent African American educator and orator.

Running on Floyd Time… Floyd is as much a state of mind as it is a destination.

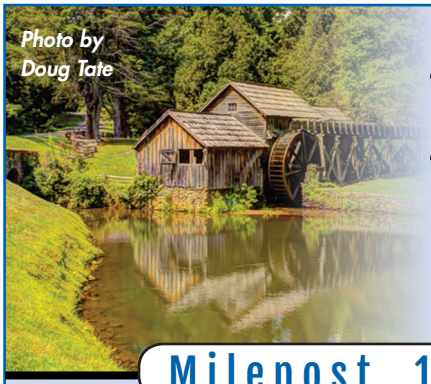

Floyd County is a haven of natural beauty renowned for our hospitality and for a vibrant culture of music, arts, local foods, wines and spirits, and outdoor adventure.

Along our 40 miles of the Blue Ridge Parkway, explore the historic Mabry Mill, Rocky Knob, Smartview, and Rock Castle Gorge National Recreation Area.

At Milepost 165, head to the Town of Floyd, a key stop on The Crooked Road, Virginia's Heritage Music Trail – with our celebrated Friday Night Jamboree when streets overflow with musicians. Also enjoy live music from Thursday to Sunday.

Shop, dine, wine, explore at venues throughout the county. Hike to the panoramic view atop Buffalo Mountain Natural Area Preserve or kayak along the Little River. Let our history take you back to a simpler time of old mills and stone churches. You just may need to stay awhile – and a variety of unique lodging awaits you.

The colorful Town of Floyd is 6 miles east of the Parkway. Take VA 8 at Milepost 165.

MABRY MILL & ROCKY KNOB

Milepost 176.2

The cultural sites, facilities, and adjacent farms throughout the Rocky Knob area speak of a settled and ancient landscape. Farming has been a way of life in this part of Virginia for generations, and continues here where a drive off the Parkway into crossroads communities will demonstrate. You will also be rewarded with great views as well!

Travelers see the daily patterns of life on the high plateau at Puckett's Cabin, and, of course, at Mabry Mill. The Parkway has played a significant role in influencing change in the area. Seeing how people have interacted with the landscape over time is fascinating for those who slow down and experience the pace of life on or off the Parkway. The rural countryside experience is a delight, whether during the rosebay rhododendron bloom in late June, or during the fall harvest and foliage display along the plateau around mid-October.

Ed and Lizzy Mabry's gristmill is over a century old and graces the pages of countless calendars and postcards. It is arguably the most picturesque spot on the entire Blue Ridge Parkway. Ed built this mill and the Mabrys ground corn for their neighbors for three decades, creating a community gathering place for the folks who called Meadows of Dan home. Although the mill itself is the focal point of the area, visitors are reminded that Ed Mabry was talented in many other areas as well, adding a wheelwright shop, sawmill and blacksmith shop to his enterprise in addition to a two-story frame house. Parkway designers of the 1930s preferred the look of rustic cabins and dismantled the Mabry's home in favor of bringing in the Matthews' log cabin from nearby.

Cultural history demonstrations are offered in summer and fall. The sights and sounds of rural life in Appalachia, community, mountain industry, and the change from an agricultural to an industrial society resonate from this place on a regular basis during the summer season.

Rangers and volunteers staff Matthew's Cabin in the visitor season, often carding, spinning and making baskets while orienting visitors to the area. Blacksmith demonstrations are presented several days weekly in the blacksmith shop. On weekends in October, visitors delight at the sight and smells of apple butter made over an open fire. This is one of the most popular gathering places anywhere on the Parkway. Old time music has filled the air here for decades on Sunday afternoons. Flat-footing is encouraged!

A network of trails through the 3,500 acre Rock Castle Gorge, just a few miles north, offers access to some of the most botanically diverse areas of the Parkway. Trails into the Gorge are accessible from several points, including the Rocky Knob campground, located at Milepost 167.

Uncover Wytheville's rich history on display in the many museums including the birthplace of a First Lady. The outdoor recreation options, from mountain biking to motorcycling are endless. Experience a safari with exotic animals, sip delicious wines and craft beers, stroll through lavender gardens and a butterfly house or take in a Broadway style show at the dinner theatre. Unique shopping, distinctive restaurants and deluxe accommodations abound. The new downtown, revitalized with excitment, offers something for the whole family. Come be a part of the mountain fun in Wytheville… There's Only One!

Wytheville is located at the crossroads of interstates 77 & 81, just 30 minutes from the Fancy Gap entrance to the Blue Ridge Parkway.

