

WASHINGTON'S OLYMPIC PENINSULA WHERE WONDERS ABOUND...

Located in the heart of the Olympics, Sol Duc Hot Springs places you within a few hours of countless adventures in every direction.

To the east lie the mist-shrouded saw-tooth crags and icy blue glaciers of Hurricane Ridge. In beautiful Port Townsend, antique shopping and a tour of the many Victorian homes are a must. Further to the east... the excitement of Seattle.

Head west and you will find the rugged grandeur of the Washington coast... a beachcomber's paradise of panoramic views, sheltered bays and quaint lighthouses.

Go north and discover the beauty of Lake Crescent and the charm of Port Angeles. A short ferry crossing brings you to Victoria, steeped in colonial British tradition and considered one of the world's most beautiful cities.

Stretching southward, Olympic National Park, site of North America's only rain forest, provides unparalleled outdoor adventures in hiking, camping, mountaineering, river rafting, kayaking and horsepacking.

Nestled amid the breathtaking vistas of Olympic National Park,
Sol Duc Hot Springs
is a place of enchanting beauty and delightful discoveries...

The Quileute Indians called it 'Sol Duc'—a land of "sparkling water." When the first resort was built in 1912, ten thousand visitors a year came to take the waters. Today, the tradition continues. Sol Duc Hot Springs offers guests of all ages an experience unique in all the world...

Relax in the invigorating mineral pools.

Wander well-maintained Olympic National Park trails through old-growth forests of lacy ferns and 200-foot-tall Douglas Fir.

Pause in a flowered mountain meadow surrounded by lofty alpine peaks.

Marvel at the strength and beauty of the salmon as they battle their way up the cascades of the Soleduck River.

Dine in the pool-side restaurant on the chef-prepared fare of fresh local fish, meats, seasonal fruits and vegetables.

Fish for wild coho salmon, steelhead, native rainbow and cut-throat trout in the rivers and streams that dot the landscape.

Enjoy the captivating camp-fire-side talks given under the stars by Park Naturalists.

Original Hotel c. 1912

Originally conceived as a health spa in the European tradition, today, Sol Duc Hot Springs follows a western style of relaxed informality. What hasn't changed are the springs themselves.
