Yosemite Valley Chapel (No. 580)

This board and batten, steep roofed building was erected in 1879 as a chapel. It was a simple structure, small in size and with a steeple. Since its building, the chapel has been enlarged with the addition of rear rooms. It is now L-shaped. It was moved from its original site at the beginning of the Four Mile Trail in 1901 to its present location, and at that time it was apparently placed on a stone foundation. Around 1965 this foundation was raised about 3 feet to its present height. The building contains 1,470 square feet.

The chapel, which seats 250, was sponsored by the California State Sunday School Association and built at a cost of three to four thousand dollars. Funds were raised by voluntary donation from children and prominent members of the Association.

Mr. Charles Geddes, a leading architect of San Francisco, made and presented the plans. The building was erected by Mr. E. Thompson of San Francisco in the summer of 1879.

The organ was donated in memory of Miss Florence Hutchings, the first white child born in Yosemite, who died September 22, 1881.

The chapel was established for the free use of persons of every faith and has been in continuous use since its dedication.

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

2nd Order

This chapel, now the oldest building in Yosemite, was erected in 1879 as a chapel and has been used as such since that time. It is still used for church services on Sunday.

The simple architectural design of the structure represents a particularly fine example of the early chapels constructed in the Sierra Nevada Mountains and is well preserved.