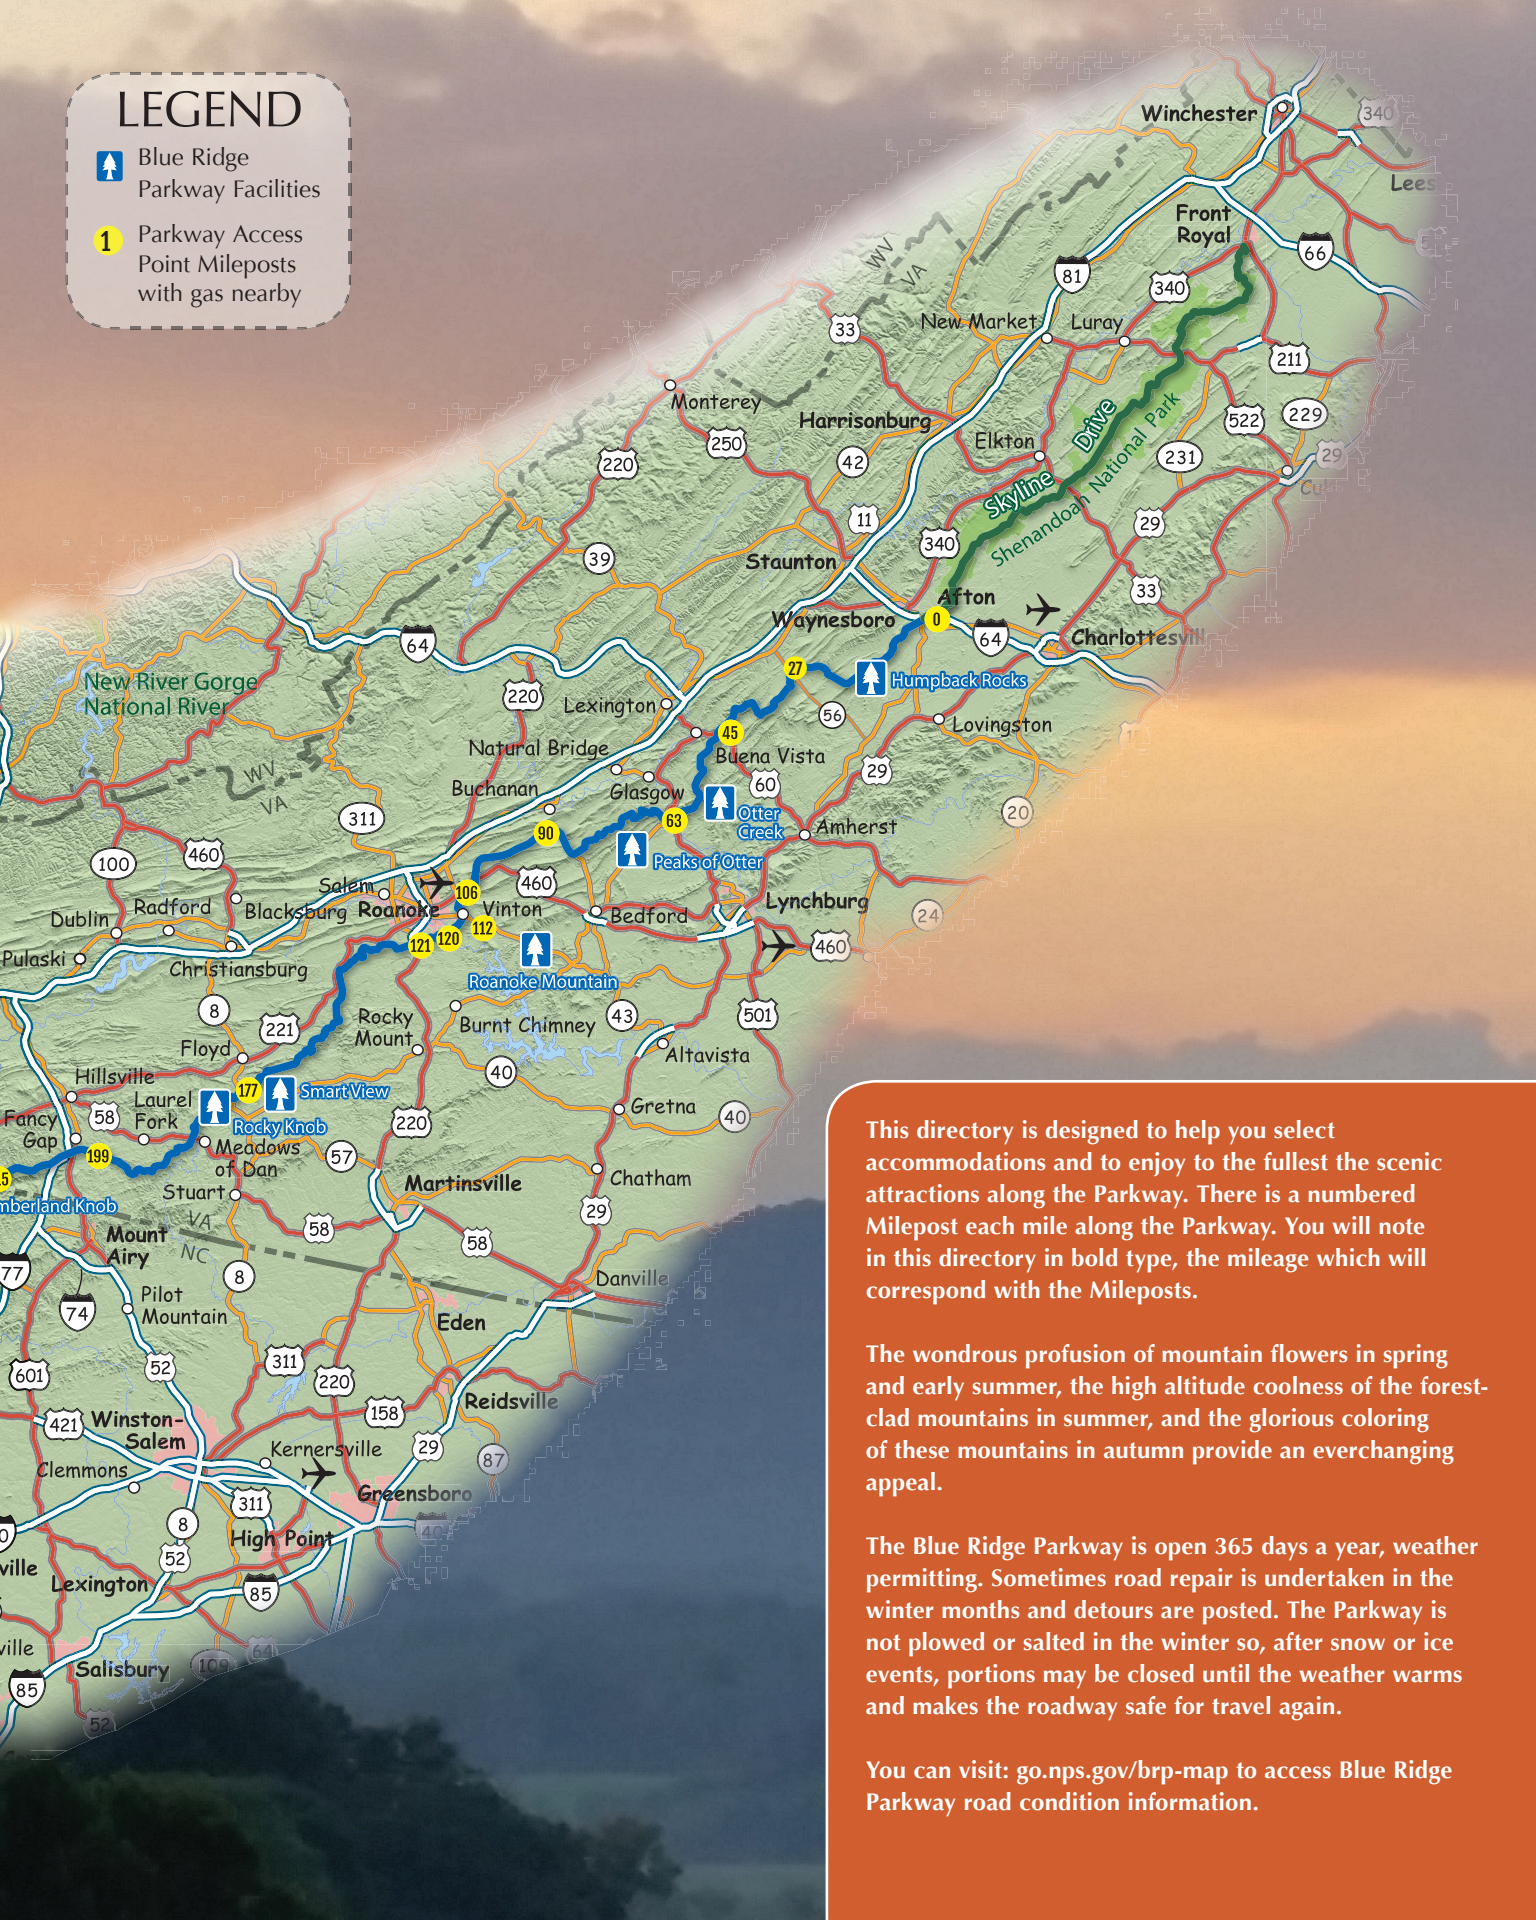

the Blue Ridge Parkway

The Blue Ridge Parkway is literally the "Backbone" of a great scenic mountain region embracing the Southern (and highest) portion of the Appalachian mountain range, an area of approximately 20,000 square miles. Opening up vast mountain areas for the benefit and enjoyment of all, the Parkway forms a broad avenue of approach, and at the same time a high balcony from which to view the natural wonders and cultural significance of this mountain region.

