INDEX 357

INTRODUCTION

This appendix contains 358 maps which identify the primary route of the Oregon National Historic Trail, from Independence, Missouri, to Oregon City, Oregon. This primary route was selected in consultation with Oregon Trail experts throughout the western states. The selection of a primary route from the numerous routes and cutoffs used by Oregon Trail emigrants through the years was not an easy task, specifically in the high plains and range country, where emigrants were wont to spread out over the land in search of fresh grass, good water, and a dust-free trail. The main criteria used to select the primary route was the identification of the route most heavily used between the years 1841 and 1848.

In addition to identifying the primary route, these map sheets also show the location of Oregon Trail ruts which still exist along the trail, the locations of sites and segments discussed in the plan, and land ownership along the trail. This appendix should be used in conjunction with Appendix III, Significant Historic Sites and Segments.

The land ownership data contained herein is based chiefly on information provided by the BLM and USFS land ownership maps, and reflects the latest available data that those agencies were able to provide. Readers should note, however, that ownership of tracts of land of less than 40 acres are not usually shown on these maps. Trail users should check with the local office of the BLM or the USFS to avoid unintentional trespass, and must always obtain permission before crossing private lands.

Whenever possible, the Oregon National Historic Trail has been plotted on 7½' USGS topographic maps, which are the most accurate maps available. Some 15' maps were used, in portions of the country where 7½' maps are not available. The original maps, from which the following plates were made, will be kept in the office of the administrator of the Oregon National Historic Trail. The administrator will be responsible for updating the maps as necessary, as land ownership patterns change, as additional sites or segments are added or deleted from the trail system, and as future research causes changes in the alignment of the primary route of the Oregon National Historic Trail.

Although these maps are the result of many years of work on the part of many individuals and agencies, one specific citation is necessary. The late Paul Henderson, of Bridgeport, Nebraska, worked for many years on the Oregon Trail, both on his own and while in the employ of the Wyoming Recreation Commission. He painstakingly walked and plotted Oregon Trail and all of its alternate routes, connecting routes, and cutoffs, throughout the State of Wyoming and through most of western Nebraska. Mr. Henderson's pioneering work has made this portion of the Oregon Trail the best documented section of the trail today. Mrs. Helen Henderson, who assisted Paul in much of his research and travels, is thanked for providing access to his superb collection of maps.

☆ U.S. GOVERNMENT PRINTING OFFICE: 1983—676-031/103 Region No. 8

As the nation's principal conservation agency, the Department of the Interior has basic responsibilities to protect and conserve our land and water, energy and minerals, fish and wildlife, parks and recreation areas, and to ensure the wise use of all these resources. The department also has major responsibility for American Indian reservation communities and for people who live in island territories under U.S. administration.

Publication services were provided by the graphics staff of the Denver Service Center. NPS 1786