This great 469-mile scenic Parkway follows closely the highest ridges between the Shenandoah and the Great Smoky Mountains National Park, attaining altitudes of more than 6,000 feet and averaging between 3,000 and 4,000 feet. It is designed especially for leisurely enjoyment of the scenic wonders along the way—a high road of adventure intended for leisure travel on the ride-awhile, stop-awhile basis. The numerous overlooks provide parking areas from which to enjoy some of America's finest scenic views.

You may enter or leave the Parkway at any of the US or State highway intersections. These intersecting roads lead to scores of towns, mountain resorts, and scenic areas close to the Parkway on either side, where accommodations, meals and service stations are available. The ★ symbol on the 6 sectional maps will help you easily identify these Parkway entrances/exits. We have also shown on the six detailed section maps, the approximate location of every tenth Milepost.

This directory is designed to help you select accommodations and to enjoy to the fullest the scenic attractions along the Parkway. There is a numbered Milepost each mile along the Parkway. You will note in this directory in bold type, the mileage which will correspond with the Mileposts.

The wondrous profusion of mountain flowers in spring and early summer, the high altitude coolness of the forest-clad mountains in summer, and the glorious coloring of these mountains in autumn provide an everchanging appeal.

The Blue Ridge Parkway is open 365 days a year, weather permitting. Sometimes road repair is undertaken in the winter months and detours are posted. The Parkway is not plowed or salted in the winter so, after snow or ice events, portions may be closed until the weather warms and makes the roadway safe for travel again.

You can visit: go.nps.gov/brp-map to access Blue Ridge Parkway road condition information.

BLUE RIDGE MUSIC CENTER

The sounds of the fiddle, banjo, and guitar are likely to welcome you when you visit the Blue Ridge Music Center that straddles the North Carolina/ Virginia border. As part of Virginia's Heritage Music Trail:The Crooked Road and the Blue Ridge Music Trails of North Carolina, some of the region's finest traditional music can be heard on weekends at the outdoor amphitheater late May through October. Weekdays, visitors are welcome to a front porch experience with local musicians on the breezeway.

The Blue Ridge Music Center is managed cooperatively by the Blue Ridge Parkway and the Blue Ridge Parkway Foundation with a mission to share traditional music and the bounty of our mountains with visitors. Established by the U.S. Congress in 1985, the site includes an outdoor amphitheater, indoor theater, and interpretive center, and gift shop. The Roots of American Music exhibit gives insight to the history and culture of regional music traditions. Trails are accessible from the parking lot including a Kids in Parks TRACK Trail which offers a special hiking experience to children of all ages.

Music seems to be a natural part of these mountains – practically inseparable from those who call this special place home. Nowhere is that heritage felt more strongly than here on the banks of Chestnut Creek and in the shadow of Fisher Peak. The people of these mountains have created and kept alive some of the richest traditions of folk music and dance in our nation, much of it being commercially recorded in the 1920s and 1930s. The region is nationally recognized as a center of traditional Blue Ridge Music. Music here arises from diverse ethnic groups, European and African, and has evolved over generations into distinct styles with distinct identities. It reflects community, personal values, and cultural connections to the wider world.

Enjoy the music, the concerts, and the experience at the Blue Ridge Music Center, a place near to heart of America and its music.

CLAW OF THE DRAGON

Southwest Virginia's Premier Motorcycle Ride

Looping through the Blue Ridge Mountain range, the Claw of the Dragon is one of the most popular destinations in the South among motorcyclists. It ventures over to the community of Marion to the west and Galax to the east. The drive meanders through parts of seven Virginia counties but is easily accessible from I-77 or I-81 as a starting point. With the charming town of Wytheville, Virginia at the trail's center, this ride features loops totaling over 350 miles, including a challenging ride up Big Walker Mountain. As the 16-mile scenic byway makes it way to the top, you are immersed in the breathtaking flora and fauna of each season. At the top, riders can take a rest at Big Walker Lookout, climb the 100 foot tower, and enjoy the country store.

DOUGHTON PARK & BRINEGAR CABIN

Remote mountain places like the Doughton Park area were settled in the mid-to-late 1800s by growing families seeking more land by moving farther up the mountain creeks and valleys, while remaining close to relatives. In many other parts of the country people were rushing into the modern ways of the 20th century, while close-knit families–like the Brinegars, Caudills, Joines, Crouses and Pruitts–still raised most of their own food, built their own homes, and lived well into the 1900s without modern conveniences.

Today, Parkway visitors can experience the ruggedness and beauty of life here by hiking some of 30 miles of trails that meander through the meadows and climb the steep hillsides. At Brinegar cabin during the summer and fall, visitors can tour a demonstration garden, the cabin, and exhibits to learn how the Brinegar family made their own clothes from flax and sheep.

More than 30 miles of hiking trails meander through the park's pastures and along its streams. Hikers may encounter 25 stream crossings through ankle to knee-deep water. Visitors can stretch their legs on modest strolls or embark on more ambitious, day-long outings. Some trails may be strenuous.

MOSES H CONE MEMORIAL PARK

As unlikely as it sounds, blue jeans, farming and fine art largely define this country estate - turned Parkway recreation area. Moses Cone and his wife Bertha built what was then known as Flat Top Manor at the turn of the twentieth century. The son of a German Jewish immigrant who came to America as a peddler, Moses and his brother Caesar fashioned a textile empire, making them the leading producers of denim in the world. Visitors here will gain an understanding of the influence of this textile giant, and the role that the landscape architecture movement and country estate movement of the nineteenth century had on life in the Appalachian mountains.

In the 1890s and early 1900s, Cone fashioned this country place at Blowing Rock with its 23-room Colonial Revival mansion as a retreat from the rigors of his business empire and as a way to showcase his prosperity. He built approximately twenty five miles of well-planned and exquisitely maintained carriage roads and two lakes. On Flat Top Mountain and Rich Mountain he and Bertha raised cattle and sheep and planted tens of thousands of apple trees. Soon after Bertha's death, the family offered the property to the Parkway with the understanding that it would be operated as a "public park and pleasuring ground."

The manor and the entire estate has been designated as a historic district and is listed on the National Register of Historic Places. Carriage roads are popular for hiking, horseback riding and cross-country skiing, especially by residents of the Boone/ Blowing Rock area. During the summer and fall, National Park Service staff provides frequent tours of the house. The manor house is both a good starting point and a highlight of any visit. Browse the bookstore and the craft center, with its assortment of contemporary and traditional crafts. Craft demonstrations are offered frequently in the summer.

JULIAN PRICE MEMORIAL PARK

Julian Price purchased this land as a recreational retreat for his employees after establishing one of the nation's largest insurance companies. After his untimely death in 1946, his heirs left the land to the Blue Ridge Parkway as a memorial to a man who shared the natural beauty of the area with others.

Today, visitors see the rebirth of a hardwood forest on hillsides where lumber companies cut virgin tracts of hemlock, poplar, and chestnut in the early 20th century. According to some, it was the "best boundary of timber in Carolina." Julian Price Memorial Park contains 4,200 acres with elevations ranging from 3,400 feet to nearly 4,000 feet.

Price Park is a haven for relaxation and recreation with the 47-acre Price Lake as its focal point. Visitors enjoy one of the most popular and largest picnic areas on the Parkway, along with camping, boating and fishing on Price Lake, and ample opportunities to explore the mountains on hiking trails. Grandfather Mountain, at 5,946 feet, rises majestically nearby.

The wilderness appeal of forested highlands and cold mountain streams at Price Park welcomes those who want to enjoy the outdoors. The Green Knob Trail, Boone Fork Trail, and Price Lake Trail offer ample hiking opportunities. The Tanawha Trail, perhaps the crowning achievement of all Parkway trails, stretches 13.5 miles from Price Park to Beacon Heights, paralleling the Parkway and rising along the slopes of Grandfather Mountain. A trek along the Tanawha Trail crosses fragile habitats and ecosystems, tunnels through laurel and rhododendron thickets, and crosses many boulder fields and cascading streams.

Whether delighting in the calm waters while driving across the dam, camping, picnicking, or experiencing the Parkway by foot, most visitors will understand why Price Park is one of the most popular of all Parkway stops.

Milepost 304.4

LINN COVE VIADUCT

A seven mile unfinished section of the Blue Ridge Parkway was delayed for twenty years as environmentalists, adjacent landowners, engineers, and architects put their skills together on how to preserve the scenic and fragile environment on the slopes of Grandfather Mountain in North Carolina. The resulting Linn Cove Viaduct is a symbol of pride to landscape architects and engineers for its marriage of beauty with utility and habitat protection.

Visitors here will gain an appreciation for the relationship between the building of the Linn Cove Viaduct and the overall Parkway design and engineering, as well as its role in protecting the fragile habitat on Grandfather Mountain.

From the first explosion of colorful wildflowers in the spring to the refreshing coolness of summer to the fall extravaganza of color to the beauty of snow covered peaks in winter, each season provides the traveler with a completely different Parkway experience.

LINVILLE FALLS

The English botanist Mark Catesby observed, described, and sketched the natural world of the Blue Ridge for seven years in the eighteenth century. His particular interest was the extensive network of streams and rivers arising along the mountains and gathering volume and speed as they descended to the coastal plain and beyond.

"The larger rivers in Carolina and Virginia," he wrote, "have their sources in the Appalachian Mountains, generally springing from rocks, and forming cascades and waterfalls… uniting into single streams… innumerable brooks and rivulets, all which contribute to form and supply the large rivers." Here at Linville Falls, Catesby's descriptions become real for the Parkway visitor.

The Linville River flows from its beginning point high on the steep slopes of Grandfather Mountain and cascades through two falls as it begins a nearly 2,000 foot descent through a rugged and spectacularly beautiful gorge. The Cherokee knew this river as "Eeseeoh" or "river of cliffs," and a hike into the gorge leaves no doubt about the origin of the name.

Towering hemlocks, dense stands of rhododendron and native wildflowers grow along the trails that encircle the falls. Little wonder this is one of the Parkway's top destinations. And what awaits the visitor who hikes down from the visitor center at Linville? A forested gorge of virgin timber stands as pristine and primitive as in the days when only Native Americans called this place home. The aquatic and forest ecology and the unique geological stories told here make a visit special.

In the early days of Parkway planning, under the shade of a hemlock tree above the falls, philanthropist John D. Rockefeller was treated to a fine picnic lunch and convinced of the necessity of protecting this piece of Appalachian scenery. The lunch was spread out within earshot of sawmills that had already begun timbering the area. After some months of negotiations, Mr. Rockefeller agreed to "pick up the tab" for the Linville Falls property, ensuring protection for Parkway visitors today.

We may not immediately think of the Blue Ridge Parkway as a park rich in water resources. But from Native Americans to colonial botanists and 21st century tourists, the waterways and streams of the Blue Ridge have played a vital role in the overall ecology and unsurpassed beauty of our region. The Blue Ridge Parkway, like all national parks, is set aside to protect these special parts of our world.

Does the Blue Ridge Parkway Close for the Winter?

Visitors Encouraged to Plan for Upcoming Maintenance and Seasonal Weather Related Closures

(NC/VA) – Visitors to the Blue Ridge Parkway often ask when the Parkway closes for the winter. The Parkway motor road remains open, weather permitting, although most park facilities close seasonally. Temporary weather or maintenance related closures may impact Parkway travel during the winter months. An online interactive map was developed to help you keep up with the ever changing road conditions along the historic 469-mile route. The map allows visitors to zoom in on specific sections of the Parkway for up to the minute road closure information.

CRAGGY GARDENS

The name here is appropriate - Craggy Gardens. Twisted, jagged, rocky "crags" give the place its name, but these high elevation summits are home to the most spectacular floral display along the 469 mile Parkway corridor. For generations, visitors have headed for the Craggies in mid to late June, typically the prime time for viewing the pink and purple blooms of Catawba rhododendrons that blanket much of the area.

In addition to the "rhodies," the Craggies turn red in the fall with a spectacular show of mountain ash berries that can cast a scarlet glow over the entire area. The same species dominates parts of the highlands of Scotland as well and "craggy" is a term that many of the early settlers brought from their homeland to describe the rugged Blue Ridge.

High elevations such as Craggy Gardens yield an abundance of wildflowers and rare plants. From a distance, treeless areas such as the craggies appear bare and have become known as "balds." There are two types of appalachian balds... grassy and heath. The former are dominated by grasses, wildflowers and occasional members of the heath family. Heath balds are typically home to low growing rhododendron, mountain laurel, blueberries and flame Azalea. Although these balds are disappearing for reasons that are unclear, both can still be found at the craggies. Because of the presence of rare and endangered plants, easily damaged by careless hikers, please stay on the trails – for their safety and for your own!

Harsh weather can invade these exposed, high elevation ridgetops, resulting in the gnarled forests of twisted beech, birch, and buckeye. At 5,500 feet elevation, weather conditions here are severe. Strong winds, ice storms, and the short growing season dwarf and twist anything that dares to grow here.

With or without warning, severe weather can come to the Craggies, so always be prepared for colder temperatures and high winds.

WATERROCK KNOB

You've entered "high country" at the Parkway's southern end, and Waterrock Knob is one of the best examples of the rugged nature of the area. The Plott Balsam and Great Balsam ranges meet at Waterrock, rising in elevation to almost 6,400 feet. It is the second highest of all Parkway peaks and one of the highest in the eastern United States.

Waterrock Knob is known for its beautiful long range views of several major mountain chains in the Appalachians, including the Great Smoky Mountains, Pisgah Ridge, Nantahala, Cowee, and the Blue Ridge Ranges. With a nearly 360 degree vantage point, it is uniquely suited for viewing sunrises and sunsets, especially during the equinoxes in March and September.

The name Waterrock Knob comes from a spring located on the hillside at a place called "camp rock". Generations of explorers, hunters, and loggers have rested here and enjoyed the cool waters.

A small visitor center with interpretive displays introduces visitors to the area's rugged terrain and tremendous scenic qualities. Stories of black bear and elk are told here as well.

The 0.6 mile Waterrock Knob Trail takes you up to the summit, yielding even more spectacular views from the higher elevation.

The Natural Heritage of the Blue Ridge Mountains in North Carolina

An ancient mountain landscape, varied topography, and a temperate climate have given rise to a wonderland of natural heritage in Western North Carolina. The Blue Ridge Mountains have been a place of inspiration for Native Americans, artists, musicians, writers, doctors, entrepreneurs and many others throughout history.

As a part of Appalachian history, the rich biodiversity makes the forests, rivers, plants, and wildlife here unique in many ways. It is the reason many people visit the Blue Ridge Mountains in NC and never leave. The natural beauty and heritage in the area make the NC mountains unforgettable for visitors and residents alike.

Great Smoky Mountains National Park

The Great Smoky Mountains National Park, located in the states of North Carolina and Tennessee, encompasses 815 square miles of which 95 percent are forested. World renowned for the diversity of its plant and animal resources, the beauty of its ancient mountains, the quality of its remnants of southern Appalachian mountain culture, and the depth and integrity of the wilderness sanctuary within its boundaries, it is one of the largest protected areas in the East. The park is open year-round. Visitor centers at Sugarlands, Oconaluftee, and Cades Cove are open all year, except December 25. There is no entrance fee due to restrictions in deeds that transferred state highways to the Park.

What to See and Do - Much of what the Smokies offers, including wildflowers, flowering trees, colorful fall foliage, mountain vistas, and historic buildings can be seen from your car. There are abundant opportunities for hiking, bicycling, and camping in the Park.

Cable Mill in Cades Cove - Open from late March - late November: 9:00-5:00. Located inside the park near the mid-point of the 11-mile, one-way Cades Cove Loop Rd. Exhibits - Water-powered grist mill.

Mingus Mill - Open From mid April - Late November: 9:00-5:00. Located inside the park, 2 miles north of Cherokee, NC, on US 441. Exhibits - Turbine-powered grist mill.

Camping - Reservations can be made at www.recreation.gov or (877) 444-6777.

Horse Camps - Open seasonally April - October. The reservations for both the horse camps and front country camping are made at www.recreation.gov or (877) 444-6777.

Ridge upon ridge of endless forest straddling the border between North Carolina and Tennessee, Great Smoky Mountains National Park is one of the largest protected areas in the Eastern United States and attracts over nine million visitors each year.

A part of the Cherokee homeland, the Smokies is a hiker's paradise with over 800 miles of trails.

VISITOR CENTERS

(Open all year, with varying seasonal hours)

- Cades Cove Visitor Center - Located inside the park near the mid-point of the 11-mile, one-way Cades Cove Loop Road.

Elevations in the park range from 800 feet to 6,643 feet and topography affects local weather. Temperatures are 10 to 15 degrees cooler on the mountaintops.

- Spring brings unpredictable weather, particularly in higher elevations. Snow may fall in March, but by May daytime highs often reach the 80s. Nighttime temperatures vary from below freezing in March to the 50s in May. Rainfall is common during the season.

- Summer is hot and humid, but more pleasant in higher elevations. July and August highs reach the 80s and 90s. Evening lows are in the 60s and 70s. Afternoon showers and thunderstorms are common.

- Fall has warm days and cool nights and is the driest period. Frosts occur starting in late September. Daytime highs are in the 70s and 80s during September, falling to the 50s and 60s in early November. By November, nighttime lows are usually near freezing and snow is possible.

- Winter is generally moderate, but extreme conditions can occur. It is not unusual to have warm temperatures in the low elevations and snow in the higher areas. Half the days in the winter have high temperatures of 50 degrees or more. Nighttime lows are normally at or below freezing, but can drop to -20°F at high elevation. In the lowlands, snows of 1" or more occur 1-5 times a year.

Your adventure begins by taking the Blue Ridge Parkway to the southern gateway of Great Smoky Mountains National Park, where you'll find it drops you right into Cherokee. There, with your curiosity about ancient cultures close at hand, you'll discover hundreds of authentic ways to interact with the Cherokee people, their stories, and their history. And if you like stunning outdoor beauty, Cherokee has that to spare. From the Oconaluftee Indian Village to the Museum of the Cherokee Indian, to Qualla Arts and Crafts Mutual, Inc. and the outdoor drama, "Unto These Hills," an overnight stay in Cherokee leaves a lasting impression. Go to VisitCherokeeNC.com to create your personalized itinerary.

If you have high expectations for your next getaway, look no further than Bryson City - a small mountain town bordered by the Great Smoky Mountains National Park, Fontana Lake, and the Tuckasegee and Oconaluftee rivers.

Swain County has the highest peaks and some of the best rushing water in the Smokies, including Deep Creek's trio of waterfalls just outside Bryson City. Take a hike, a whitewater tube ride, fish for trout, have a picnic and splash in an old-fashioned "swimming hole."

From Nantahala River whitewater rafting, to world-class mountain biking, paddleboarding, zip-lines, scenic train rides, and drives along "The Dragon," Bryson City offers something for everyone.

After an active day, enjoy some downtime downtown with eclectic dining or a hometown brew. Stroll through the shops, galleries, and studios of local artisans. Unwind at one of our comfortable B&Bs, cabins, motels or resorts. And get ready for another day of fun in the Smokies.

A great vacation destination that includes a scenic drive on The Parkway, "America's Favorite Drive".

Nantahala Outdoor Center - At the intersection of the Appalachian Trail & the Nantahala River in the Blue Ridge Mountains. A mecca for outdoor enthusiasts since 1972, NOC's 500-acre campus boasts plenty of exciting adventures to keep your entire group happy & active, whether you spend a day or a week. Whitewater raft, zipline, mountain bike & hike, and explore Fontana Lake in a rental kayak or canoe. Between adventures, check out NOC's riverfront restaurants & retail stores, spend the night in a cozy trailside cabin, or discover another southeast river adventure with NOC, including rafting on the French Broad River in the Blue Ridge Mountains! www.noc.com (800) 232-7238.

FONTANA, NC

In the heart of the Smokies between Asheville & Knoxville.

Try zip lining (there are 14 courses in the area), indulge in down-home cooking, and spend time exploring historic downtown Sevierville.

While in Sevierville, be sure and see all things Dolly. Sevierville is Dolly Parton's hometown and many visitors stop for a photo with the singer's bronze statue in downtown Sevierville before making the five minute trip to her nearby Dollywood theme park, which offers award-winning rides, multiple live shows daily and traditional Appalachian arts, crafts and music.

From bucket-list worthy attractions like bi-plane flights and helicopter tours to fun-filled events and plenty of mountain moonshine, the possibilities are endless in Sevierville – and the best views are always yours. Explore our mountain town and create your own Sevierville story this year. Learn more at VisitSevierville.com.

Famous for its name brand outlet stores, flea markets, galleries and boutiques, Sevierville is known as the Shopping Capital of the Smokies.

blue ridge MUSIC TRAILS of North Carolina

The Blue Ridge Music Trails of North Carolina are nestled within the mountains and foothills of the state, a region known for its spectacular beauty, moderate climate, Cherokee heritage, handmade crafts, small family farms, and, of course, its rich musical traditions. The geographic footprint of the Blue Ridge Music Trails NC comprises twenty-nine counties in the western third of the state.

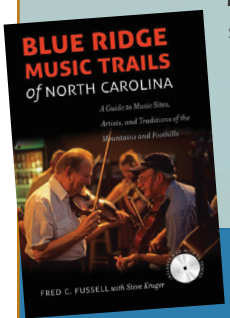

Western North Carolina has a national reputation as a music-rich region, and its traditions of old-time stringband music, ballad singing, and bluegrass are internationally renowned.

This region has been home to musicians whose artistry has shaped many forms of American music. Today young people in the region are learning these traditions and transforming them into new forms of roots music.

A popular guidebook, Blue Ridge Music Trails of North Carolina, was created by the North Carolina Arts Council and published by UNC Press. It is available in gift shops along the Parkway. The book gives details of the history of the music, profiles of many of the artists and places where the music can be experienced.

Appomattox Court House

Beginning Peace and Reunion

On Palm Sunday (April 9), 1865, Lee's surrender at Appomattox Court House, Virginia signaled the end of the Southern States attempt to create a separate nation. It set the stage for the emergence of an expanded and more powerful Federal government. In a sense the struggle over how much power the central government would hold had finally been settled.
